PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR MEMBERS:

The FCBA is off and running this year under its new Committee Co-Chairs, and many of the Committees will be profiled in upcoming issues of the FCBA Newsletter (including photos of the co-chairs). Thanks to all the dedicated volunteers who have agreed to lead these important groups, reflecting the energy and diversity of this bar. A full listing of the new Committee Co-Chairs appears in this newsletter, and we hope to see good participation at the CLEs and other Committee activities they are planning for this year.

A few other Committee items to note:

- The former "Online Communications Committee" is now operating under a new name – the "IP-Based Communications Committee," under the leadership of Jamie Hedlund, Carol Matthey, and Christi Shewman.
- A new ad hoc committee on Judicial Practice has been formed to highlight the increasing importance of court decisions and recent judicial trends, to be led by Sam Feder, Robert Pettit, and John Rogovin.
- Two committees are ramping up their efforts this year to plan more events and activities: the Legislative Practice Committee, under the leadership of Paul Nash, Mark Rubin, and Johanna Shelton; and the Relations with Other Bar Associations Committee, led by Edgar Class, Mark Del Bianco, and Jenell Trigg.

Please contact any of the Co-Chairs to volunteer or provide suggestions for Committee activities.

Finally, the FCBA is looking for volunteers for upcoming events, including its October reception honoring FCC Bureau Chiefs and a spring event celebrating its 70th Anniversary. Please contact Stan Zenor or Heidi Kurtz (202-293-4000) if you would be interested in helping to coordinate these (or any other upcoming) events.

The End of Politics As We Knew It?: Examining the Internet and Its Impact on Political Participation

Thursday, September 8, 2005, 3:45 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the University of Colorado School of Law, Lindsley Memorial Courtroom. The 2004 Presidential election marked the Internet's arrival as a serious force in political campaigns. The future promises even more dramatic uses of information technology. To date, the World Wide Web, email, and bloggers have already revolutionized journalism. Going forward, new technologies, such as video on demand, interactive television and online gaming, will change our political system in ways we can barely fathom. To consider the implications of these changes, we are bringing together an outstanding group of political and media observers and participants. In particular, we will evaluate how these technologies are creating opportunities to engage citizens as well as how they are challenging and transforming the traditional media. Registration information will be available soon: <http://www.silicon-flatirons.org/index.html>

Searching For the Third Broadband Pipe

Thursday, September 29, 2005, 3:15 to 7:00 p.m., University of Colorado School of Law, Lindsley Memorial Courtroom. Broadband technology promises to transform our economy and society. Due to the rise of Internet-enabled applications, the demand for broadband continues to grow and more consumers rely on broadband than narrowband (i.e., dial-up) Internet access. For policymakers and businesses alike, the question of what "pipes" other than DSL and cable modem connections (which often rely on fiber optic networks after the last mile) will enter this important marketplace is a critical question. As former Chairman Michael Powell put it, "magical things"—including price competition, innovation, and relationships with applications providers—start to happen when three providers battle it out in a market. The two principal candidates touted by the FCC as third broadband pipes—Broadband over Powerline and wireless spectrum—remain largely works in progress. In terms of broadband over powerline, there are still only a few consumer trials now taking place, leaving room for doubt as to whether this technology will ever thrive. As for wireless broadband, there are lots of different promising wireless technologies, ranging from satellite to mobile wireless to fixed wireless connections, but like the case of broadband over powerline, very few consumers have yet adopted such technologies. This event will evaluate the likely success and notable challenges for the contenders for the third broadband pipe as well as the business and public policy implications of this search. Registration information will be available soon: <http://www.silicon-flatirons.org/index.html>

2004-2005 FCBA Foundation Annual Report

The Federal Communications Bar Association Foundation had another spectacular year, serving as an important charitable resource supporting education and children's issues, primarily in the District of Columbia. These important public service goals could not have been continued without the generous continued support of individual FCBA members and their firms and companies. The Foundation's official mission remains to:

Support worthwhile educational and communications-related projects, particularly those directed toward students and younger children in the District of Columbia, through financial contributions and volunteer services; and Foster greater public awareness and understanding of the development of communications technology, resources and law, and the role of communications law practitioners.

