32nd Annual FCBA Charity Auction on November 10: What to Expect

The 32nd Annual Charity Auction will take place Wednesday, November 10, 2021. The virtual gala starts at 5:30 p.m. ET with a pre-show starting at 5:00 p.m. This year, the online auction will be open for bidding November 5-12, 2021. For more details, check out the event page: www.avstream.me/fcba2021.

While we will miss seeing everyone in person again this year, the transition to a virtual format for last year's auction was a smashing success, and we are looking forward to what is sure to be another memorable night. As attendees to last year's virtual gala will recall, the FCBA team and volunteers have worked hard to recreate the auction experience while streaming it directly into your homes. In addition to a handful of surprise guest appearances and interactive components designed to get attendees "participating" from home, here's what you can expect from this year's distanced soiree.

WHAT WILL THE PROGRAM BE LIKE DURING THE 32ND ANNUAL FCBA CHARITY AUCTION?

This year's FCBA Charity Auction will follow the format of last year's virtual gala. We will be featuring a livestream of surprise guests, familiar faces from the FCBA community, performances, and—of course—an amazing online auction with packages you'll only find from FCBA! We'll also hear from this year's beneficiaries, Rosie Riveters and the FCBA Foundation.

PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS,

On the evening of November 1, I attended a Día de los Muertos celebration. As I gathered the photos of my loved ones and mused about what favorite foods and trinkets to place on the ofrenda, I thought a lot about gratitude. While I was sad to have lost the people who I would be honoring, I was so thankful to have experienced the wonderful times we shared together.

It was a fitting beginning to the month of November, which I associate with gatherings with my loved ones and gratitude for the many good things in my life.

A month centered on reflection and thankfulness is the perfect time during which to hold the 32nd Annual FCBA Charity Auction. This year's event will be held on Wednesday, November 10, with a pre-show starting at 5:00 p.m. ET, and a virtual auction starting at 5:30 p.m. ET. And, don't forget that the online auction will be open for bidding from November 5 to 12. The Charity Auction allows us to come together to celebrate the work of our FCBA Foundation and of this year's Auction beneficiary, Rosie Riveters. I am incredibly grateful to Van Bloys and Jamile Kadre for organizing this year's event, as well as for the efforts of the Charity Auction Committee: Colin Andrews, Valerie Barrish, Noah Cherry, Christine Crowe, Crystal Evans, Anisa Green, Kelsey Guyselman, Chris Laughlin, Sarah Leggin, Madi Lottenbach, Jonathan Mark, Kasey McGee, Kim Miller, Savannah Schaefer, and Joshua Woodbridge. Planning an in-person gathering based on longstanding tradition is difficult enough, but this Committee had to quickly change its plans due to the emergence of the delta variant and continuing public health crisis. Their creativity, commitment, and resilience to make a positive impact on our community is a cause for celebration. I know that other FCBA members share my appreciation and admiration.

Speaking of traditions, this month marks the 16th Annual FCBA/ABA Privacy and Data Security Symposium. This year's event will be held virtually on November 16 from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and will focus on "The Evolving Privacy Landscape in the Absence of Federal Legislation." Once again, the FCBA Privacy and Data Security Committee has assembled an extraordinary program on a topic grabbing headlines around the globe and influencing the daily work of telecommunications, media, and technology legal and policy professionals. Special thanks go to Chris Laughlin and Kat Scott for their months of hard work planning this year's Symposium.

Sadly, the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic will prevent us from holding an in-person Annual Dinner featuring the Federal Communications Commission Chair as we traditionally do in December. Nevertheless, another December tradition is scheduled to return in-person, as well as online, this year.

Tuesday, November 16, 2:00 – 6:00 p.m. ET 16th Annual FCBA/ ABA Privacy and Data Security Symposium: “The Evolving Privacy Landscape in the Absence of Federal Legislation”

The FCBA Privacy and Data Security Committee and the American Bar Association’s Forum on Communications Law will hold the 16th Annual Privacy & Data Security Symposium on Tuesday, November 16 from 2:00 – 6:00 p.m. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

A comprehensive, omnibus privacy law has long been on the table in Congress, but it never seems to make it to the House or Senate floor. While such legislation progresses in fits and starts, other government bodies have been flexing their authority to regulate the privacy practices of U.S. businesses. In the past few years, several states have passed omnibus privacy legislation or laws targeted to address specific privacy issues, and more are expected. At the federal level, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has given increasing signals that it will take a more aggressive stance against consumer privacy harms. Beyond the U.S.’s borders, other countries have started to follow the lead of the European Union in adopting comprehensive privacy laws.

