2019 FCBA Annual Seminar to be held at The Omni Homestead Resort

May 17 – 19 ~ Register Today!

DEAR FELLOW MEMBERS:

Growing up “North of the Wall” in Michigan, the months of January and February were spent hard at work preparing for the spring. Seeds and bulbs were started inside, and aspiring beach boys and girls hit the gym to get ready for Spring Break. Inside at the FCBA house, we’ve spent the cold months prepping for the spring by planting the seeds of the following innovative programming and events that would put any set of six-pack abs to shame.

We start March with a new program brought to us by Michele Farquhar at Hogan Lovells – the General Counsel Breakfast on March 8th. Michele has arranged for several current and former general counsels - Michelle Bryan, EVP, General Counsel and Chief Administrative Officer, Intelsat; Lynn Charytan, Executive Vice President & General Counsel, Comcast Cable; Leonard Kennedy, former General Counsel for Sprint, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, and Neustar; Melissa Newman, General Counsel, Transit Wireless; and Tom Power, Senior Vice President & General Counsel at CTIA – to discuss emerging legal trends, how to “add value” to their team, and how best to identify the need for, and work with, outside counsel.

Next, under the leadership of the Diversity Committee and the Young Lawyers Committee, the FCBA will be hosting the Annual Mentoring Supper on March 14th at Hogan Lovells. More than fifty prospective mentees have signed up to bask in the glow of more experienced FCBA attorneys, and there is always room for more!

The FCBA Foundation will be tending to their own multi-tiered garden in March, as they till the soil of prospective college and law students searching for a bumper crop of scholarship and stipend recipients. If you are interested in reviewing applications or interviewing applicants, please contact Aspa Paroutsas. According to the Old Farmer's Almanac, the last spring frost will be on April 2nd, so it makes sense that we gather with our friends from Capitol Hill on April 3rd at NCTA for our Congressional Reception.

Finally, the fruit of our efforts will be in full bloom at the FCBA Annual Seminar from May 17-19th at the Omni Homestead Resort. The Annual Seminar Committee is working hard to prune the program, which will be released soon.

Also, please remember to send in your nominations for the Excellence in Government Service Award by March 8th. Nominations should be sent to Kerry Loughney at Kerry@FCBA.org.

14th Annual ABA/FCBA Privacy and Data Security Symposium
Tech Frontiers in Communications Privacy

The FCBA Privacy and Data Security Committee and the ABA Forum on Communications Law will hold the 14th Annual Privacy & Data Security Symposium on Thursday, March 21 from 2:00 – 6:00 p.m. This program will be held at Arnold & Porter LLP, 601 Massachusetts Avenue, NW.

New technologies are rapidly changing the way consumers, corporations, and governments approach personal data and privacy. Myriad headlines about massive data breaches, resulting in the theft of sensitive personal and corporate information, pockmarked 2018. In the age of cyber-espionage and terrorism, governments’ abilities to monitor networks for security threats run up against the proliferation of encryption. As more aspects of our lives and our nation’s economy become more interconnected by networks, dominated by massive platforms, and influenced by machine learning and automated decision-making, the stakes in getting data collection, security, and use right have never been higher. This event will examine the intersection of three areas of technical innovation—networks, platforms, and AI—with privacy and data security, bringing in a range of views from expert panelists to inform and debate while provoking thought on evolving use cases, threats, and solutions.

If you are an FCBA member who will be attending in person in Washington, DC, click here to register online or use the form on page 25. *Note that ABA Forum on Communications Law members may not register online. Please use the form on page 25.

If you are interested in attending via teleconference and are located outside of the Washington, DC metropolitan area, please contact elizabeth@fcba.org.

Agenda

2:00 – 2:05 p.m.
OPENING REMARKS AND INTRODUCTION

2:05 – 3:10 p.m.
SESSION I: DATA PROTECTION ACROSS COMMUNICATIONS NETWORKS

Voice communication, text messaging, and broadband travel over networks subject to a storm of cyber threats. But differences exist in the way that our various forms of communication are regulated, such as between voice and broadband. Regulatory regimes affect the privacy and security of networks, but how might those regulations change to adapt to new technologies? This panel will examine the emerging trends in networks, such as deep packet inspection and end-to-end encryption, and discuss the successes and failures of the laws that govern them.