During the past year, the Foundation served these goals in numerous ways. It awarded $135,000 in college scholarships to students from four public high schools in the District of Columbia. The Foundation also awarded $16,600 in stipends to four law students working in summer internships at government communications agencies. In addition, Foundation volunteers each month made meals for the homeless at Martha's Table, and to deliver meals to the homeless through McKenna's Wagon. Foundation volunteers also arranged outings with the Martha's Table Youth Group.

TRUSTEES

A Board of Trustees from the FCBA membership governs the Foundation. This year, our Trustees were Paula Boyd, James Coltharp, Diane Davidson, Scott Delacourt, Joe

Di Scipio, Praveen Goyal, Dee May, Ruth Milkman, Maureen O'Connell, Loretta Polk, Mark Van Bergh, Cara Voth, and myself, Greg Vogt. Mark Van Bergh was Chair-Elect and Treasurer; Scott Delacourt was Secretary. Joe Di Scipio served as Assistant Treasurer and Paula Boyd served as Assistant Secretary.

Stan Zenor and Heidi Kurtz continued to provide excellent support for the Foundation.

FCBA President Harry Martin and Treasurer Jim Blitz were invaluable in their steadfast support of the Foundation's work.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

As noted above, the Foundation awarded $135,000 to eleven college scholarships this year to students from four D.C. public high schools. This year's recipients are identified in the attachment. Through generous donations from member companies and firms, the Foundation was able to provide a laptop computer to these scholarship winners as well.

The Foundation's college scholarships are awarded based upon a number of criteria, including the student's ability to succeed in college, past academic success, attendance record at school, participation in school activities, service to the community and financial need. Each year, a group of Trustees interview candidates in person before selecting scholarship winners. Diane Davidson, was the head of the Foundation's Scholarship Committee, who oversaw the entire scholarship award process.

The Foundation also continued its mentoring program for scholarship winners. Each scholarship recipient was paired with an FCBA member as his or her personal mentor. These mentors are available to help support these students in their transition to college. The program was administered this year by Scott Delacourt. Mentors are volunteers from FCBA members, who ably help to shepherd these students through their higher education experience.

STIPENDS FOR SUMMER INTERNS

As noted above, the Foundation also awarded $16,600 in stipends from the Chairman Robert E. Lee Scholarship Fund for four law school interns in unpaid government positions over the summer. This year's recipients are Marla A. Hackett of Washington and Lee University School of Law, who will be working in the Policy Division of the FCC Media Bureau; Matthew Gregoline of Indiana University School of Law – Bloomington, who will be working in the U.S. Department of Justice, Antitrust Division, Telecommunications and Media Section; Alexis Sáinz of George Washington University Law School, who will be working in the Organismo Supervisor de Inversión Privada en Telecomunicaciones (OSIPTTEL), the Peruvian national telecommunications regulatory agency, in the Office of Policy Regulation and Strategic Planning; and Christy Schinka of the Tulane University Law School, who will be working in the FCC Wireline Competition Bureau in the Telecommunications Access Policy Division. Each law student will receive a stipend in the amount of $4,000.00 to help defray his or her expenses during their summer internship. In addition, the Foundation selected Ms. Hackett to receive this year's Max Paglin Award, representing an additional stipend of $600.

Praveen Goyal headed up the internship program. Over 20 applicants were screened by a Foundation committee before the final four were selected based on financial need, work for a communications-related agency, academic achievements, community service.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Continuing a long-standing tradition, the Foundation sponsored numerous volunteer events for FCBA members over the past year. Volunteers continued to make meals for the homeless at Martha's Table each month. In addition, volunteers organized to deliver meals to the homeless in the District each month through McKenna's Wagon, a mobile soup kitchen operated by Martha's Table.