These actions sometimes overlap, but often diverge, leaving businesses—and the legal professionals that serve them—reeling as they attempt to keep up. This event will take a deeper dive into this evolving landscape, examining the latest developments in the states, at the FTC, and abroad and exploring how U.S. companies can implement policies and procedures that meet the expanding expectations of the varying regimes in the dynamic data ecosystem.

If you are an ABA Forum on Communications Law member or have any issues with registration, please contact Elizabeth Hagerty at elizabeth@fcba.org.

The FCBA has applied for 3.5 hours of MCLE credit from the VA Bar. This program has not yet been approved.

Agenda

2:00 – 2:05 p.m.
WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION

2:00 – 2:25 p.m.
KEYNOTE ADDRESS - TBD

2:25 – 3:30 p.m.
SESSION I: HOW THE FTC IS FILLING THE FEDERAL PRIVACY LAW VOID

In the absence of an omnibus federal privacy law, the FTC remains the leading arbiter of how companies must protect the privacy of consumers across the U.S. With its new and incoming leadership, the agency seems poised to significantly expand its efforts, which could have substantial implications for businesses. In March, the agency launched a new team to handle rulemakings, and the commissioners voted to streamline the FTC’s rulemaking procedures in July, which together are expected to smooth the way for comprehensive FTC privacy rules. Agency leadership has also signaled that it will use its existing authority to enforce against unfair and deceptive acts and practices that harm consumer privacy before new rules are adopted. Additionally, the FTC is expected to continue its robust enforcement of the Children’s Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) and its COPPA rules, which the agency may soon update. This panel will explore these developments and what they mean for businesses and consumers.

Panelists:

Alan Butler, Executive Director and President of the Electronic Privacy Information Center (EPIC)
Jessica Lee, Partner, Chair, Privacy, Security & Data Innovations, Loeb & Loeb LLP

3:30 – 3:40 p.m.

3:40 – 4:45 p.m.
SESSION II: THE GROWING
PATCHWORK OF STATE
PRIVACY LAWS

Without a comprehensive privacy law at the federal level, states have continued to consider and adopt laws to regulate privacy. In 2018, California was the first state to adopt omnibus legislation: the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA). This was followed by the California Privacy Rights Act of 2020 (CPRA), approved by California voters that year. In 2021, Virginia and Colorado followed suit by enacting their own omnibus privacy laws, which will go into effect in 2023. In addition to these omnibus frameworks, targeted state privacy laws are affecting how companies do business, including laws that govern biometrics, online privacy, and ISP privacy. State Attorneys General have been active implementing and enforcing their privacy laws, as well as unfair and deceptive acts and practices that affect consumer privacy. As national companies contend with the growing patchwork of state privacy frameworks, this panel will discuss the various laws, rulemaking activity, enforcement trends, and legislative proposals that should inform an organization's compliance strategies and planning.

4:45 – 4:50 p.m.

4:50 – 6:00 p.m.

SESSION III: GOING GLOBAL—INTERNATIONAL DATA PROTECTION IN A CONNECTED WORLD

International data privacy never rests. International developments have started shaping the daily operations of U.S. businesses. These data protection regimes leave companies mapping and assessing their data collection, use, and retention strategies. Organizations conduct deep-dives to determine whether they can engage in cross-border data transfers. Enforcement actions highlight each jurisdiction's strategy along with the breadth of potential extraterritorial application. Meanwhile, international laws and regulations are in a constant state of flux even as the U.S. carries on without comprehensive privacy legislation. In August 2020, China passed its first omnibus data protection law, the Personal Information Protection Law (PIPL). One month later, Quebec acted to modernize the protections of personal information with the digital age in mind. At the same time, organizations will have until December 2022 to migrate to the new European Union Standard Contractual Clauses. This panel will discuss the various laws and regulations impacting international data protection and how they impact decisions by American businesses, including cross-border data transfers, in the absence of U.S. federal privacy legislation or meaningful changes to how the U.S. government can access data.

