Amy Wolverton, Vice President, Public Policy and Government Affairs, HTC

By: Laura Phillips

Amy Wolverton has been having a great time over the last few years, first creating and then heading the first ever Washington office for tech-savvy smartphone maker HTC, as the company's Vice President, Public Policy. Amy started her legal career in Atlanta, Georgia, but she was attracted to the ever fascinating world of communications law and policy in Washington, DC. Amy and I had an enjoyable lunch together as she shared some insights about her career and her outlook on life.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?

A: I was attracted to communications through my interest in journalism and the First Amendment. Back when I was in law school, we did not have communications law classes or concentrations. After law school, I first worked at Alston & Bird in Atlanta and then moved over to Cox Communications. At Cox, I got involved in the law around something called the “information superhighway.” This was the beginning of the commercialization of the Internet, and it was wholly fascinating.

Q: Tell me about your career progression and whether things have unfolded in the manner you envisioned.

A: I really have never had a detailed vision about my career or where I might be headed next. I just always had an interest in technology and law and policy. If an opportunity that really interested me came up, I'd pursue it. So no detailed five-year plans for me. Once I experienced policy work, I knew that was it--I had to do legal policy. And, I'm grateful that my professional progression has been interesting and personally rewarding. After having the wonderful chance to work with Sandy Wilson while she was at Cox in DC, I moved to DC and did communications law and policy for public interest organizations for three years. Even though resources were tight, I learned so much about dealing with people on all different sides of issues.

Those lessons helped me significantly over the intervening years in finding space for compromise, for bridging gaps both with external parties and internal clients, and building relationships. After having a variety of roles in the policy arena, I have found that in-house is a good fit for me. I really like being on a team at HTC, where I support the business and work directly with the executive teams in Seattle and Taiwan.

Q: What is the most challenging part of your current position and why?

A: I would say the most challenging part of the current position and HTC is just the sheer volume of work. We have a lean staff and our office covers all policy in North and South America, and globally on some issues. So, beyond the FCC, our beat includes the Federal Trade Commission, Department of Homeland Security, customs and more. That's what makes it exciting but also challenging. For example, as a technology geek, I've been deeply involved in patent related issues this past year, but there are plenty of other things going on as well. There's never a slow day.

Q: What are you reading now?

A: I'm reading Dave Egger's “The Circle,” which is a thinly disguised piece of fiction about Google. It's got some unsettling messages about what huge amounts of very granular, very personal information companies have and make use of each and every day.

Q: What surprised or impressed you most about people you've worked with and why?

A: I've been impressed by how kind people are in this bar and in this industry. I was particularly struck when I moved from Atlanta how helpful people in the industry were even if they didn't know me. FCBA members are not out there looking for quid pro quos; I've not experienced a “House of Cards” type of Washington situation at all. The FCC and its staff are by and large also very generous with their time and attention. For example, I was able to get a meeting with the FCC Chairman when I was representing nonprofits, and we got just as much attention from the Chairman as if we had been a major corporation. People in general in this industry are responsive and generous.

Q: Can you share a perspective on pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: I would say always listen carefully to others--you often learn something useful. Also, if you want something, it pays to be persistent. And, while you need to keep in mind what you want, you should also keep an open mind that there could always be a different path worth exploring. Don't rule out taking short stints of work if they could lead you to a long-term gain. Sometimes an internship or contract work may help you realize what you really like, and it might lead you in surprising directions. Don't decide you are too accomplished to perform what may seem at first blush to be totally unrewarding hard work. I've found that sometimes that sort of work experience pays incredible dividends in terms of relationships, and the experience differentiates you. Finally, no matter where you are in your career, always think about paying it forward. Be a willing and open volunteer, and do your part to help those coming along in the field.

Q: What's something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of you are willing to share?

A: I became an avid glass artist once I couldn't run anymore. I needed a different thrill. I had started with glassblowing long ago, but it is very physically demanding and usually requires working with a partner (so scheduling time is tough). Now I've morphed into a fused glass and kiln-formed glass artist, which I find to be a very creative distraction. You really can't do anything else except concentrate and be in the moment when you're dealing with furnaces and fusing glass. It's kind of a Zen flow thing.

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member and what is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I've been an FCBA member since I moved to DC. I really embrace the FCBA's mentoring of younger attorneys; it's something I strongly believe in and do on my own as well. When you volunteer as a mentor or in other ways, the FCBA helps you build positive relationships and be the sort of person I think we all want to be.