The foundation also conducted a donation campaign to assist in the relief efforts of the Indonesian Tsunami that occurred in December 2004. Donations went to Save the Children earmarked for the tsunami relief effort.

FOUNDATION VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

At the luncheon on June 6th, Diane Davidson was recognized as the Foundation's Volunteer of the Year. As noted above, Diane was instrumental in organization and running the college scholarship process. She has spent countless hours supporting Foundation programs. Through her dedication, and building on contributions from past Board Members, she has ensured that the college scholarship program is administered in a professional and accountable manner.

FUNDRAISING

The Board of Trustees maintained its commitment to fund scholarships each year out of current donations rather than drawing down the Foundation's reserves. As a result, fundraising was critical to fulfilling the Foundation's mission. Ruth Milkman took the lead in a fundraising effort that resulted in a record level of donations to support scholarships in a single year. Special thanks go to the following organizations for endowing specific named scholarships for high school students: BellSouth ($10,000); Comcast ($10,000); CTIA the Wireless Foundation ($10,000); Lucent ($8,000); Microsoft ($8,000); Motorola ($16,000); News Corp. ($15,000); and Sprint ($8,000). The Foundation would also like to thank the substantial undesignated contributions to the scholarship fund made by CBS, Cingular, Cox Enterprises, T-Mobile, Verizon, Verizon Wireless, Davis Wright Tremaine LLP, Fletcher Heald & Hildreth PLC, Lampert & O'Connor

PC, Lawler Metzger & Milkman & Keeney LLC, Morrison & Foerster LLP, Sidley Austin Brown & Wood, and Swidler Berlin LLP. Microsoft provided free software for the laptops provided to these scholarship winners.

Through the generous support of the Comcast Corp., the Foundation filmed a video of this year's college scholarship winners.

FCBA members generously donated over $3,200 to our annual giving campaign and contributed nearly $9,000 through the membership dues check-off.

The Foundation also benefited from the 18th Annual Chairman's Dinner honoring FCC Chairman Michael K. Powell which was held on December 2, 2004 at the Washington Hilton's International Ballroom. This year's special guests included FCC Commissioners Kathleen Abernathy, Kevin Martin, and Jonathan Adelstein, as well as Ambassador David Gross and Assistant Secretary Michael Gallagher. The event raised $39,500 for the Foundation's Scholarship fund.

The FCBA was able to raise over $4,000 this year from holding a Casino Night at the annual FCBA Seminar at Kingsmill Resort in Williamsburg, Virginia. The Foundation also benefited greatly through the efforts of the Young Lawyer's Committee for their initiative in selling FCBA Polo Shirts to benefit the Foundation.

Due to the efforts of Joe Di Scipio, for the first time in the fall of 2005, the FCBA Foundation will be eligible to receive contributions from the Combined Federal Campaign, the annual charitable giving program sponsored by the federal government that allows government employees to contribute to any organization on the list of approved charitable organizations.

The 9th Annual FCBA Foundation Honorable Robert E. Lee Memorial Golf Tournament was held on Monday, June 20, 2005. The group returned to Bull Run Country Club in Haymarket, Virginia, raising nearly $20,000 for the FCBA Foundation's Scholarship Fund.

The tournament is named in memory of former Federal Communications Commission Chairman, Robert E. Lee, who passed away in April 1993 after serving on the FCC for almost thirty years. The Golf Tournament planning committee, chaired by Alan Campbell, made the event another success this year.

The 2004 Charity Auction held on November 18, 2004, was the most successful to date, raising well over $70,000 for The Charitable Coalition for Children with Cancer.

The Charitable Coalition for Children with Cancer is comprised of four non-profit organizations with the shared goal of meeting the needs of children with cancer and their families in Washington, D.C. The four organizations that form this coalition are: Teardrops to Rainbows; the John Quadrino Foundation; The Inova Fairfax Hospital for Children Pediatric Oncology Fund; and The Make-A-Wish Foundation. These organizations provide financial and emotional support to children with cancer and their families through a variety of programs and services.