Moderator:
Adrienne Fowler, Symposium Chair for the ABA Forum on Communications Law; and Partner, Data Privacy, Security & Use Practice, Harris, Wiltshire & Grannis LLP

Speakers:
Beth Williams, Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legal Policy, U.S. Department of Justice; Member, U.S. Department of Justice Cyber-Digital Task Force
Alan Butler, Senior Counsel, Electronic Privacy Information Center
Umair Javed, Legal Advisor to FCC Commissioner Jessica Rosenworcel

3:10 – 3:20 p.m.
BREAK

3:20 – 4:30 p.m.
SESSION II: PLATFORMS AND DATA PROTECTION

Perhaps most concerning to the average citizen (and politicians) are the losses of privacy and data facilitated by the big platforms many use, including social media websites, online shopping platforms, and video streaming services. Most notably, Facebook was roiled this past year by controversy over its practices of sharing user data with third parties, which led to congressional hearings and much public consternation. This panel will explore how the use of personal data by platforms is regulated, and how it could be improved in a way that protects consumers while allowing companies to provide innovative services that improve people’s lives and drive our nation’s economy.

Moderator:
John Heitmann, Co-Chair, Annual Symposium; Co-Chair, FCBA Privacy & Data Security Committee; and Partner and Chair, Communications Group, Kelley Drye & Warren LLP

Speakers:

Yael Weinman, Associate General Counsel for Privacy, Verizon
Heather West, Assistant Director for Public Policy, Mozilla
Melinda Claybaugh, Privacy Legislation Director, Facebook
Michelle Richardson, Director of the Data and Privacy Project, Center for Democracy & Technology

4:30 – 4:40 p.m.
BREAK

4:40 – 6:00 p.m.
SESSION III: AI AND DATA PROTECTION

Artificial intelligence stands to revolutionize the way we live and work in every sector. But many are disquieted by the thought of AI's proliferation, made especially concerning by the notion of handing over the reins of power to a computer, with little-to-no human intervention. AI also learns best by ingesting reams of data, therefore demanding serious consideration of how we harvest and use that information. Will an AI-dominated future be more benevolent, having been freed from the caprice and inefficiency of humans? Or will it simply harness those biases and exacerbate them? The AI and Privacy panel will delve into these questions and more.

Drones, Safety and Security: How Federal, State and Local Agencies are Dealing with Current Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) Challenges

The FCBA Homeland Security and Emergency Communications Committee will sponsor a CLE on Monday, April 22 from 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. entitled “Drones, Safety and Security: How Federal, State and Local Agencies are Dealing with Current Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) Challenges.” This program will be held at Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP, 1800 M Street, NW, 800N.

Federal, State and Local use of Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) in emergency response and law enforcement is increasing. State and local governments conduct law enforcement and public safety (LEAPS) using UAS along with the federal government. In some cases, the State and Local officials need additional Federal assets for LEAPS. Plus, private ownership and improper use of UAS devises are increasing. We will explore how agencies are using UAS and countering illegal use of UAS. We will also unpack issues on sovereignty, the Stafford Act, state budgets and Federal support to the States and review drone basics like FAA approvals, FCC frequency allocations and other regulatory issues. We will also address proper approvals.

Saturday evening will feature a reception followed by a dinner buffet and evening activity. Sunday morning the seminar closes with a breakfast buffet.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON ACTIVITIES

Golf and Tennis. Participate in the golf outing and enjoy an afternoon on the Omni Homestead Resort’s Old Course, completed in 1892 and distinguished as home of the nation’s oldest first tee in continuous use. If you would rather play tennis, join your fellow FCBA friends in a round robin tournament.