Panelists:

Megan Gray, Principal, GrayMatters Law & Policy

Dr. Dagmar Thimm, Director Digital Law & Data Privacy, TUI (Germany)

Cobun Zweifel-Keegan, Deputy Director, Privacy Initiatives, BBB National Programs

Moderator:

Jennifer Dukarski, Shareholder, Butzel Long

INCIDENT REPORTING AND INFORMATION SHARING

In the wake of major cyber attacks, including those on SolarWinds, Microsoft Exchange, and Colonial Pipeline, U.S. policymakers are calling for enhanced information sharing and incident reporting commitments from information and communications technology companies – particularly those that support national critical functions. The Biden Administration released Executive Order 14028 on Improving the Nation's Cybersecurity in May 2021, which directs (among numerous workstreams) federal agencies and service providers to report cyber incidents. Members in both the House and the Senate have introduced their own contributions aimed at raising the bar for transparency and coordination. This panel will provide an overview of new obligations under EO 14028 and discuss key proposals gaining traction in Congress.

PRESIDENT'S Message

On December 8, the Practising Law Institute in cooperation with the FCBA will present the 39th Annual Institute on Telecommunications Policy & Regulation. The in-person portion of this year's event will be held at the Four Seasons Hotel in Washington, D.C. with the program commencing at 9:00 a.m. Eastern. We are grateful to PLI for its continued partnership on this program, as well as to the work of our Conference Planning Committee Co-Chairs, Scott Delacourt, Michele Farquhar, and Bryan Tramont, in planning this year's Institute.

Traditions need not be old to be cherished. In that vein, I would like to thank the firms and companies (Verizon, Wiley, Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP, Cox Enterprises, Lerman Senter PLLC, Mintz, Arnold & Porter, CTIA, Davis Wright Tremaine, Faegre Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP, USTelecom – The Broadband Association, Fletcher, Heald & Hildreth, Foster Garvey PC, Telecommunications Law Professionals PLLC, and TheDCOffice.com) that as of November 2 have already committed to participate in the Friends of the FCBA Sponsorship Program for 2021-2022. This Program, in its second year, has helped the FCBA continue to provide high-quality programs and other services during the COVID-19 pandemic. It also has helped the FCBA ensure that we can retain our deserving employees, who continue to work tirelessly to ensure that events and operations continue seamlessly. We are all grateful, and I am looking forward to thanking additional Friends in next month's Newsletter.

In another new FCBA tradition, I would like to extend a huge thank you to the first 21 employer participant organizations (including one sponsored internship) to commit to the second year of the FCBA's Diversity Pipeline Program: ACA Connects—America's Communications Association; AT&T Services, Inc.; Comcast NBCUniversal; Cox Enterprises; CTIA; Davis Wright Tremaine LLP; Future of Privacy Forum (sponsored by Loeb & Loeb LLP); Harris, Wiltshire & Grannis LLP; Hogan Lovells US LLP; Internet Association; Kellogg, Hansen, Todd, Figel & Frederick, PLLC; Latham & Watkins, LLP; Lerman Senter PLLC; Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Ferris, Glovsky and Popeo, P.C. (fall 2022); NCTA—The Internet & Television Association; T-Mobile US; Tripadvisor; USTelecom – The Broadband Association; Verizon Communications; Wiley Rein LLP; and Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP. These commitments are vital to the success of the DPP's internship placements, academic enrichment, and mentoring for diverse law students, and we are incredibly grateful for them.

For the third year, the Women's Leadership Ad Hoc Committee, including Co-Chairs Lynn Follansbee, Svetlana Gans, Anna

Gomez, Erin Griffith, Mia Guizzetti Hayes, Tawanna Lee, Laura Stefani, and Danielle Thumann, have been planning events that promise to provide a fresh look at ways to connect and empower women in technology, media, and telecom law and policy. The first of these events, which will be held in partnership with ABA Antitrust Women.Connected, WICT – Women in Cable Telecommunications (Baltimore/DC Chapter), and the Women's Bar Association of the District of Columbia, and the FCBA Cybersecurity and Privacy and Data Security Committees, is scheduled for Thursday, December 2 at 3:00 ET and will focus on "Unlocking Women's Excellence in Cybersecurity Law and Policy." I am very excited to learn about the latest developments in threat assessment, risk mitigation, and breach recovery from women at the forefront of cybersecurity law and policy. Big thanks to this Committee for bringing this program to our members.