The planning committee co-chairs were Pam Slipakoff (chair), Ryan Wallach, Jason Friedrich, Steve Hitchcock, David Don, Cara Voth, Jason Scism, Edgar Class, and Jennifer Tatel.

The 2004 Charity Auction Sponsors were: CTIA - The Wireless Association™, Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP, Intelsat, Hogan & Hartson, LLP, Leucadia National Corporation, Lockheed Martin Corporation, NeuStar, Inc., Sidley Austin Brown & Wood, LLP, and Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP.

CONCLUSION

Thanks to the incredible dedication and generosity of FCBA members and the hard work of the Foundation Board of Directors, FCBA again made a definite difference in the lives of students and children. The FCBA Foundation looks forward to the continued involvement of FCBA members in the Foundation's efforts to give back to the community in which many of us work and earn our livelihoods.

McKenna's Wagon Seeking Volunteers for August 28

McKenna's Wagon is a mobile soup and sandwich wagon that goes "on location" to deliver food to the needy. For those who have volunteered, it has been a wonderful experience and a great way to help the needy in the D.C. community.

The Wagon is a white van that is loaded up with sandwiches, snacks and soup. We meet at Martha's Table at 4:45 pm in comfortable clothes and shoes. Martha's Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available.

Upon arrival we get assignments (some of us will distribute snacks and sandwiches, others will serve soup), and put on aprons before we depart in the van to 5th and New York Ave., NW (near the new Convention Center). We are driven by one of our experienced volunteers and the trip to distribution location takes about 10-15 minutes.

We serve about 30-75 people per visit including a few mothers who come for food for their families. The area is well patrolled by police. The food distribution is conducted in an efficient, calm and orderly fashion and many of the people we serve are quite appreciative of our efforts. Once we serve all of the food, we do a clean up of the immediate area. Total time for the distribution takes about one hour and we usually return to Martha's Table by or before 6:30 pm.

We would love to have you join us on one of our upcoming food runs: 9/25, 10/23, 11/27 and 12/25. If you are able to volunteer for one of these dates, please send an e-mail to caravoth@fcc.gov or tvanzwazer@sidley.com.

Volunteer Outreach for Martha's Table – August 28

Many of us are stretched for time these days, but why not consider spending a few hours on a Sunday to help the FCBA Foundation's partner charities? For several years now, the FCBA has been providing volunteers to Martha's Table and McKenna's Wagon. These organizations rely on the good work of our members each month, so grab a friend, colleague or family member and join your fellow FCBA volunteers!

Martha's Table feeds hundreds of hungry, homeless adults and children on the streets of Washington daily, through its mobile soup kitchen. Children and friends are also welcome. We will begin at 10:00 am and work until 1:00 pm. Martha's Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available. Volunteers are asked to bring sandwich fixings (bread and sandwich meat) with them, as the center often runs out of donated food.

Future dates include September 25, October 30, November 27, and December 25, so mark your calendars now. For more information, contact Howard Weiss at 703-812-0471 — weiss@fhhlaw.com or Heidi Kurtz at 202-293-4000 heidi@fcba.org.

Scholarship Recipient Success Stories

The FCBA Foundation is pleased to share some of our 2005 graduate's success stories.

Noemy Contreras graduated from Cardozo Senior High School in June, 2001. She began her studies that Fall at Mount St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg, MD. On May 22, 2005, she graduated with a double major Bachelor of Science Degree in Elementary Education and Spanish.

When asked what her favorite thing about college was, Noemy said, “my overall college experience. Living on campus and going to my classes. Interacting with fellow classmates and professors before and after classes. The opportunity to become more independent and responsible. These are all experiences that have molded the person I have become.”

Noemy plans to start working as a third grade elementary school teacher in the Frederick County Public Schools System. She also plans to further her education by pursuing her Masters in Education.