Another thing that typifies the FCBA to me is the members' consistent willingness to try new things, to take the extra step. You only have to look at all the initiatives the Foundation undertakes, such as the scholarship program, the internships for law students and more. Once FCBA members start something, they actually get it done. We're doers with a mission. I saw that first-hand on the Foundation and on the executive committee; people follow through.

Is there an FCBA member you'd like to see profiled in future columns? If so, please contact Laura Phillips at laura.phillips@dbr.com.

25th Annual Charity Auction – Prize Donations Needed!

The Auction Committee is looking for “priceless” prizes for this year's historic 25th Annual FCBA Charity Auction, including (but not limited to) tickets to exclusive industry events, behind-the-scenes tours, historic memorabilia related to key communications laws or events, and other unique prizes that can't be obtained anywhere else! Please consider whether you have any ideas or connections that would be helpful in procuring such items. “Priceless” prizes are always some of the most popular packages at the event.

The Auction Committee truly appreciates the tremendous support and enthusiasm shown by members of the bar with respect to the Charity Auction. Your generosity in the form of donations, volunteering, and participation in auction bidding is what makes this event so successful year after year. If you would like to make a donation, please use the Auction Donation Form on page 16 of this newsletter. Contributions are tax deductible, to the extent permitted by law.

The 25th Annual Charity Auction is on Thursday, November 6, 2014, at the Sphinx Club at the Almas Temple, 1315 K Street, NW, Washington, DC, from approximately 7:00 – 10:00 p.m. If you have any questions about the Auction, please contact Lindsey Tonsager (202-662-5609, ltonsager@cov.com) or Kerry Loughney (202-293-4000, kerry@fcba.org).

2013-2014 FCBA Foundation Annual Report

This Annual Report summarizes the Federal Communications Bar Association (FCBA) Foundation's activities during the recently completed 2013-2014 fiscal year.

OVERVIEW

The FCBA Foundation, celebrating 23 years, is a charitable organization working in furtherance of the goals set out in its Mission Statement:

- To support worthwhile communications-related and educational projects, as well as other community service projects, particularly those directed towards children and students, through financial contributions and through volunteer services provided by Foundation members and others.
- To foster greater public awareness and understanding of the development of communications technology, resources and law.

This year, the Foundation continued its longstanding support of its most popular programs:

- Granting scholarships to local high school students expressing an interest in communications-related fields of education, including science, engineering, technology, law, economics, math and journalism
- Granting summer work stipends to law students serving as interns in communications-related public service jobs
- Granting scholarships to students in communications-related graduate legal studies
- Volunteering to help families in need in the Washington, DC community

2014 College Scholarship Recipients

The Foundation's success is a direct result of the generous financial support of individual FCBA members and their employers, as well as the time, talents and energy that members bring to the Foundation's activities.

GOVERNANCE

The Foundation is governed by a Board of Trustees, comprised primarily of individuals elected by the FCBA membership to three-year terms, plus the President and President-Elect of the FCBA. Pursuant to the Foundation's By-Laws, the elected Board may be expanded by individual one-year appointments.

This year's Trustees were: Micah Caldwell, Rick Chessen, Christine Crowe, Lisa Fowlkes (Secretary), Cathy Hilke, Jennifer Holtz (Assistant Secretary), Sara Leibman, Alison Minea, Barry Ohlson (Chair-Elect and Treasurer), Glenn Reynolds (Assistant Treasurer), Mark Schneider (Chair), Anita Wallgren, and Krista Witanowski. Julie Kearney served as the FCBA Executive Committee's liaison to the Foundation Board of Trustees.

As of June 30, 2014, four Trustees will have completed their three-year terms on the Foundation Board: Christine Crowe, Lisa Fowlkes, Alison Minea, and Mark Schneider. Four new members have been elected to serve three-year terms as Trustees, effective July 1, 2014: Russell Hanser, Mia Guizzetti Hayes, Jennifer Holtz, and Howard Weiss.

Many of the Foundation's activities, including the scholarship program, community service days and critical fund-raising events, were jointly led by non-Trustees and Trustees. The Board of Trustees is grateful for the broad participation of FCBA members in Foundation programs, and especially for the leadership roles assumed by members beyond the elected board. That extra measure of time and dedication was invaluable to the success of our programs.

The FCBA's Executive Director Stan Zenor, Director of Member Services Kerry Loughney, Bookkeeper Shelley Luehring, and Administrative Assistant Wendy Parish also provided invaluable administrative support to the Foundation.

