FCBA Meet and Greet the FCC / NTIA Bureau and Office Chiefs Reception to be held on October 16

The FCBA is pleased to announce a reception to meet and greet the FCC and NTIA Bureau and Office Chiefs on Wednesday, October 16 from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m. The reception will be held at the JW Marriott, 1331 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC.

Sponsorships of the event are available for $700 and $400 and include registrations to the reception. Sponsors will receive recognition for their support at the event, in promotional emails and the newsletter, and on the website and other social media outlets. Individual tickets to the reception may also be purchased.

To register an individual, click here or use the form on page 13. See page 13 for sponsor registration.

30th Annual FCBA Charity Auction to be held on November 7

The FCBA Young Lawyers Committee and the FCBA Foundation will hold their 30th Annual Charity Auction on Thursday, November 7, at the Sphinx Club at the Almas Temple, 1315 K Street, NW, Washington, DC, from 6:00 – 10:00 p.m. Admission is free and the event is open to the public.

Proceeds from this year's Charity Auction will benefit two great, local charities – the FCBA Foundation and The Modern Classrooms Project. The FCBA Foundation supports the FCBA College Scholarship Program, Law School Summer Stipend Program, and Law School Scholarship Program. The Modern Classrooms Project's award-winning instructional model leverages educational technology and broadband/Wi-Fi connections to ensure that every student has unlimited access to knowledge, learns at his/her own unique pace, and truly masters each skill before moving on to the next.

PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR FELLOW MEMBERS:

With the end of summer comes the return of school traffic, so I hope everyone is enjoying their longer commutes. The good news is that in addition to cooler weather and football, fall also brings a rush of FCBA activities, so keep an eye out for emails about CLEs and brown bag lunches.

This year we are again looking forward to hosting an FCC and NTIA Bureau and Office Chiefs Reception. The event, which will take place on October 16 at the JW Marriott, is a great opportunity to meet and get to know some of the key decision-makers at the FCC and NTIA, so mark your calendars and get your registration info in to the FCBA.

It's hard to believe, but the Charity Auction comes up shortly after that, on November 7. There is still time to donate prizes (or cash) for the auction, so if you'd like to make an impact, please send us the form on page 14 of the newsletter. This year the beneficiary is the Modern Classrooms Project, and the Charity Auction Committee has once again decided to give a portion of the proceeds to the FCBA Foundation, to help fund its incredibly worthwhile scholarship program. Krista Witanowski and I will be the "celebrity" MCs, so if you'd like to see us try our hand at auction patter, you should definitely come out—and even if you'd rather not see us try our hand at auction patter, please come anyway!

Finally, we had a great social event to close out the summer at the Vinyl Lounge. Many thanks to Barry Ohlson for spearheading the effort and to Tom Power for handling the logistics. In particular, we had strong turnout from law students and younger lawyers, and it was a great chance for them to mingle with other members of the bar. We'll do another one soon, and I hope you'll encourage your colleagues that aren't FCBA members to come out to these and other events to see what the FCBA is all about.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me with your questions, comments, and recommendations at: jturner@wileyrein.com or 202-719-4807.

2019-2020 FCBA MEMBERSHIP RENEWALS

This is your last chance to renew your FCBA membership before you will be dropped on September 20. Once that happens, you will no longer receive discounts on events or notices about FCBA activities. Your current membership expired on June 30, 2019 and by renewing, your membership will be good through June 30, 2020.

Please note that the deadline was JULY 31, 2019. After this date, you will no longer receive the benefits of membership, including reduced pricing at events. You can avoid receiving future email reminders that your membership has expired by renewing today! Also note that all membership notifications and receipts are emailed to FCBA members only – we cannot send them to a member's assistant or secretary.

Please note that you cannot change your membership type or your contact information online. If you need to make a membership type or contact information change, contact Elizabeth Hagerty at elizabeth@fcba.org to go over the member type options BEFORE paying the invoice.

EVERY MEMBER MUST LOG IN TO RENEW.