The Omni Homestead’s Naturalist Hike in Cascades Gorge. On this three-hour tour designed for adults and children alike, you’ll be led and entertained by a naturalist through a series of waterfalls alongside a deep gorge trail in the Allegheny Mountains. Learn about unusual flora and fauna in this semi-tropical environment, as well as the medicinal and edible properties of many local plants. It’s a three-mile journey and one of the most beautiful in the region. There are two departure times: 1:15 or 1:45 p.m. Bottled water is provided. Thanks to Lynne Milne for sponsoring part of the activity!

Visit the Bacova Beer Company and Mini Golf. Bacova is a small, family run brewery in Bath County, Virginia, about a mile away from the Omni Homestead. They operate a five-barrel brew house with the purpose of creating small-batch, wonderfully flavorful beers. All their equipment is made of the highest quality, food grade stainless steel and is purposely made to brew beer. After sampling a taste of the region, join the group for a game of mini golf at Mini Cascades Miniature Golf Course on the Homestead property. Individuals are responsible for their own food, beverage, and golf fees on-site. Although there is no up-front registration fee for these, we request that you sign up on the registration form, so we know how many people to expect.

ABOUT THE RESORT

The Omni Homestead Resort is nestled in the Allegheny Mountains and is known for its Southern hospitality and charm. The resort has been designated a National Historic Landmark and makes up most of the city of Hot Springs, Virginia. Located across more than 2,000 acres of scenic Virginia landscape, the resort provides timeless comforts and access to an exciting array of activities no matter the season of your stay. Ninth Annual Mentoring Supper

Presented by the FCBA’s Diversity Committee and Young Lawyers Committee

Calling all young lawyers, law students and lawyers in transition! Mentees should register today for the Ninth Annual Mentoring Supper which will be held on Thursday, March 14, 2019, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Hogan Lovells US LLP, Columbia Square, 555 Thirteenth Street, NW.

The Ninth Annual Mentoring Supper is an opportunity for law students and lawyers of all experience levels to interact with distinguished members of the bar while enjoying a catered dinner. Typically, three mentees will converse with two mentors across a dinner table, allowing for substantive discussions about career development and related topics. The event is organized so that lawyers at all phases of their career can benefit, from law students to recent graduates to more experienced attorneys looking for guidance from industry leaders. An outstanding roster of experienced lawyers have agreed to serve as mentors for this program, representing an incredible breadth of private and public businesses, federal agencies, non-profits, large and boutique private law firms, and trade associations. Confirmed mentors include:

Stacy Fuller, Anisa Latif & Caroline Van Wie, AT&T; Ryan Wallach & Kathryn Zachem, Comcast; Ann Bobeck, Matthew DeNero, Yaron Dori & Thomas Parisi, Covington & Burling; Barry Ohlson, Cox Enterprises; Grace Koh, Former DLA Piper; Laura Phillips, Drinker Biddle; Krista Witanowski, Facebook; Brendan Carr, Elizabeth Cuttner, Jean Kiddoo, Lynne Milne & Nirali Patel, FCC; Tony Lee, Fletcher Heald; Joseph Di Scipio, Fox Television; Megan Stull, Google; Scott Blake Harris & Christopher Wright, Harris Wiltshire; Mark Brennan, Michele Farquhar, Trey Hanbury & Sean Spivey, Hogan Lovells; Gigi Sohn, Institute for Technology Law & Policy; Johanna Thomas, Jenner & Block; Jenell Trigg, Lerman Senter; Jennifer Warren, Lockheed Martin; Angela Giancarlo, Mayer Brown; Margaret Tobey, NBCUniversal; Jennifer Duane, NTIA; Lee Petro, Pillsbury Winthrop; Kathleen Ham & Luisa Lancetti, T-Mobile; Kristine Fargotstein, Narda Jones, Lauren McCarty, Bakari Middleton & Clint Odom, U.S. Congressional Staff; Diane Holland, Former USTelecom – The Broadband Association; Robert Branson, Former Verizon; Roger Sherman, Waneta Strategies; Kyle Dixon, WarnerMedia; Scott Delacourt, Anna Gomez, Kathleen Kirby & Joshua Turner, Wiley Rein; Anne Swanson, Bryan Tramont & Rachel Wolkowitz, Wilkinson Barker; and Mia Hayes, Willkie Farr.