Finally, I remain grateful to have been asked to be a leader of the FCBA, and for all of the professional relationships and friendships that I have forged over the years through this organization. I wish everyone a safe, happy, and healthy Thanksgiving.

Best,
Megan Anne Stull

Pacific Northwest Chapter Program on December 14 The Future of Telehealth and Virtual Medicine

The FCBA Pacific Northwest Chapter will present a program entitled “The Future of Telehealth and Virtual Medicine” on Tuesday, December 14 from 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. Pacific Time (3:00 – 4:30 p.m. ET). The program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

Sponsors: Cascadia Capital, Davis Wright Tremaine LLP, and Miller Nash LLP

Telehealth and virtual medicine, supported by high speed networks, are growing at an exponential rate. And there are new advancements in health data analysis using AI and Machine Learning. This is having a major impact on how care is delivered, costs are managed, and how health care organizations function. COVID has accelerated these developments, but they were already in motion and are now directed towards a post-COVID future. As telehealth and virtual medicine progress, new issues emerge around privacy, equity, and access to the underlying broadband technology necessary to make it possible.

This will entail a moderated panel session featuring health industry leaders who will discuss the telehealth and virtual medicine technology, legal and regulatory environment.

The program is free of charge for FCBA Members and $15.00 for FCBA Non-Members.

A Message from the FCBA Foundation Board of Directors

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS:

In November, we focus on reflecting and giving thanks for the good things in our life. We ask that this year, as part of your thanksgiving, you consider sharing some of your good fortune with those in need. The Tuesday after Thanksgiving, November 30, is “Giving Tuesday.” As we enter the charitable season, the FCBA Foundation Board of Trustees invites you and your organization (preferably both!) to consider the programs of the Foundation in your end-of-year giving. If you would like to make a donation to the FCBA Foundation, please click here to donate online or click here to download the donation form.

Even a small donation can make a world of difference to local Washington, DC high school students as they attend college, to a law student coming to Washington, DC for an unpaid government internship, or to a law student pursuing their degree.

All FCBA members belong to the FCBA Foundation, and many of you donate your time, talents, and financial support to the Foundation’s programs throughout the year. This past fiscal year, we awarded four-year college scholarships to 29 deserving Washington, DC high school graduates; stipends to 12 law school students who interned in public service positions this past summer; and scholarships to six law school students for the 2020-2021 school year. More details regarding the Foundation’s programs can be found in our FY2021 Annual Report.

As in the past, the Foundation will recognize donors throughout the year, and each of our donors will be listed in our Annual Report. To encourage members within organizations to work together to support our programs, the FCBA Foundation will recognize gifts by individuals or groups that choose to combine their contributions (for example, partners and associates in the same firm, employees of the same company, or old friends remembering a colleague) while also crediting the individual donors for their contributions.

Named Scholarships. Each year, we specially recognize those organizations that have funded Foundation scholarships in amounts of $10,000 or more through our Named Scholarships program. Named Scholarship donors are acknowledged at the Annual Meeting in June and at the Annual Dinner, as well as in our Annual Report, on the website, and in the newsletter. For FY2021, our Named Scholarship donors included AT&T, Comcast NBCUniversal, Consumer Technology Association (CTA)®, Cox Enterprises, CTIA, DLA Piper LLP, Fox Corporation, Google, NCTA – The Internet & Television Association, The Karen Kincaid Scholarship: Sponsored by Wiley Rein and Karen’s Friends, T-Mobile US, Inc., USTelecom – The Broadband Association, Verizon, Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP, and the Young Lawyers and Charity Auction.

Honorary Degrees. Organizations donating between $2,000 and $9,999 will be recognized with the following “honorary degrees”:

Masters of Media	$5,000 - $9,999
Bachelors of Broadband	$2,000 - $4,999

In FY2021, Latham & Watkins LLP and Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP became “Masters of Media.”

Jenner & Block LLP, Somos, and Twilio became “Bachelors of Broadband.”