- To log in to your account, click here or go to www.fcba.org and click the Log In button.
- If you don't know your password you must click on the "Forgot your Password?" link and follow the instructions to generate a new password. The system will then email you a link which you must activate to change the password.

TO RENEW ONLINE BY CREDIT CARD:

- Once logged in, go to the My Transactions link. Here you can see a list of all your orders and invoices.
- Click on the Pay Open Orders button on the right side of the screen.
- Check off the box next to the order/invoice you wish to pay, click Next and follow the instructions to process your payment.

TO RENEW BY CHECK:

- Once logged in, go to the My Transactions link. Here you can see a list of all your orders and invoices.
- Click the View More link under the Invoice Details column on the right side, then when the page opens click on Print This Page on the upper right side to print out the order.
- You must include the printed order with your check and mail to the address on the order.

LAST CHANCE

MEMBERSHIP!

TO MAKE A DONATION TO THE FCBA FOUNDATION:

- Log in to your FCBA account. Click the Online Store link, then enter FCBA Foundation into the Search For box. Click the Go button.

OR

- Click here to download the Foundation donation form

TO PAY FOR A GROUP OF RENEWALS AT ONE TIME

We have been reminded that some firms/companies prefer to pay for a group of membership renewals at one time with one check. In order to do this, each individual member should log in and print out his/her own order and submit it for payment through their internal channels. If the firm/company does not include each individual invoice with payment, they must include a list of members to renew along with each person's membership category and the fee associated. Again, if we receive one check for multiple renewals, the firm/company must include a copy of each individual invoice or a list of member names, membership categories, and fees associated with each member. If you are paying for multiple renewals by credit card, you must pay each invoice individually online.

To view your information in the FCBA online directory, click on the Individual Directory link in the menu options after you have logged in. Search for your entry information. Note that this directory only displays your name, address, email, and primary phone and fax number. Our database can still house more info, such as alternate phone and cell phone numbers, but it will not be reflected in the online directory.

COMMITTEE SIGN-UP

If you would like to update the committee(s) you are on, click here to download the sign-up form and send it back to us at FCBA, 1020 19th Street, NW, Suite 325, Washington, DC 20036, Fax: 202-293-4317, Email: elizabeth@fcba.org.

Tuesday, October 29, 2:00 – 4:15 p.m. Securing IoT Devices: Evaluating Varying Ways to Enhance Cybersecurity Protections

The FCBA Internet of Things and Privacy and Data Security Committees will co-sponsor a CLE on Tuesday, October 29 from 2:00 – 4:15 p.m. entitled “Securing IoT Devices: Evaluating Varying Ways to Enhance Cybersecurity Protections.” This program will be held at Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP, 1500 K Street, NW.

To register, click here or go to the FCBA Website – Calendar of Events or use the form on page 12.

Connected devices are proliferating in cars, homes and businesses. As these devices continue to gain in popularity and utility, concerns are growing over whether the devices are safe from hacking and malicious use. Protecting such devices involves a delicate mixture of voluntary, “carrot” approaches and mandatory, “stick” requirements. Manufacturers of devices, creators of software, vendors, and network providers, among others, must stay aware of ongoing developments. In this program, we will look at the different approaches being used, their roles and the potential future of IoT device security.

Agenda

2:00 – 2:05 p.m.
WELCOME AND INTRODUCTIONS

2:05 – 3:05 p.m.
VOLUNTARY APPROACHES TO THE PROTECTION OF IOT DEVICES

Industry and the Federal government are working on a number of voluntary initiatives to protect the security of IoT devices. The National Institute of Standards and Technology has been adapting its “risk-based” guidance to cybersecurity for IoT, including draft guidance outlining cybersecurity considerations for manufacturers of securable IoT devices. Meanwhile, industry groups are also developing their own sets of best practices and, in some cases, certifications. Panelists will provide an update on developments in these areas.