Elizabeth Doherty is a graduate of Theodore Roosevelt Senior High School and graduated from Temple University on May 19, 2005 with a B.A. in Arts and a B.A. in African American Studies.

Elizabeth enjoyed the life-long friendships she developed in college and her experiences working in television production.

Elizabeth is interested in finding a job in television production while continuing her education through graduate school. She recently attended the FCBA's Spring Luncheon and Annual Meeting where she was introduced by Foundation Chair, Greg Vogt.

Andre Turner attended Spingarn Senior High School and graduated from Alabama A&M University on May 14, 2005 in Normal, Alabama with a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering.

This past spring, Andre was involved in a project called “NASA's Great Moonbuggy Race” held at the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, AL. Andre described the project in his own words, “In our first year we finished in about 25th place, so for our second year we set the goal of finishing in the top ten. We redesigned our moonbuggy with the major improvement being the shaft drive versus conventional chain drive. Being the first to use the shaft drive we escaped all the normal chain popping problems experienced by other team and came in ninth place. As a second year driver on the moonbuggy, I personally aspired to do better than top ten but we had torque problems and consequently could not get enough power from the high geared shaft drive. Next year the moonbuggy team aspires to win. Here's the link NASA's official moonbuggy site <http://moonbuggy.msfc.nasa.gov/>.”

Andre plans on attending the University of Alabama in Huntsville to begin graduate studies in Mechanical/Aerospace Engineering. His desire is to obtain a Ph.D. and then begin a lifelong career in research and teaching.

Volunteer for Free Legal Clinic on August 13

The FCBA organizes volunteers to spend three hours once a quarter helping lower income individuals through a clinic sponsored by the DC Bar. Our next FCBA volunteer date for the Walk In legal clinic is Saturday, August 13. We have moved to a new location. At the new location, we co-volunteer with the Federal Communications Commission and other members of the private bar. Attorneys receive a half-hour overview/orientation beginning at 9:30 am over bagels and juice. Volunteers are expected to assist clients only during the time they are at the clinic.

The new location is the Max Robinson Clinic, which is located at 2301 Martin Luther King, Jr. Avenue, S.E., Washington, DC 20020. The clinic has the same sponsor and in the same format, but we will be at a different location to help the DC Bar better allocate volunteers.

It is a great opportunity to spend a few hours and get so much more in return. Clients are appreciative and you can actually learn some practical advice and talk to clients who are every day people. As always, encourage your colleagues to help out.

You must either be a member of the DC Bar, have an application pending to the DC bar, or be an employee of the federal government to provide advice. Those who are not DC bar members, paralegals and law students are needed, however, to provide intake and triage. Law students can have the opportunity to sit in on advice sessions. Dress is casual, but respectful. Bring a pen.

Contact Cheryl Leanza at leanza@nlc.org for more information, to RSVP, and for directions to the new location.

Leo Resnick

Leo Resnick, a longtime communications lawyer and FCBA member, died on July 4, 2005 at age 91. Leo spent his early career at the Federal Communications Commission, most notably as the hearing examiner who presided over the 1952 merger of United Paramount Theatres and ABC Television. That merger created a conglomerate network that competed with the older and, as of that time, more established CBS and NBC networks. Leo is remembered as an even-handed, thoughtful and respected judge, who was at all times considerate of witnesses and counsel. He subsequently left the FCC in 1953 to establish his private law practice, where he practiced the way that he judged, with fairness, consideration and devotion to the public interest. A solo practitioner, Leo associated himself with well respected communications law firms throughout his career, and spent the last three years practicing as Counsel with Borsari & Paxson before retiring in 1991.

Leo was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Columbia University and Columbia Law School, and was a Navy veteran of World War II. He was predeceased by his wife of 50 years, Vita Nathanson Resnick, who passed away in 1993. Survivors include his son James Resnick of Pennsauken, N.J., and daughter Susan Rimaud of Paris, France, a sister, and five grandchildren.

The FCBA is grateful to Anne Paxson for contributing information for this article.