Gems (Individuals). In addition, individual donations will be recognized at the following levels:

Diamond	$1,000 and above
Emerald	$500 - $999
Pearl	$250 - $499
Ruby	$100 - $249
Sapphire	$99 and below

Our Annual Report recognized all individual FCBA members who donated to the Foundation this past fiscal year, including 12 who reached the “Diamond” level.

The FCBA Foundation is extremely grateful for every contribution, no matter its size. We thank you for the time and talent that each of you contributes to the FCBA Foundation, and we look forward to hearing from you regarding the Foundation and its programs.

Very truly yours,
Anisa Latif Green and Erin M. Griffith
 Co-Chairs, 2021-2022 FCBA Foundation Board of Trustees

Coleman Bazelon

By: Laura Phillips

Coleman Bazelon comes from a family of lawyers; in fact people of a certain vintage many recall his great uncle, David Bazelon, who was a well-known chief judge for the DC Circuit Court of Appeals in the 1970s who was first appointed by Harry Truman. But Coleman took another quite interesting career route towards becoming an economist rather than a lawyer. And as he explains in this interview, he had the good fortune to become very well versed in a range of telecommunications topics, and he enjoys working with lawyers and a varied group of clients. For a number of years he's been a Principal at the consulting economic firm The Brattle Group. I caught up with him on a video conference to hear a bit about the how and why of Coleman's work in communications economics.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?

A: My PhD from the Agricultural and Resource Economics Department at UC Berkeley was titled 'The Political Economy of California Water Policy.' In 1995, the Congressional Budget Office hired me to help estimate federal receipts from FCC spectrum auctions. The reason they hired me was because water and radio spectrum were similar goods from an economic perspective. They are both legally owned by the public with peculiar private use rights. A farmer in California could use water, but, given the nature of their property right, could not sell it to a city. Similarly, a television broadcaster could use the spectrum licensed to them, but, at that time, not sell it to a cell phone company. On my first day at CBO, the first assignment I was given was to 'call Paul Milgrom at Stanford and ask him to explain these new spectrum auctions to you.' I never looked back.

Q: Have things unfolded in your career more or less the way you planned?

A: You are assuming facts not in evidence. I don't think it is fair to say I planned a career. I went into economics because it was interesting to me, but did not know what I was going to do. As noted, my first job at CBO was not what would be expected given what I studied. In 2001, I left CBO and went into economic consulting. I was looking for a change of pace, but did not understand what a career in economic consulting would be like. It turns out to be a great fit for me, but I did not know that when I started. The first post-CBO job entailed me assisting and working with Tom Hazlett, a former FCC Chief Economist and someone who did a fair amount of cable TV work. When he started his own firm, I remained and soon moved to The Brattle Group as a Principal, where I've now been for quite a while.

One thing that has worked out much better than planned, expected or hoped for is the amount of policy analysis I incorporate into my work. From my years as an undergrad, I was always interested in how we, as a society, managed to work things out as well as we do. I studied government before getting into economics. In my work now, I am always asking the question of why the rules (laws, regulations, etc.) are crafted the way they are. This perspective helps in everything I do, whether measuring economic damages, advocating for policy changes, or advising a client in an auction.

Q: What's the most interesting or challenging thing that you've done in your current position?

A: Expert reports in litigation are always interesting and challenging. Like my children, I am reluctant to pick a favorite. The Nortel bankruptcy was notable for its size, complexity and intellectual challenge. I testified physically in Toronto, but through a video link was also testifying in Delaware in an internationally jointly held bankruptcy Hearing. The issue was how to allocate the assets of Nortel between Europe, Canada and the U.S. The biggest asset was a multi $billion patent portfolio. There were three competing theories of allocation that favored each claimant with the investments creating the patent portfolio favoring Europe, legal ownership favoring Canada, value of sales created favoring the U.S. I had to master each theoretical approach to be able to explain to the Courts why these theories were irreconcilable before I suggested taking a consolidated claims approach, which the Courts accepted as the solution to this Gordian Knot.

I've also spent a fair amount of time over the last eight years teaming with telecom lawyers on a pro bono project having to do with prison payphone rates. While at the time I started there was no tradition of consulting economists doing pro bono work, I'm pleased to say that because of my work and the interest others at the firm have in it, The Brattle Group now has a pro bono program.