Moderator:
Steve Augustino, Partner, Kelley Drye

Speakers:
TBD

3:05 – 3:15 p.m.
BREAK

3:15 – 4:15 p.m.
SHAPING THE LEGAL AND REGULATORY LANDSCAPE
The Administration’s cybersecurity policy calls for industry-led and developed cybersecurity processes and standards, but Federal legislation, state laws and discrete policy initiatives may backstop those standards with a variety of enforceable obligations. This panel will discuss pending Federal legislation, recent laws in California and Oregon, and other policy initiatives that will shape requirements to be followed by industry actors in the IoT space.

Moderator:
Dana Zelman, Associate, DLA Piper

Speakers:
TBD

CHARITY AUCTION

Kareem Farah, the Executive Director of The Modern Classrooms Project, explains that the model “shifts the focus of the classroom to the student in a way that allows for more personalized attention and supports skills development to allow students to be successful both inside of and outside of the classroom.” Johns Hopkins University, the Project’s research partner, found that the teaching model had statistically significant positive impacts on student and teacher attitudes, behaviors, and feelings of self-efficacy.

The funds raised from this year’s Charity Auction will directly support The Modern Classrooms Project’s incoming group of teaching fellows who will serve over 2,500 students in nine different schools across the DC area. These educators teach middle and high school students English, History, Math, Science, and a variety of elective courses at primarily low-income or diverse schools. Mr. Farah recommends watching this Edutopia video to see how The Modern Classrooms Project is leading the movement toward “blended, self-paced, mastery-based classrooms that retain and amplify teachers’ authenticity.” The FCBA Foundation will use proceeds from the Charity Auction to support its annual scholarship program.

Attendees should also expect other new and exciting prizes, including vacation packages; consumer electronics; tickets to concerts, theater shows, and various professional and collegiate sporting events; dinners; lunches; spa packages; and gift certificates from area businesses.

If you have any questions about the Charity Auction, please contact Thom Parisi (TParisi@cov.com) or Janeen Wynn (janeen@fcba.org).

If you are interested in donating a prize, use the Auction Donation Form on page 14 of this newsletter. Contributions are tax deductible, to the extent permitted by law. If you are interested in volunteering for the Auction, please send an email to FCBAuction@gmail.com.

ABA House of Delegates Adopts Resolution 10B Urging Expanded Rural Broadband Deployment

On August 12, 2019, at the American Bar Association’s Annual Meeting in San Francisco, the ABA’s House of Delegates adopted Resolution 10B, which provides as follows:

RESOLVED, That the American Bar Association urges federal, state, local, territorial, and tribal legislatures to enact legislation and appropriate adequate funding to ensure equal access to justice for Americans living in rural communities by deploying, to at least 98% of the population, broadband infrastructure with a download speed of at least 100 megabits per second, and an upload speed of at least 30 megabits per second.

Resolution 10B was submitted and presented to the House by the Colorado Bar Association, and accompanied by a 19-page Report. That Report explains that the decision to place Resolution 10B before the House was motivated by the sharp decline in the number of attorneys who are choosing to practice in rural American communities. That drop is in turn closely related to the unavailability of high speed internet access in many rural areas.

The Report estimates the number of rural Americans without broadband access to be 23 million. As the critical importance of broadband access to the effective practice of law has grown in recent years, few new attorneys are choosing to replace retiring attorneys in rural areas that lack broadband access. The dearth of broadband also burdens the large number of rural Americans who represent themselves in legal matters.

The Report contains additional detail about these issues and the larger impact of the lack of access to rural broadband. It can be found here: <https://www.americanbar.org/content/dam/aba/directories/policy/annual-2019/10b-annual-2019.pdf>

Dennis P. Corbett, Telecommunications Law Professionals PLLC
FCBA Delegate to the ABA

Are you a member who can add to our programming as a speaker? Do you know someone who is? Can you think of a topic that should be the subject of an event?