Registering for the event in advance helps the planning committee confirm the best mix of potential mentors based on mentees’ current career status. You are never too old (or too experienced) to benefit from a mentoring relationship, and you never know how participation may affect your career. It is certainly worth your time.

Dinner is included in the mentee’s registration fee of $10.00.

Click here to register or visit http://www.fcba.org/upcoming-events/.

The financial and logistical support of Hogan Lovells US LLP, Signature Sponsor of the Ninth Annual Mentoring Supper, is much appreciated.

PANEL: WITH GREAT POWER COMES GREAT RESPONSIBILITY: BROADCAST REGULATION – AND Deregulation
Your friendly neighborhood panelists will guide you through the complicated web of FCC rules and regulations. Get up to date on the latest — whether the status of J. Jonah Jameson’s favorite—the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule (and the rest of the broadcast ownership rules)—the likely fate of the kidvid rules (and all those Saturday morning cartoons), EEO, sponsorship id, advertising (through large, bat-shaped spotlights or otherwise), recordkeeping, and more. All that, and views from the FCC’s Enforcement Bureau on how broadcasters should live a life of responsibility — just because someone stumbles and loses their path, doesn’t mean they can’t be saved . . . or at least negotiate a reasonable consent decree.

Bill LeBeau, Holland & Knight LLP, Washington, DC
Panelists:
Crystal Evans, Associate Counsel, Regulatory Affairs, NBCUniversal, Washington, DC

Participants will bring to bear their different viewpoints, focusing on the Las Vegas and Parkland shootings, each of which has resulted in active litigation. Join us for a thoughtful discussion about how best to balance the public’s right to know with the state’s interest in prosecuting the offender and protecting the privacy of victims.

Those who fight for truth, justice, and the broadcasting way should familiarize themselves with where the FTC is focusing. Interested in Hosting an FCBA event?

The FCBA greatly appreciates the support of our members’ firms and companies who provide space for our brown bag lunches, committee meetings, and CLE Seminars throughout the year. We are, however, always looking for new locations that can host FCBA events.

In general, we need conference rooms that can seat at least 30 people at tables for brown bag lunches and committee meetings and conference rooms that can seat at least 60 people theatre style for CLE seminars. Firms and companies hosting brown bag lunches provide beverages and desserts; firms and companies hosting CLE seminars provide beverages and snacks. Brown bag lunches are generally held from 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. and CLE seminars are generally held from 12:00 – 2:15 p.m., 3:00 – 5:15 p.m., or 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. Additionally, for CLE seminars we need facilities that can provide technology support for microphones for as many as six speakers on a panel, the ability to tie the house sound system into a teleconference bridge, and video projection capabilities for PowerPoint presentations. If your firm or company has the needed conference room facilities and capabilities and would be willing to host future FCBA activities, please email Kerry Loughney, kerry@fcba.org.
A Message on behalf of the FCBA Foundation

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS,

In these early months of 2019, your FCBA Foundation Board of Trustees has been hard at work implementing three programs core to our mission: scholarships for local high school students interested in communications-related fields of education, including STEM programs, law, economics, and journalism; stipends for law students who choose to serve in communications-related public service internships for the summer; and scholarships for students in communications-related graduate legal studies. Our application process is in full swing, and by May we will have completed our extensive review and interview process. Last year, we awarded four-year college scholarships to 26 deserving Washington, DC high school graduates; stipends to 32 law school students who interned in public service positions; and scholarships to seven law school students for the 2018-2019 school year.

Of course, we cannot sustain our vibrant scholarship and stipend programs without financial help from our members. The amount of money we raise by March 31 largely will determine how many students we can assist this 2018-2019 fiscal year. If you have not done so already, the Board of Trustees invites you and your organization to support the FCBA Foundation. Recognizing the social value and importance of our programs, many of our Named Scholarship donors are there for the Foundation year after year, as are so many of you. Given the increasing interest in our scholarship programs, we would welcome broader participation across the FCBA’s membership. Making a donation is simple: please click here to donate online or click here to download the donation form.

