Nominations for the 2014 FCBA Election

Pursuant to Article V, Section 20 of the Association’s Bylaws, the FCBA Nominations Committee is beginning the process of preparing the ballot for the 2014 annual election. Positions to be filled are: President-Elect; Secretary; Assistant Secretary; Assistant Treasurer; Chapter Representative to the Executive Committee; three (3) members of the Executive Committee; three (3) members of the Nominations Committee; and four (4) FCBA Foundation Trustees.

The first step of this process is for members to notify the Nominations Committee of their interest in being nominated, or to recommend other members for consideration for nomination. Nominations should be sent to FCBA Past President and Chair of the Nominations Committee, Laura Phillips, via email to Laura.Phillips@dbr.com. Please give the name of the member to be considered for nomination, a brief statement about why the individual is being nominated, and the office they are being recommended for by Wednesday, January 15, 2014.

The Nominations Committee will present a slate of nominations to the membership via email and the in newsletter. At that point, members will have the option of making additional nominations as outlined in the Bylaws.

Save the Dates!

Mark your calendars now and join your colleagues at the 2014 FCBA Annual Seminar at the Omni Homestead Resort. The Homestead has just created a new water park, Alleghany Springs, with hot springs-fed water slides, a lazy river, and a waterfall to float through. The remodeled Spa, which has been re-branded as the Canyon Ranch SpaClub, features new treatment rooms, an expanded menu of treatment options, a private outdoor pool and lounging area, and a hot spring-fed mineral bath. Also new at the Homestead is the Mini Cascades Miniature Golf course for family fun, designed as a miniature version of their famous Cascades course. In addition to the main dining room, famous for its daily brunch, the resort has several new restaurants and bars, including the Canyon Ranch Café. The new Homestead offers more of everything for guests to enjoy.
DEAR MEMBERS:

Happy New Year! I hope everyone enjoyed a peaceful and restful holiday season.

As the calendar turns to 2014, the FCBA starts the second half of its fiscal year. We had a very successful 2013 with a record setting Chairman’s Dinner and Charity Auction, eight CLEs, monthly brown-bag lunches, and numerous Chapter events. None of this is possible without your time and efforts and that of the marvelous FCBA staff.

Each New Year, we begin the process of seeking members who would like to take a larger role in leading the FCBA. Laura Phillips, FCBA Immediate Past President, has already convened the Nominations Committee and the nominations process is underway. We rely heavily on the FCBA membership to identify potential new leaders, so please contact Laura (lphillips@dbr.com) or any member of the Nominations Committee with candidate ideas. As a general matter, the Nominations Committee looks for active involvement in the FCBA over a period of years.

We have a number of events planned for the first of 2014. In addition to brown-bag and CLEs, we will have a lunch with FCC Commissioner O’Rielly, at least two receptions, the FCBA Annual Seminar, and the FCBA Annual Meeting and Luncheon. In addition, just around the corner is the Annual Moot Court Competition set for February 21-22. Volunteer opportunities abound to judge both briefs and oral arguments.

Also, under the leadership of Mark Schneider, the FCBA Foundation Internship Stipend, College, and Law School Scholarship programs are well underway. See page 8 for a message from Mark and information about these programs. Thank you to the Foundation Board for all of their dedication and hard work so far this year!

Thank you again to each of you for your involvement in the FCBA. Wishing everyone a healthy and prosperous 2014!

Social Media Legal Issues for Traditional Media Companies

The FCBA Intellectual Property, Mass Media, and Video Programming and Distribution Committees will hold a CLE on Monday, January 27 from 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. entitled “Social Media Legal Issues for Traditional Media Companies.” This program will be held at Wiley Rein LLP, 1776 K Street, NW, Main Conference Center.

As media companies integrate “new media,” including social media, as integral aspects of their business, and as content shifts between “traditional media” and new media platforms, lawyers representing these companies need to understand the legal issues and pitfalls that may await them in the online world, and the policy issues that may affect the rules of the road. In this CLE, we will go beyond the rules of the FCC to explore both the basic legal issues involving the intersection of new and social media and traditional media and the policy issues that may affect these relationships in the future. Two panels will discuss these issues:

Legal Issues with Social Media – Nuts and Bolts

As the lines between old and new media blur, lots of legal issues arise. In this first panel, we will discuss the nuts and bolts issues that many media companies face in trying to understand this intersection. When can companies take material from social media or other Internet sites, and use it on their traditional media platforms? Can you take videos from YouTube and feature them in your 11:00 news? Can you take a photo from a website and use it to illustrate a story on your broadcast station’s website? What liability do you have for posting material on Facebook, Twitter or other social media sites? Who owns what you post on social media sites? Can you encourage your audience to post photos or videos on your website or social media pages? What liability do you have for their posts? These and other issues will be explored.