The FCBA invites you to send your ideas! Our committees are always looking for potential speakers from diverse backgrounds. The Diversity Committee is compiling a database of FCBA members who want to add to the conversation on substantive topics as speakers and moderators. If you are interested, please send an email to Janeen Wynn, janeen@fcba.org, with your name, affiliation, and topics about which you have knowledge with the subject line “FCBA Speakers Bureau.” The Diversity Committee will compile this database on a rolling basis and make it available to all committee co-chairs. FCBA committee co-chairs should feel free to use the Diversity Committee as a resource when identifying speakers or moderators for other events.

Prize gathering is a wonderful way to get out in the community and network with other members of the bar, while also helping to guarantee the success of the Charity Auction! No prior experience necessary! To volunteer or get more information, contact FCBAuction@gmail.com.

Jennifer Manner

By: Laura Phillips

August in DC features more than a few steamy mornings. Jennifer A. Manner, who is Senior Vice President, Regulatory Affairs at EchoStar Corporation, and I ventured out in that special seasonal miasma to talk about her career in communications law as well as her experiences as a world traveler. And yes, food was involved. I was lucky she was available, as she has Budapest and Australia in her sites soon for business travel. I'm delighted to be able to share a couple of highlights of Jennifer's work experiences and professional advice as she has worked in private practice, at the FCC in several capacities, and in corporate settings, and thus could share perspectives on what each can bring to a career in communications.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?

A: I went to law school at night and, relatively late in law school, I took a communications course that had media as its main focus; I found it fascinating and enjoyed the subject immensely. Upon graduating from New York Law School, I pursued an LLM in International Law at Georgetown University. It was there that I encountered Linda Wellstein, Rudy Baca and Kathleen Abernathy. Each of them sparked a strong interest in me about technology, communications policy and international affairs. This led me to write my graduate thesis on one of the ITU World Radio Conferences. I think I was destined from then on at some point to be an international communications lawyer. I got my first postLLM job at the Federal Communications Commission. I took that job based on advice from a long-lost cousin, who suggested that starting out in the federal government can be a great way to begin a career. I think that that is absolutely the case.

Q: Tell me more about your career progression and whether things have unfolded in the manner you envisioned.

A: I am so grateful for all the great things I got to do for my first years as a lawyer at the FCC. Even so, I knew that the FCC ultimately could not complete my training as a lawyer, at least not in my estimation. After two years, I left and went to work at Akin Gump and I have to say that among other things, being at a law firm and having to write constantly, my writing improved exponentially. I worked with both Margaret Tobey and Tom Davidson and I learned a tremendous amount from each of them. But I recognized after a while that my skills and my interests were not leading me in a direction that would dictate me staying at a law firm and building a client base.

I then moved to MCI and for over the next six and a half years I had two positions; the first in law and policy as the lead for wireless and foreign market access issues and then I moved to the business side of MCI to be responsible for international strategy. I found that I missed the policy aspect of my work while being on the business side. At that point, I was meeting with my former professor and mentor, Kathleen Abernathy for advice about what to do next. It turned out at that point that she was looking for a Legal Assistant so I returned to the FCC years after I had left to be on the eighth floor in the Commissioner's office from 2003 to 2005. I worked on wireless and satellite issues, as well as international matters.

Then I did a few short stints at a couple of things before starting at SkyTerra Communications, which is now Ligado. I was there as a Vice President for Regulatory Affairs for nearly 4 years. In that time, I helped to develop and implement the company's regulatory and policy strategy. I then dipped my toe back in at the FCC as Deputy Bureau

Chief for the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau at the time Jamie Barnett was coming in. I then spent a little time as Deputy Chief of OET. Since then, I've been Vice President and now Senior Vice President at EchoStar. Overall, a career I have enjoyed tremendously!

Q: What is the most challenging part of your current position and why?