As in the past, the Foundation will recognize donors throughout the year, and each of our donors will be listed in our Annual Report. To encourage members within organizations to work together to support our programs, the FCBA Foundation will recognize gifts by individuals or groups that choose to combine their contributions (for example, partners and associates in the same firm, employees of the same company, or old friends remembering a colleague) while also crediting the individual donors for their contributions.

Named Scholarships. Each year, we specially recognize those organizations that have funded Foundation scholarships in amounts of $10,000 or more through our Named Scholarships program. Named Scholarship donors are acknowledged at our Annual Meeting luncheon in June and at the Chairman’s Dinner in December, as well as in our Annual Report and newsletter. For FY2018, our Named Scholarship donors included:

- 21st Century Fox
- AT&T

FCBA Foundation 2019 Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program: Application Now Available

For the 26th consecutive year, the FCBA Foundation will award stipends to law students employed as unpaid summer interns through its Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program. The program provides stipends to students from around the country who want to dedicate their time and talent over the summer to government service in areas that relate to communications law, including broadcasting, cable, information technology, television, telephony, satellite, and wireless. It also can include work at agencies and Congressional committees addressing other communications-related areas, including internet law and policy, privacy, cybersecurity, copyright, emerging technologies, and related policy and legal issues.

The Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program awards stipends of up to $5,000 from its FCC Chairman Robert Emmet Lee Scholarship and Internship Fund, and last year provided support to 32 outstanding law students. In addition, the Foundation will select one outstanding intern among those chosen to receive an additional stipend for the summer: the Max Paglin Award. The Foundation considers funding from other sources in making award decisions and generally will adjust its stipend awards so that a recipient's total funding for the internship will not exceed $7,000. FCBA individual and corporate members generously donate money to the FCBA Foundation to support these stipends.

The application for the stipend is now available and can be accessed at https://webportalapp.com/sp/login/fcbastipend2019. The deadline for submission of applications is Sunday, March 24, 2019.

If you have any questions about the Foundation Law School Summer Internship Stipend program or application, please contact Janeen Wynn at 202-293-4000 or janeen@fcba.org.

23rd Annual FCBA Foundation Golf Tournament to be held Tuesday, June 4 Same Course! Same fees!

On Tuesday, June 4, we will host our annual FCBA Golf Tournament at 1757 Golf Club in Dulles, Virginia. 1757 Golf Club is known for its pristine golf course and beautiful facilities, and is located close to downtown DC. Thanks to the shrewd negotiating skills of the Golf Committee, we are excited to come back to this venue for the second year without any fee increase. There is truly no excuse to join your colleagues for a wonderful afternoon of fun!

Are you a member who can add to our programming as a speaker? Do you know someone who is? Can you think of a topic that should be the subject of an event?

The FCBA invites you to send your ideas! Our committees are always looking for potential speakers from diverse backgrounds. The Diversity Committee is compiling a database of FCBA members who want to add to the conversation on substantive topics as speakers and moderators. If you are interested, please send an email to Janeen Wynn, janeen@fcba.org, with your name, affiliation, and topics about which you have knowledge with the subject line “FCBA Speakers Bureau.” The Diversity Committee will compile this database on a rolling basis and make it available to all committee co-chairs. FCBA committee co-chairs should feel free to use the Diversity Committee as a resource when identifying speakers or moderators for other events.

Our transition to 1757 was a great success! The number of players substantially grew and the course presented its challenging form to everyone that attended. The current champions of the FCBA Golf Cup is team Wireless Infrastructure Association so put your Eagle Foursomes together and compete for this year's cup!

In addition, even if you cannot attend, you can help “rebalance” the demographic tilt of the tournament by directly contributing to this effort by donating $50 to the Golf Stipend fund. Such funds would be applied to assist young FCBA lawyers, law students, clerks, and interns with the golf fees and allow them to join the tournament.

Consistent with past years, we will continue to start the tourney in the afternoon this year so that our workaholic friends can get in a few hours at the office (or plenty of time to warm up on the range). Shotgun start will be at 1:00 p.m. followed by a delicious post-round Buffet BBQ Dinner.