Moderator:
David Oxenford, Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP

Speakers:
David Wittenstein, Cooley LLP
James Rosenfeld, Davis Wright Tremaine LLP
Others to be announced

Copyright Policy Panel

These nuts and bolts issues give rise to broader policy issues. Should the concept of statutory damages still apply, when the unauthorized posting by a station intern of a single photo on a station’s website can result in hundreds of thousands of dollars of damages, even if the photo was viewed by only five people? Does the Internet make the concept of statutory damages obsolete? Should there be a reform of the protections accorded under the DMCA “safe harbor” provisions to website operators for the unauthorized use of copyrighted materials by users of that site? Should the government create new registries of copyrighted material so that users can find the copyright owners to get permission to use copyrighted works? Should there be an extension of the concept of a “statutory license” to other copyrighted materials that are used on the Internet? If so, where should that apply? How can the average person know when they are violating the copyright laws? What can the government and copyright owners do to inform users of the limitations of copyright and other IP laws?

Moderator:
Jim Burger, Thompson Coburn LLP

Speakers:
Matt Schruers, CCIA
Joe Keeley, House Judiciary Committee (invited)
Others to be announced

For 2014, the Committee is planning the following events:

Vonya B. McCann, Senior Vice President, Government Affairs, Sprint Corporation

By: Laura Phillips

Vonya McCann has seen communications law and policy from a variety of perspectives, and I was excited to have the chance to sit down with the chief government affairs officer for a diversified and dynamic communications company like Sprint Corporation. It was also a chance to get Vonya’s thoughts on the FCBA and its influence on her career and other topics. Vonya was appointed Vice President for Government Affairs at Sprint in August 2005, and previously she was responsible for Federal External Affairs. Her current role includes responsibility for Sprint’s federal, state international regulatory and legislative matters. Before she joined Sprint Corporation, Vonya served in the Clinton U.S. Department of State as Ambassador and Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Communications and Information Policy and from 1997 to 1999 she served in the additional role of Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Economic and Business Affairs. Prior to joining the State Department, Vonya was a partner in the Washington law offices of Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin & Kahn. In the course of her career, she has also held positions at the FCC and NTIA.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?
A: I went to the University of California at Berkeley and got a joint master’s in public policy and a JD. During that time I spent a summer at NTIA in the Department of Commerce working on AT&T competition issues, the competition issues that led up ultimately to the Consent Decree or Modified Final Judgment. The subject matter and issues just really appealed to me and that was the end of it.

Q: Has your career progressed the way you envisioned?
A: I am not really sure there was a grand vision behind how things developed, but I must say I’m quite satisfied with how my career has gone. I’ve had a diverse number of really interesting positions, both at a private law firm, Arent Fox, as well as for three separate agencies that directly affect so many aspects of communications law and policy, namely NTIA, the State Department and the FCC. And they were all great jobs. I also have enjoyed my time at Sprint; there is lots going on all the time. Communications law and policy issues are just never dull no matter where you are.

Q: What is the most challenging part of your current position and why?
A: Honestly the most challenging part of my position is to get the government agency or legislative body in question to understand and ideally to agree with our position on a given subject. Failing the ability to convince them, and sometimes that is just not within your control, you work to come to a point that government action does not harm the company. What’s interesting about the process is there are lots of levers and pressure points which can be used to a greater or lesser extent, depending on the issue.

Q: What are you reading now?
A: I am reading “The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks”, by Rebecca Skloot, which is a little different for me as I have a preference for fiction. I enjoy reading mysteries and detective stories when I have the time.

Q: What surprised or impressed you most about people you’ve worked with and why?
A: It’s interesting that people come to Washington and work alongside federal government employees and still subscribe to the general notion that people within government are just a bunch of bureaucrats, and that they are not necessarily the cream of the crop or highly talented individuals. In my experience that’s totally untrue. The people I’ve observed and worked with in government demonstrate high-caliber intellect and ability. Moreover, they are totally committed to trying to do the right thing, sometimes under enormous stress.