A: My team at EchoStar, which is a U.S.-based global satellite operator, has to deal with policy and licensing matters all around the world. I have to say that spectrum management when you're doing it with such a broad portfolio as a satellite operator is quite challenging. This is largely because of the lack of recognition about the importance of satellite technology. My goal is for regulators to understand the importance of "technology-neutral" for both regulation and spectrum management. That is why I am excited, as a policy person, about the promise of 5G. 5G is going to have to be a network of networks to meet all its goals and that means all technologies, including satellite, will be a critical part of the global 5G network. In addition, I also am hopeful that 5G will bring us lots of new technologies that we can integrate into our daily lives. This is part of what I love about being in telecommunications – the technology keeps evolving to bring us more innovative services with each generation.

Q: What do you enjoy reading and what are you reading now?

A: Well I read every night including magazines like the New Yorker. But I really do enjoy biographies and histories. Right now, I'm reading about Ian Fleming's time as a spy. Because the next movie I am producing involves the Nixon Administration I am also reading a book by the Special Prosecutor for Watergate, about Watergate, and for something a bit lighter, a biography about Teddy Roosevelt and the Rough Riders.

Q: What has impressed you most about people you've worked with and why?

A: I have to call out several people here for different reasons. First, I owe a lot to Jane Jackson at the FCC who saw very quickly that Accounting and Audits was not a great fit for my talents and interests. I will be forever grateful that Jane assessed that and helped me to move on. I also must call out Tom Davison at Akin Gump who at times edited my written work more heavily than I would have liked. But as a result, my writing improved significantly, which has benefited me greatly in my career, as well as enabled me to be a well-published author of books and articles. I owe Tom a lot for taking the time to work with me.

Of course, the incomparable Kathleen Abernathy has been such an important role model and mentor to me. Finally, I'd say Jamie Barnett as Chief of the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau was just the best leader I have ever known. I've learned so much from each of these folks and so many others – and everything I've learned helps me do what I do now in my own way but with the benefit of their knowledge and experience.

Q: Can you share a perspective on pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: I have to say it's important that people be proactive - politely of course - and push for themselves and their own careers. If you can't advocate for yourself, then you're not going to get terribly far. I also think it is tremendously valuable if you can get both government and private sector experience so that you can see both sides of many issues, understanding both the business perspective and the government's view is valuable. Then, based on your interests, you should follow your gut about your career progression. There's really no mistake you can make – short of legal, moral or ethical ones – at an early stage that will sideline your career so don't be so concerned about making a mistake that you don't distinguish yourself. Also, take any and every speaking and writing opportunity you can, even if they terrify you. I remember being terrified as a very young lawyer having to go to testify for the FCC on cable rates before the New Hampshire House of Delegates. While I can recall how terribly nervous I was, I am glad that I had to do it. Finally, I would urge people to be nice to one another. What we do in the communications bar relies heavy on relationships. It is worth spending the time to develop those relations and to remember, it doesn't cost anyone anything to take the time to be nice to others.

Q: What is something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of that you're willing to share?

A: I'm a filmmaker as well as a writer. I started out on filmmaking by doing a short subject film: "Zebrafish: Practically People." (www.zebrafishfilm.com). I am fascinated by zebrafish and what they can teach us and I'm so pleased to have won a number of film festival awards for the project, including being a finalist at the Cannes Film Festival and winning the Hollywood Short Film Festival. This led my husband and me to start a foundation which supports zebrafish biomedical research. This year we awarded scholarships to several college students enabling them to work in zebrafish labs throughout the world.

My big passion film project now is chronicling the legends of telecom and how competition in this field began and flourished. This is going to be full-length film with interviews and people's stories that would be lost if we don't record them somehow. I started just writing this as history. But I realized pretty quickly that film and that oral history provided more color and nuance, so there you have it. The film is called "When Wire Was King; the Transformation of Telecommunications."

(www.whenwirewasking.com). At this point we've interviewed about 25 key people that were there when competition in wired telecom got started in a big way - many of whom are active FCBA members! I'm really excited about the project and I hope it will come to conclusion within the next six months to year. My goal was to preserve this critical history because there's always the danger that people will forget that none of this was inevitable.

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member and what to you is the value of membership?