As always, all of the proceeds from the Tournament go straight to the FCBA Foundation to support its wonderful programs, including the Scholarship programs and the Summer Legal Internship program. Over the years, the Tournament has raised over $400,000 for the FCBA Foundation charities, all under the auspices of getting together with your colleagues for an enjoyable day of golf! Our goal and motto: “What a great concept: Do good and have fun at the same time!” We hope you can join us this year!

See registration details on page 30 of this newsletter and sign up today! The Golf Committee always welcomes prize donations or those interested in helping out! Contact Arturo Chang at Arturo.Chang@WIA.org if you want to contribute!

Get to Know an FCBA MEMBER

By: Laura Phillips

I recently caught up with Melissa Newman who has - at least on the weekdays - forsaken DC to become the Vice President of External Affairs and Senior Counsel to New York City based Transit Wireless. Melissa started with Transit Wireless last September and in her time with me she exuded enthusiasm for the challenges of this new and different corporate position. It was wonderful to talk to Melissa about what led her to her current position as well as what she has experienced in her career journey that might be useful for others getting their start in communications.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications? Can you share some of your career progression with us?

A: It was really a fluke; I was not someone who from grade school was immersed in all things communications. As I was coming out of law school, I was deciding between possible government jobs either as a prosecuting attorney in Chicago and an attorney in the federal government in DC. What made the decision easier was that I had interned on Capitol Hill during my last semester of law school and I really enjoyed that so I decided to stay in DC and accept a position at the FCC. And, that is how I was introduced to communications law and policy. While communications as a legal discipline was interesting, it was only later that I realized how many dimensions there are in communications law and policy, dimensions that are not necessarily present in other areas of the law. It’s possible to be a communications lawyer in government, to be practicing in a law firm, to be a lawyer/lobbyist in a company, to be in a public interest organization or even to be a lawyer on Capitol Hill. And I have to say that communications as a practice area provides one the ability to keep intellectually sharp, as well as the ability to see many different perspectives to the issues we face.

My first FCC employment as an attorney lasted for about three and a half years, and then I went to a law firm and thought that that would be a good place to keep learning. I went to Willkie Farr & Gallagher for a couple of years and then I had the good fortune to return to the FCC at the time the agency was gearing up to implement the 1996 Telecom Act; who could refuse that opportunity? That was a very exciting time and I was Legal Counsel to the Bureau Chief and then a Deputy Division Chief in what is now the Wireline Competition Bureau, coming into contact with all sorts of people from inside and outside the agency. It was during that time that I saw firsthand that attorneys within companies could play a huge role in assisting with the development of rules or policies and, as a result, I was ready to make the leap to work in a corporation at US West in their Federal Regulatory Affairs group. After a few years US West became Qwest and then CenturyLink and all in, I had an 18 year stint with these corporations starting as a director and ending up as the vice president Federal Regulatory Policy and Affairs.

Like many large organizations, CenturyLink offered a buyout, and when I looked at the time I had spent and what I had accomplished (with my colleagues at the company), I realized for me that it made sense to try something new. I then joined Wilkinson Barker, the law firm that I used predominantly while at CenturyLink and that had provided me with excellent legal and regulatory advice over the years.

And then I got a call from a friend who was talking about some interesting things going on in New York City with a communications oriented public-private partnership that involved transit authorities in and around New York City. I joined Transit Wireless this fall and unlike CenturyLink, it is a smaller company of about 100 people. My role is broad; I work directly for the CEO as the company’s chief legal officer and do external affairs and public relations. I do a lot of lobbying as well as providing a range of legal services. Transit Wireless provides connectivity for cellular service and Wi-Fi in subway stations and is looking to expand and provide more connectivity in and around New York City and its outlying areas. I quickly learned that my role consists of pretty much anything that needs attention, including licensing agreements, litigation, general corporate, HR, the list goes on….It’s been really interesting for me, while challenging and fast paced, I am excited to have been able to take it on in this stage of my legal career.

Q: Have things unfolded in your career more or less the way you planned?