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The Foundation's college scholarship program is its most significant activity in terms of the funds awarded and the amount of time and effort required to effectively administer the program. The Foundation committed approximately $244,000 to this year's scholarship class in scholarship funds. In addition, each student is receiving a laptop and an FCBA mentor.

Under the leadership of the Foundation's college scholarship committee (Micah Caldwell, Jennifer Holtz, and Krista Witanowski), the Foundation reviewed applications from high school students of diverse backgrounds with an interest in communications-related fields, including media, journalism, technology, engineering or law. Our applicants this year came from 10 local public high schools: Benjamin Banneker Academic, Cardozo Education Campus, Columbia Heights Education Campus, Duke Ellington School of the Arts, Dunbar, Friendship Collegiate Academy, Roosevelt, School Without Walls, Thurgood Marshall Academy, and Woodrow Wilson. Twenty-six of these high school student applicants were selected for interviews, and 20 emerged as FCBA Foundation scholars. Nineteen of these students will receive FCBA Foundation scholarship assistance funded over four years. One applicant has received substantial tuition assistance from other sources, and will be a Laptop Scholar. All 26 of the applicants who earned and attended interviews will be provided new laptop computers. Software has been graciously donated by Microsoft Corporation. Additionally, all 20 award winners will be assigned FCBA mentors to help them advance academically and professionally.

Special thanks go to the following companies, law firms and associations for endowing individual, named scholarships to high school students: 21st Century Fox ($10,000); AT&T Services, Inc. ($10,000); Comcast Corporation ($20,000); Consumer Electronics Association ($10,000); CTIA – The Wireless Association ($10,000); DIRECTV ($16,000); Google Inc. ($15,000); Harris, Wiltshire & Grannis LLP ($10,000); The Karen Kincaid Scholarship sponsored by Wiley Rein and Karen's Friends ($24,000); Sidley

Austin and the Sidley Austin Foundation ($16,000); Time Warner Cable ($10,000); Verizon ($15,000); Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP ($10,000); and The Young Lawyers and Charity Auction Scholarship ($28,000). Funding for the college scholarships that was not provided by the above donors was provided from the Foundation's general funds.

The Foundation thanks the following volunteers for their time and talent, serving as liaisons to participating public high schools, reviewing applications, and interviewing students: Rachael Bender, Jeremy Berkowitz, Van Bloys, Ann Bobeck, Karen Brinkmann, Megan Capasso, May Chiang, Marjorie Conner, Adam Copeland, Christine Crowe, Justin Faulb, Stacy Fuller, Anna Gomez, Russ Hanser, Douglas Jarrett, Julie Kearney, Erin Kim, Hadass Kogan, Grace Koh, Adam Krinsky, Amanda Lanham, Heidi Lankau, Anisa Latif, Mary Lovejoy, Patrick McFadden, Larry Movshin, Nancy Murphy, David O'Connor, Nancy Ory, Nick Page, Lee Petro, Laura Phillips, Alex Reynolds, Patty Robbins, Rachel Sanford, Alex Sanjenis, Mark Schneider, Mike Senkowski, Megan Stull, Scott Tollefsen, Mark Van Bergh, Nancy Victory, Howard Weiss, and Richard Young.

Thanks also to CTIA – The Wireless Association for making offices available for the applicant interviews, to Mark Van Bergh for taking photographs of the recipients, and to Comcast Corporation for production of the Foundation video.

INTERNSHIP STIPEND PROGRAM

Under the leadership of Glenn Reynolds, the Foundation internship committee (Rick Chessen and Kristine Fargotstein) reviewed applications from students at law schools across the country. The Foundation awarded stipends ranging from $2,500 to $5,000 to 18 students who have accepted public service positions for the summer. One outstanding student received the annual Max Paglin Award, representing an additional stipend of $600; another outstanding applicant to both the Stipend and Law School Scholarship program received the David L. Snyder stipend of $7,000.