A: I've been an FCBA member since June 1992, once I joined the FCC. The association has been invaluable to me on many levels. I've been an active member over the years and I've done lots of committee work. This year I switched from the International Committee to the Engineering and Technology Committee. I am already fascinated by some of the ideas that I've heard from my colleagues about programming that I would not have thought of, and I know I surprised them with some of my ideas. I am very excited about working together to achieve great programming for the members this year. Something I really enjoy and, I believe, benefits the FCBA community.

I've found over the years that the range of events the FCBA holds is extremely helpful in learning more about specific areas, whether it's a free brown bag event or a relatively low cost CLE. I also really enjoy the Annual Seminar and the other more social events that allow people to connect and have great networking opportunities. One of the things I think is the most impressive about the FCBA is that many people I have met over the years have become friends as well as colleagues, so as a bar association, I think you can't do much better than that!

Interested in learning more about another FCBA member? If there is a member you'd like to know better, please contact Laura Phillips at laura.phillips@dbr.com.

Entry-Level Associate – Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP seeks an entry-level associate with zero to two years of experience for its top-tier regulatory practice in Washington, DC beginning in the fall of 2020. WBK specializes in regulatory practice before state utility commissions and federal and state agencies, including the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, and the Patent and Trademark Office, and in complex transactional matters presenting challenging regulatory issues. Applicants should possess outstanding academic credentials, superb writing ability, excellent analytical skills, and sound judgment. We provide competitive compensation and benefits, excellent partnership prospects, and an enjoyable, good-natured work environment.

At WBK, we have combined the benefits of a dynamic, mid-sized boutique with the unique opportunities available to one of the largest regulatory practices in the nation. The firm consistently is involved in cutting-edge legal, policy, transactional, and business issues for a broad array of industry-leading clients, ranging from "Fortune 20" companies to leading trade associations to innovative start-ups. At the same time, we avoid strict hierarchies, thick policy manuals, or a bureaucratic outlook. Our firm offers meaningful leadership and practice development opportunities for attorneys at all levels.

If you are a self-starter with a keen intellect, an entrepreneurial spirit, and a good sense of humor, there is no better place to practice. Interested candidates should submit their resume, cover letter, law school transcript, and writing sample to <https://recruiting.paylocity.com/Recruiting/Jobs/Details/147841>. GOVERNMENT / NON-PROFIT

Counsel – NPR seeks an attorney with 4 to 8 years of experience supporting FCC regulatory advocacy and compliance; reviewing, drafting, and negotiating commercial contracts; and assisting with day-to-day corporate governance. The successful candidate will support internal clients focused on public policy advocacy, news and programming content creation and distribution, and corporate sponsorship. The lawyer who joins our team will help a mission-driven organization embrace business opportunities while managing risk and ensuring compliance with NPR's legal obligations.

Duties include:

- Supporting FCC regulatory and legislative advocacy and compliance, including by analyzing regulatory and legislative proposals, preparing internal memoranda, developing strategic options, and drafting agency comments and administrative pleadings, proposed statutory language, and legislative report language, with a primary focus on federal communications law;
- Drafting, reviewing, and negotiating commercial contracts;
- Preparing board meeting agendas, minutes, resolutions, and other materials, and providing advice on corporate governance matters; and
- Advising business and legal colleagues on a broad range of other subjects, including as appropriate, nonprofit tax law, copyright law, media law, privacy and data security, and communications law.

Qualifications:

- At least 4 years of relevant experience
- Bar membership in good standing in the District of Columbia, or eligibility to waive into the DC Bar
- Experience with regulatory and legislative advocacy efforts, including drafting agency comments, is required
- Experience drafting, reviewing, and negotiating agreements is required
- Familiarity with media and copyright law is highly desirable
- Experience representing tax-exempt organizations is a plus