One challenge I'd note is that the clients that have worked with me in one area, say spectrum auctions, do not always automatically think of me for other telecom matters in cable, or other areas. But I suspect that's similar to the challenges many lawyers in law firms face as well.

Q: What do you enjoy reading?

A: I remember reading. For pleasure it is mostly books on tape while exercising now. My favorite genre is alternative histories (Fatherland, The Plot Against America, etc.) and (hopefully) alternative futures (Handmaid's Tale). Although more in the movie realm, I love Zombie movies and particularly the first five minutes of the film where the narrative transforms from the world as we know it to one with Zombies. What I love about that is the parts of the social structure that hold and the parts that drop away first. This is an extension of my undergrad interest in how society works as well as it does. Also, I saw Night of the Living Dead when I was ten and it scared the hell out of me.

Q: Can you share perspective on the pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: As an economic expert, credibility is key. Early in your career when you first start getting your own clients and get some of your first chances to be the expert, you are so happy that someone will hire you. But you have to live with the positions you take for your entire career. One of Brattle's founding partners once said, 'you have not really arrived as an economic consultant until you have been fired by a client.'

I'd also say that not all PhD economists are well suited to be successful consulting economists. Not only do you have to be comfortable with an analytic structure and level of abstraction, you have to work with teams and clients and produce work product on deadlines, as well as being someone that people actually want to work with. And of course, you need to market your services effectively so that people know who you are and what you do. The economist's duty in approaching an economic issue is to find and develop the idea that improves social welfare. It's not to find the self-serving answer for a particular client needing a particular result, which means it is not for everyone.

Q: What is something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of that you're willing to share?

A: My dad owned the Biograph Theatre, an old repertoire movie theatre in Georgetown that closed in 1996, so only folks who have been around DC a long time would remember it. It was a formative part of my childhood and as I like to say, it is where I misspent my youth.

I've also been quite involved with the ACLU, having been a Maryland ACLU

Board Member for a decade. In fact, that position is what connected me to the prison payphone rate proceeding.

Q: How has your life changed as a result of COVID-19?

A: I live in Western Howard County Maryland and for 25 years I've had a very long commute to my office in DC. It all paid off in the past year when the commute became insanely short!

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member and what to you is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I have been a member for about 20 years. I value the community of people who are attracted to telecommunications law. Everyone seems intellectually engaged with their work, which makes them fun people to network and socialize with.

LAW FIRM / CORPORATE

11.21.1

Entry-Level Associate – Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP seeks an entry-level associate with zero to two years of experience for its top-tier communications regulatory practice. This position is to begin in fall 2022 and may be resident in our Washington, DC or Denver, Colorado office. WBK specializes in regulatory practice before federal and state agencies, including the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the Patent and Trademark Office, and state public utilities commissions, and in complex transactional matters presenting challenging regulatory issues. Applicants should possess outstanding academic credentials, superb writing ability, excellent analytical skills, and sound judgment. We provide competitive compensation and benefits, excellent partnership prospects, and an enjoyable, good-natured work environment.

WBK is a special place to practice law; we mean it when we say we are #notjustanotherlawfirm. With 65 attorneys, the firm offers clients the capabilities and expertise of a large firm combined with the personal style only a smaller firm can deliver. Each day, we work together for both the common good of the group and the common goal of building and maintaining a nationally recognized legal practice. We highly value collaboration and support each other personally and professionally using our individual talents and expertise. All attorneys are encouraged to be entrepreneurial and to contribute in their own ways—there is no single model for success. We avoid silos, hierarchy, and bureaucracy, working as a team to deliver results. WBK has long been committed to community, inclusion, and service, with attorneys and staff devoting substantial time and energy to volunteerism, civic and community leadership, charitable giving, pro bono work, mentoring, service on nonprofit boards, teaching, and more. These activities are not just permitted but actively encouraged and supported at WBK.

To sustain and enhance these unique firm qualities, we seek candidates who have balanced excellence in law school and career achievements with a personal commitment to advance the legal profession and serve the broader community.

WBK is an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to equal employment opportunity regardless of gender, age, racial or ethnic background, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, disability, or veteran status. The ideal candidate will also bring a strong work ethic, team-oriented ethos, and a healthy, perhaps even irreverent, sense of humor. We look forward to meeting you.