A: In the beginning of my career I had no idea that I’d be in the telecommunications field for the long term, so it’s fair to say I did not have a plan for what happened to me. I think after a couple of years of being a communications attorney I realized that being in a company was really more my thing. Although looking back I’m surprised that I spent 18 years at one company which is not something lots of people do in today’s environment. But I had great bosses and colleagues and I kept growing and learning. What’s interesting now in terms of a lack of planning was that it was entirely unexpected for me to take the leap to relocate to New York City and take on a different role than I have had in the past. I’m so glad that I did as there are lots of novel issues at Transit Wireless and it’s pretty exciting to be this engaged each and every day.

Q: What’s the most interesting or challenging thing that occupies you in your current position?

A: What’s interesting is the breath of issues that I deal with at my new company, Transit Wireless. There are substantive legal issues, there are business issues, and there are personnel issues. Because Transit Wireless is relatively small (compared to CenturyLink), these things are not compartmentalized so it’s a fascinating set of opportunities to be faced with each day. So I have to bring my best game every day to work.

Q: What something or someone that is surprised and impressed you during your career and why?

A: What I am doing now is more expansive than anything I’ve done as a communications lawyer either at the FCC or at a law firm or company and honestly I could not be doing it but for all the things I’ve learned over the years from different bosses I worked with along the way. I was impressed by what each had to teach me, as they were all really good (but different). Depending upon the issue or challenge I face now, I can look at each of their approaches and their skills and draw from them as appropriate. I find myself thinking how would they handle a particular potentially sticky situation. So I'm really grateful for the key people who over time taught me what I am using now.

Q: What do you enjoy reading?

A: It has to be fiction. I need to get away from reality a little bit. It’s got to be either historical fiction or a mystery, but it has to be plot driven to keep me engaged. Lately I’ve gone back to reading Agatha Christie but in terms of something I read recently I would say The Light We Cannot See by Anthony Doerr is worthwhile.

Q: Can you share perspective on pitfalls to avoid her other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: I would offer three small nuggets here. One is that it’s great if you can work at the FCC when you are getting started. In my first couple of years working at FCC I spent a lot of time getting to know people in the agency and the industry, many of whom have been great contacts and mentors over time. There’s nothing like working at the FCC for getting to know people and to know the issues. Even if you’re not able to work at the FCC, you still can join the FCBA and meet others in the field that way. I recall paying my own way to go to FCBA events where I rubbed elbows with more experienced folks.

Another nugget is to be open to things you don’t really know about, as you never know the opportunities that may come your way. You want to be prepared for them or at least you don’t want to close yourself off from exploring potentially new and exciting things. That’s something for everyone to think about, not just those starting out!

Finally, I would say be the employee that you would want to have working for you. In DC pretty much everyone else is smart and reasonably capable. Part of advancing is more than your intellectual capabilities. It’s how you show up every day to work. It’s really being thoughtful about the what and the why and the how you do things at work. Over my time in communications, I would say that the people who succeeded or who advanced to very high levels in government or industry have something more, something intangible beyond being smart that they bring to their role or office. So it’s really important that you figure out what that thing is for you and determine how to develop it.

Q: What is something interesting about who the people are generally not aware of that you are willing to share?

A: I have taken a number of improv classes. I did it for fun and it turns out it can be really useful in your day-to-day life. “Yes, and….”

Q: How long have you been in FCBA member of what is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I joined the FCBA in 1989 while I was in my first stint working at the FCC. The FCBA is unparalleled in being one of the very best places to get to know people outside of your place of employment. In talking to people in other fields I am convinced that there’s no other bar at all like ours. We are pretty unique in terms of having a real community. Second I would say the FCBA programming, either CLEs or more social events, are always interesting and useful. I know I wouldn’t know all the people I do if it had not been for the FCBA. Some of my contacts in the FCBA have led me to new career paths, so if you just want to look at it from a personally selfish perspective –and I am not encouraging to new career paths, so if you just want to look at it from a personally selfish perspective –and I am not encouraging that - the FCBA is well worth your time and attention.