Q: Can you share a perspective on pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?
A: Well, I would say try not to specialize too early in your career and be open to different things. As I look back over time, when I started there were very few women or minorities working in common carrier law. A common carrier practice wasn’t considered very sexy. Back then, a broadcast practice was viewed as exciting, and then cable seemed to become the “it” part of the industry. I was fortunate that I had a chance work for Tyrone Brown when he was a Commissioner at the FCC. He was a great teacher and a really smart guy, who encouraged me to pursue telecom as a practice. Having that opportunity was invaluable.

When I look around at the attendees at the Chairman’s Dinner and other FCBA events, I see lots of young people. It is good to see so many still entering the field. What’s good about the FCBA is that it gets different groups together to mix and engage with one another. But it’s not a one way exchange – the experienced “elders” in the bar have as much to learn from the younger members who bring fresh perspectives to persistent regulatory problems.

Get to Know an FCBA MEMBER

Q: What’s something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of you are willing to share?

A: Well, I speak a little Norwegian. When I was a student, I did a foreign exchange stint in Norway.

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member and what is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I have been an FCBA member for as long as I can remember, at least since 1980. My law firm, Arent Fox, encouraged FCBA participation and that is what got me launched. The great thing about the FCBA is that it gives members an opportunity get out of their area of specialization, whether it’s wireless or wireline, cable, private radio, equipment certification, whatever it happens to be. The FCBA also has done outstanding work in encouraging women and minorities to consider a career in communications law. I particularly want to praise the success of the high school scholarship program and law school internship programs in that regard.

Interested in Hosting an FCBA event?

The FCBA greatly appreciates the support of our members’ firms and companies who provide space for our brown bag lunches, committee meetings, and CLE Seminars throughout the year. We are, however, always looking for new locations that can host FCBA events. We will be experimenting with some new presentation technology in future CLE seminars, which require more technical support than we have needed in the past.

In general terms, we need conference rooms that can seat at least 30 (more if possible) people at tables for brown bag lunches and committee meetings and conference rooms that can seat a minimum of 60 for CLE seminars. Firms and companies hosting brown bag lunches provide beverages and desserts; firms and companies hosting CLE seminars provide beverages and snacks. CLE seminars are generally held from 6:00 – 8:30 p.m. Additionally, for CLE seminars we need facilities that can provide technology support for microphones for as many as six speakers on a panel, the ability to tie the house sound system into a teleconference bridge, video projection capabilities for PowerPoint presentations, and access to the internet for Webinar services. If your firm or company has the needed conference room facilities and capabilities and would be willing to host future FCBA activities, please email Stan Zenor, stan@fcba.org, or Kerry Loughney, kerry@fcba.org.

Is there an FCBA member you’d like to see profiled in future columns? If so, please contact Laura Phillips at lara.phillips@dbr.com.
A Message from FCBA Foundation Chair Mark Schneider

FCBA FOUNDATION MEMBERS,

As we begin 2014, the FCBA and its members can take a great deal of pride in the events and accomplishments of the FCBA Foundation in 2013. The Foundation Board of Trustees has much for which it is thankful, given the support provided to our charitable efforts from the FCBA’s membership. In June, we concluded a record year of giving to our community at our annual meeting, celebrating decades of Foundation success with recognition and kind words from Supreme Court Associate Justice Sonia Sotomayor. Now, with new highs in fundraising at the annual Charity Auction and the Chairman’s Dinner, the FCBA Foundation Trustees hope you will consider the programs of the Foundation, and continue to give your time, effort, and financial support to the Foundation’s programs. We ask you to include the Foundation in your plans during this fiscal year, which runs through June 30, 2014.

FCBA FOUNDATION COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP & INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

During the spring of 2013, the FCBA Foundation funded four-year college scholarship packages collectively amounting to $218,000, for 15 students from a variety of public high schools in Washington, DC. We also provided laptop computers and software to these students and other competitive applicants. Over the past decade, the FCBA Foundation has provided more than $1.5 million in funding for deserving high school seniors seeking necessary funds to attend college, especially those students targeting study in science, technology, media, and law. We have recently heard from several of our awardees that have described the benefits of the scholarship and accompanying laptops and mentors as “a dream come true” and “a tremendous help” in getting their start to college off on the right track. As Elsa Lazo-Vasquez told us in talking about her first year at Georgetown, “I feel blessed to have received such great help and am very thankful for FCBA selecting me as one of the scholarship winners.” Look for some of these notes to us in future issues of the newsletter.