LAW SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Sara Leibman and Mark Schneider coordinated the direction of the recent Foundation efforts to establish a graduate school scholarship program. In 2012, the Foundation initiated a scholarship pilot program for graduate students committed to communications law. Our first scholarship was awarded in 2012 to Megan Coontz, a law student at the University of Colorado at Boulder and our second scholarship was awarded to Ashley Morse, a law student at Catholic University. This year we ended the "pilot" nature of the program, and established two projects that resulted in scholarship awards to eight current law school students. First, we accepted applications from current law school students at law schools across the country who could demonstrate current need and merit for scholarship awards, as well as an interest in communications law and technology and public service. We received applications from students at more than a dozen schools, and awarded five scholarships to third-year law students ranging from $2,500 to $5,000. Second, working with CTIA's Wireless Foundation, we received the corpus of their Amy Zoslov Fund and assumed the privilege of awarding Amy Zoslov Scholarships to current law school students at Case Western. Thanks to Sara Leibman for heading up our work on the program this year, and to Jennifer Warren and Monica Desai for their help establishing and continuing the law school scholarship program.

MENTORING PROGRAM

FCBA Foundation trustees Catherine Hilke and Alison Minea coordinated the mentoring program this year. FCBA mentors provide advice and encouragement to our college scholarship recipients and internship stipend winners as they transition from high school to college and from academics to careers. They also provide a link back to the

2013 FCBA FOUNDATION CHARITY AUCTION

The Charity Auction is the largest single event under the auspices of the Foundation, and the most administratively intense. The sheer number of volunteers committed annually to the auction is a testament to the volunteer spirit of the FCBA and its Foundation. Moreover, it is also a reflection of the generosity of our members, who attend year after year, to help support the Charity Auction beneficiaries. This year's auction was held on November 7, 2013. Co-sponsored by the Foundation and the FCBA Charity Auction Committee, this year's auction raised over $140,000 for Horizons Greater Washington and over $28,000 for the FCBA Foundation.

Horizons Greater Washington recognizes that for many low-income children summer is not a vacation but a missed opportunity. Horizons addresses this problem by providing year-round academic enrichment to low-income children enrolled at H.D. Cooke, Bancroft, and Rock Creek Forest Elementary Schools in DC and MD. Horizons' programs are proven to reverse summer learning loss for low-income children, instill confidence, and improve reading and reasoning skills. The 300 students enrolled in Horizons' program for 2014 will attend for nine consecutive years to make a difference in their lives, preparing them for high school and beyond.

The Foundation applied $28,000 of this year's Charity Auction funds to a college scholarship.

The Charity Auction planning committee members were Rachael Bender, Jeremy Berkowitz, Neil Chilson, Christine Crowe (Foundation liaison), Kristine Fargotstein, Justin Faulb (Chair), Hadass

VOLUNTEERING & COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Foundation relies on volunteers for all of its programs. All of the charitable works described above require not only generous financial giving but also the contribution of substantial amounts of time and the prodigious talents of our FCBA members. In addition to the programs described above, the Foundation historically has had a special relationship with one charitable organization in particular, where FCBA members have come together in the spirit of community service.

The Foundation organizes each month a morning of service at Washington, DC-based Martha's Table, welcoming FCBA members, families and friends who prepare and package meals for the homeless. Howard Weiss has organized this activity for many years.

FCBA FOUNDATION VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

Every year, the Foundation has the opportunity to specially acknowledge one of the many FCBA members who volunteer considerable time on the Foundation's programs and embody the spirit of generosity the Foundation seeks to foster. This year, the Foundation recognized Ann West Bobeck as Volunteer of the Year for her extraordinary commitment to volunteering and fundraising for the Foundation year after year, including in co-chairing the College Scholarship Program. Ann's incredible energy and commitment is matched by her generous spirit.

FUNDRAISING

The Foundation could not provide its services without the annual financial support of FCBA members and the organizations where they work. Under the leadership of Mark Schneider, Rick Chesson, and Glenn Reynolds, the Foundation secured significant support for its programs this year, and improved its financial footing in several respects.

Thanks to many individual contributions, the Foundation met the budget goals set by the Board, and increased both the total amount raised and the number of donors. As a result, the Foundation was able to expand the College and Law School Scholarship programs, as well as the Internship Stipend Program.

The Foundation initiated new recognition categories last year, to acknowledge individuals and organizations that make financial contributions. The donors for this fiscal year are listed at the end of this report. In addition, on December 5, 2013, at the FCBA's 27th Annual Chairman's

Dinner, honoring FCC Chairman Tom Wheeler, the Foundation raised over $40,000.

On June 3, 2014, the FCBA Foundation hosted its 18th Annual Honorable Robert E. Lee Memorial Golf Tournament raising over $6,000. Many thanks to Robert Branson, Alan Campbell, Zenas Choi, Jonathan Cohen, Joe Cramer, Tom Dombrowsky, Jr., Steve Goodman, Jesse Jachman, Larry Movshin, Lee Petro, Joy Ragsdale, Glenn Reynolds (Chair), and Larry Walke who served on this year's planning committee to make it once again a success.