To be considered for the position, you must provide a resume and a cover letter that explains how your professional experience relates to the qualifications and anticipated responsibilities for the position. Apply directly to our website: <https://recruiting.ultiopro.com/NAT1011NATPR/JobBoard/af823b19-a43b-4cda-b6c2-c06508d84cf6/OpportunityDetail?opportunityId=cec16a0a-999b-47a6-b1ce-bbc61e0ee5c2>. Applications for the position will be considered on a rolling basis beginning no later than September 3, 2019. NPR is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Director, Digital Advocacy and Counsel

– News Media Alliance, a trade organization representing over 2,000 news publishers both in the U.S. and internationally, seeks a Director, Digital Advocacy and Counsel, with 5-7 years of experience in public policy or advocacy. The Director will focus on policy initiatives affecting news media outlets and digital distribution of news content, including areas related to copyright, privacy, advertising, international policy and relationships with the tech platforms. This role will be responsible for advancing the association's digital policy advocacy agenda on these issues before the U.S. Congress, federal agencies, international organizations and governments, and other third-parties. The Director is also expected to assist with the organization's compliance with state and federal legal requirements and to work with the Alliance communications team on digital policy-related issues.

The successful candidate must have a law degree from an ABA-accredited law school and be a member of a state bar in good standing. The candidate must also have a demonstrated ability to manage issues and projects, superior communications skills, and the ability to analyze policy developments to make sound recommendations. Being comfortable working in a fast-paced environment is essential, while experience in technology policy are beneficial. To apply, please send you cover letter, resume, and a writing sample to jobs@newsmediaalliance.org.

Research Fellow/Legal Fellow – The Free State Foundation, a leading non-partisan free market-oriented think tank with a strong emphasis on communications and Internet law and policy, is seeking to hire a Research Fellow or Legal Fellow. At least three years of prior experience regarding regulatory issues involving communications and Internet law policy is required. Examples of subjects with which the candidate should have some meaningful familiarity are net neutrality, broadband policy, spectrum policy, media regulation, and privacy regulation. Expertise with respect to understanding economic regulation in regulated industries such as telecommunications and analyzing market structure and competition in technologically dynamic markets is required. Excellent research and writing skills and the ability to write lucidly from a free market perspective for policy audiences is an absolute prerequisite. Applicants must possess some advanced degree beyond a bachelor's degree, with law or economics a plus. Some off-site work is possible but on-site is preferred. FSF offers competitive compensation and benefits. Send resume to lmay@freestatefoundation.org. For information on FSF, visit <http://www.freestatefoundation.org>.

30th Annual Charity Auction – Prize Donations Needed!

The Auction Committee is looking for “priceless” prizes for the 30th Annual FCBA Charity Auction, including (but not limited to) tickets to exclusive industry events, behind-the-scenes tours, historic memorabilia related to key communications laws or events, and other unique prizes that can't be obtained anywhere else! Please consider whether you have any ideas or connections that would be helpful in procuring such items. “Priceless” prizes are always some of the most popular packages at the event.

The Auction Committee truly appreciates the tremendous support and enthusiasm shown by members of the bar with respect to the Charity Auction. Interested in Hosting an FCBA event?

The FCBA greatly appreciates the support of our members’ firms and companies who provide space for our brown bag lunches, committee meetings, and CLE Seminars throughout the year. We are, however, always looking for new locations that can host FCBA events.

In general, we need conference rooms that can seat at least 30 people at tables for brown bag lunches and committee meetings and conference rooms that can seat at least 60 people theatre style for CLE seminars. Firms and companies hosting brown bag lunches provide beverages and desserts; firms and companies hosting CLE seminars provide beverages and snacks. Brown bag lunches are generally held from 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. and CLE seminars are generally held from 12:00 – 2:15 p.m., 3:00 – 5:15 p.m., or 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. Additionally, for CLE seminars we need facilities that can provide technology support for microphones for as many as six speakers on a panel, the ability to tie the house sound system into a teleconference bridge, and video projection capabilities for PowerPoint presentations. If your firm or company has the needed conference room facilities and capabilities and would be willing to host future FCBA activities, please email Kerry Loughney, kerry@fcba.org.