Additionally, last year the FCBA Foundation provided 13 stipends for government and public service summer internships, including our annual Max Paglin award. Since 2008, the FCBA Foundation has provided stipends to a total of 50 law students working in unpaid public service positions with a communications focus. In 2013, the Foundation maintained its increased commitment to this program, which in the past two years has seen the number of grants provided double over the previous years of the program.

FCBA FOUNDATION LAW SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

In 2012 and 2013, the FCBA Foundation provided its first law school scholarships, pursuant to a pilot program with the University of Colorado Law School at Boulder and the communications program at the Catholic University Law School. This summer and fall we sought your feedback on the pilot program, and I am pleased to announce that given that feedback and a recent arrangement with CTIA’s Wireless Foundation, the law school scholarship program will be maintained as one of our efforts to give back to our communications law community.

First, the results of the survey, which included more than 200 responses, indicated that respondents supported maintaining the law school program by a three to one margin – with more than 100 of you volunteering to review applications. This year, as supported by most respondents, we will open applications to students at all law schools, and will focus on students who demonstrate a significant interest in practicing communications law in addition to demonstrating a need for financial assistance. While the Foundation in the future may consider opening the program to graduate students in engineering and economics, as a number of you suggested, this year as we develop the program we will limit it to law students. And one additional point we want to make emphatically – consistent with the primary concern raised by the minority of respondents concerned with the establishment of the program – the development of the law school scholarship program will in no manner limit our efforts with respect to the college scholarship program.

Second, we are pleased to announce that as part of our law school scholarship efforts, CTIA’s Wireless Foundation has arranged to transfer to the FCBA Foundation the Amy Zoslov Memorial Scholarship Fund. In turn, the FCBA Foundation has agreed to continue to honor Amy and her legacy with an annual scholarship program at Case Western Law School, just as Amy’s family and friends intended when they established the memorial fund that has been entrusted to us. As The Wireless Foundation President Steve Largent noted in his letter transferring to us the program and the memorial fund’s endowment, the “FCBA Foundation is a perfect new home for the Amy Zoslov Fund scholarship,” not only because we manage similar programs, but because Amy was an active FCBA member and many of us remember her as a friend and colleague. We thank Steve and The Wireless Foundation for entrusting Amy’s memory to us, and we are committed to maintaining the program in a way that will recognize students who demonstrate the character and dedication that Amy possessed.

You will hear more about our development of these scholarship programs in the coming year, and we hope you will continue to provide us feedback on how we can meet the needs of our community. Every member of the FCBA is a participant in the activities of our Foundation, and we hope you will take a sense of satisfaction and fulfillment in what we can accomplish together.

FCBA FOUNDATION VOLUNTEER ACTIVITIES

Not to be forgotten, throughout the year, the Foundation organizes activities in the community providing opportunities for volunteering alongside your fellow FCBA members. These include our monthly Sunday morning commitment to prepare meals for the homeless at Martha’s Table. The last Sunday of each month, from 10 a.m. to roughly 1 p.m., you can find FCBA members making sandwiches – kids are welcome. Each month, a different FCBA topical committee takes the lead staffing this effort, but all are welcome every month at Martha’s Table – check the monthly newsletter for details and to sign up.

In addition, we have teamed up with Martha’s Kids to encourage at-risk students in middle and high school to complete their education. FCBA members have graciously opened their doors to show students what it might be like to work at a technology or media company or in the movie business. Our thanks to the employees of Google, the Motion Picture Association of America, Sirius XM, radio station WAVA, and WJLA-TV/NewsChannel 8, for spending time with Martha’s Kids. Check out photos from our latest event on our website. And consider whether your organization could host one of these rewarding after-school events in the Washington metropolitan area. The Foundation Board welcomes suggestions for volunteer activities that fit within the Foundation’s mission.

FCBA FOUNDATION PROGRAM FUNDING

The Foundation’s programs are funded through year-round efforts, including table sponsorship at the annual FCBA Chairman’s Dinner, sponsorship of the Charity Auction, participation in the golf tournament each spring, and donations from individual members and their employers to the Foundation’s Annual Fund throughout the fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30. The Board of Trustees encourages every member to consider a contribution that is appropriate for their circumstances, or the firms or businesses for which they work.