CONCLUSION

It has been an honor to chair the Board of Trustees of the FCBA Foundation this year. I was humbled and inspired by the generosity and dedication of so many FCBA members that enabled the Foundation to reach and exceed its goals. I hope that you will continue to support the Foundation in the years to come.

Thank you!

Mark Schneider
Chair, 2013-2014

Join the FCBA Foundation Team for the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk on October 5 on the National Mall

The Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk, which will be held Sunday, October 5 on the National Mall, is an incredible and inspiring opportunity to help the American Cancer Society raise awareness and funds to fight breast cancer. The FCBA Foundation has formed a team to participate in the walk, and we hope that you will join us. Walkers of all ages, fitness levels, and speeds are welcome!

Our team will choose a convenient meeting point near the Registration Tables at 9:00 a.m. The walk will begin promptly at 10:00 a.m. and continue for 3.1 miles. There is no cost to sign up, and no fundraising commitment, although if you'd like to contribute or fundraise, you're free to do so. Volunteer at Martha's Table on August 31

On Sunday, August 31 from 10:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m., the FCBA will be preparing and distributing food at the FCBA Foundation's partner charity, Martha's Table. The FCBA has been meeting monthly to volunteer at Martha's Table for many years. Martha's Table feeds hundreds of homeless adults and children on the streets of Washington daily, through its mobile soup kitchen. Martha's Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available. Volunteers are asked to bring food if possible, (e.g., cold cuts, bread, peanut butter, jelly, vegetables and potatoes) because the center often runs out of donated food.

Please mark your calendars, bring your friends and children, and participate in this great volunteer effort. If you are able to volunteer, please contact Howard Weiss at 703-812-0471, weiss@fhhlaw.com.

The FCBA volunteers on the last Sunday of every month, so mark your calendars now!

Thank You to All of the Foundation Donors!

In MEMORIAM

Joel Rosenbloom (1930-2014)

Joel Rosenbloom, long-time partner in the former firm of Wilmer Cutler & Pickering, and FCBA member, died June 24, in Washington, D.C.

Joel was born in 1930. He graduated with honors from the Indiana University School of Law in 1954 and was an editor of the Indiana Law Journal. He joined the FCC in the summer of 1957, and from the beginning was known as a superb lawyer.

Joel served as legal assistant to Newton Minow (Chairman from 1961-1963) and likewise William Henry (Chairman from 1963-1966). He joined Wilmer Cutler & Pickering (now WilmerHale) in 1965 and remained with the firm for the rest of his career, retiring from active practice in 2004.

Former FCC General Counsel Henry Geller observes: "The greatest contribution [Joel] made was his ability to see all the aspects of important policy issue[s] and fashion approaches that made sense and promoted the national telecom system. He was the first to fashion cable television policy, starting with 'must carry [local stations] and non-duplication of their programming.' Many of the television policies adopted in the same time period stemmed from Joel's insights and efforts."

Joel continued a focus on broadcast law upon joining Wilmer Cutler, where he later became the Capital Cities/ABC principal attorney for Washington television network issues.

His colleagues remember Joel as wonderful to work with -- warm, generous and full of wit. He had an encyclopedic memory for Commission decisions. He prided himself on the quality of his written product, one characterized by extraordinarily precise craftsmanship. As one former partner and senior industry executive puts it, "Joel never touched a piece of work that he didn't make better."

(Joel's focus on his work was indeed intense: He was for years an inveterate pipe-smoker and more than once was known to put a lit pipe in his pocket, the discovery of which was only occasioned by the smell of smoldering clothes.)

Joel's publications include "The 'Vast Wasteland' in Retrospect," Federal Communications Law Journal (May 2003), and the chapter on cable television in The Communications Act: A Legislative History of the Major Amendments, 1934-1996 (Pike & Fischer, 1999). As co-editor of that volume with Editor Max Paglin, Joel wrote a graceful memorial to Max in terms that would now apply as well to Joel: "One of a generation of lawyers who made membership in the communications bar not only respectable, but a calling to which a young lawyer might seriously aspire."

Joel loved literature and was active in the Choral Arts Society and the Theater Chamber Players of Washington. His second wife, Jane, predeceased him by eight years. He is survived by a son, Joshua; a stepson, Norman van der Sluys; and a sister-in-law, Pat Yates.