The FCBA Foundation thus wants to ensure that appropriate recognition is given throughout the year to Foundation contributors, and we will continue the program established last year for recognition of major donors.

RECOGNITION OF OUR MAJOR DONORS

Each year we recognize our Chairman’s Dinner sponsors and Charity Auction sponsors at the event itself, and in the newsletter items surrounding both events. We recognize other donors to Foundation programs through named scholarships, which we recognize at our Annual Meeting luncheon in June and at the Chairman’s Dinner in December, as well as in our Annual Report and newsletter.

For 2013, our named scholarship donors included:

- AT&T Services, Inc.
- Comcast Corporation
- Consumer Electronics Association
- DIRECTV
- Google Inc.
- The Karen A. Kincaid Scholarship Fund, sponsored by Wiley Rein and Karen’s Friends
- News Corporation
- Sidley Austin LLP
- Time Warner Cable
- Verizon
- Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP
- The Young Lawyers Committee Charity Auction Scholarship

These organizations have funded scholarships in amounts of $8,000 and up, year after year, over the past decade. Other organizations, including Microsoft, CTIA, Viacom, and Cox, also have provided scholarship funding at that level during past years. And last year, under our new program, Cox Enterprises, Dow Lohnes PLLC, Latham & Watkins, LLP, and Time Warner Inc. all became “Masters of Media” and Lerman Senter PLLC and Wiltshire & Grannis LLP became “Bachelors of Broadband.”

In addition to those institutions, hundreds of individual FCBA members contributed to Foundation programs last year through Annual Fund donations and by giving generously of their time. In our Annual Report as of June 30, the FCBA Foundation recognized the contributions of more than 20 individuals who became our first “Diamond” individuals – as well as 20 individuals who became “Emeralds” and “Pearls.” We are thankful for every contribution at every level, including the numerous gifts at the Ruby and Sapphire levels – without your generosity, our programs would not be the success they have become. This year I encourage all FCBA members to continue their generosity to our Foundation, with the hope that more will join the ranks of our generous degree program or become jewels.

FISCAL YEAR 2014

This year, the Foundation Trustees again want to increase recognition of the donors to the Foundation’s Annual Fund, supporting all of our programs year-round.

Those who donate at least $10,000 to the Annual Fund will be recognized for these extraordinary gifts on our Foundation website throughout the year, in our annual report, at the Chairman’s Dinner, and in the FCBA newsletter. The Foundation also will recognize donations to our Annual Fund at the levels noted below, and during 2014, highlight individuals and donor groups in the FCBA newsletter on a regular basis, at the annual meeting in June, and at the Chairman’s Dinner in December.

Gems (Individuals): Inspired by the Foundation program funding public service internships from April to September, this year individual donations will be recognized at the following “birth stone” levels:

Honorary Degrees (Organizations & Individuals): Inspired by the Foundation’s mission to support educational pursuits, organizations and individuals will be recognized with the following “honorary degrees”:

| Degrees All Their Own (Named Scholarship) | $10,000 and above |
| Masters of Media | $5,000 - $9,999 |
| Bachelors of Broadband | $2,000 - $4,999 |

To encourage members to work together to support our programs, the FCBA Foundation will recognize gifts at these levels by individuals or groups that choose to be, and can be, recognized as such – partners and associates in the same firm, employees of the same company, or old friends remembering a colleague. We hope every member of the FCBA will consider how to join with other members to contribute to the FY2014 Annual Fund between now and June, and support the Foundation’s programs throughout the year.

However you choose to give, we thank you for the time and talent that each of you contributes to the FCBA Foundation, and we look forward hearing from you.

Volunteer at Martha’s Table on January 26

On Sunday, January 26, 2014, from 10:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m., the FCBA will be preparing and distributing food at the FCBA Foundation’s partner charity, Martha’s Table. The FCBA has been meeting monthly to volunteer at Martha’s Table for many years. Martha’s Table feeds hundreds of homeless adults and children on the streets of Washington daily, through its mobile soup kitchen. Martha’s Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available. Volunteers are asked to bring food if possible, (e.g., cold cuts, bread, peanut butter, jelly, vegetables and potatoes) because the center often runs out of donated food.

Please mark your calendars, bring your friends and children, and participate in this great volunteer effort. If you are able to volunteer, please contact Howard Weiss at 703-812-0471, weiss@fhhlaw.com.

The FCBA volunteers on the last Sunday of every month, so mark your calendars now!
