PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS,

When I was in preschool, I remember gluing cotton balls to cloud-shaped pieces of cardboard to welcome the month of March. We were told that March “comes in like a lion, and out like a lamb.” This old saying doesn’t seem to apply to the FCBA - The Tech Bar in March 2022. We’re roaring all month, with a packed schedule of programs guaranteed to keep you #fcbaconnected.

On March 14, we’re holding a must-attend event: The Winter Celebration featuring Federal Communications Commission Chairwoman Jessica Rosenworcel. There is no better time than Women’s History Month to mark the unprecedented confirmation of the first female Chair of the Federal Communications Commission. The program also will highlight the achievements of the many other women who have paved the road to success for FCBA members, and will provide a chance to check-in on the FCBA’s and FCBA Foundation’s programs to cultivate the next generation of leaders in telecommunications, media, and technology law and policy. I look forward to the chance to mix and mingle with you during the virtual cocktail reception, and to experience this marvelous program.

I’m also counting the days until I can connect with FCBA members in person at the FCBA Annual Seminar, which is being held April 1-3 at The Homestead in Hot Springs, Virginia. The schedule for this year’s Seminar is incredible. I’m thrilled for the opportunity for an in-person, fireside chat with FCC Chairwoman Rosenworcel, and can’t wait to hear what FCC Commissioner Nathan Simington will say in his conversation with FCBA President-Elect Barry Ohlson. The agenda for the Annual Seminar is packed with a number of other opportunities to hear from top officials and leaders in the technology, media, and telecommunications law and policy space on a number of today’s biggest headlines. Plus, the Annual Seminar will have all of the fun activities that it has come to be known for: golf, bingo, karaoke, and game night, just to name a few. Don’t miss this chance to join us in-person for an amazing weekend at a gorgeous resort.

If you can’t make it to The Homestead, there are plenty of opportunities to connect with colleagues and enhance your career from your home instead (see what I did there?). A continuing legal education program organized by our Wireline Committee on March 9 will explore how the FCC is implementing the Affordable Connectivity Program. On March 10, the Mass Media and Young Lawyers Committees will explore the ins and outs of in-house practice. On March 16, the Engineering & Technical and International Telecommunications Committees will hold a continuing legal education seminar to examine the role of international standards processes in promoting U.S. leadership in emerging communications technologies. On March 17, the

The application is available at https://www.fcba.org/wp-content/uploads/2022/02/Auction-Beneficiary-Application-2022_FINAL.doc and should be received by the FCBA by email no later than Friday, April 8, 2022.

To Update Your Membership Contact Information

We'd like to remind everyone that if you have any changes to your membership contact information, please contact Elizabeth Hagerty (elizabeth@fcba.org). In order to keep a cohesive look to both our online and hard copy directories, we do not allow members to make any changes to their information themselves. Also note that we do not include prefixes or titles in any of our member listings.

We know that our members look forward to seeing pictures from our fun events in each month's newsletter. Of course, we've had to change our strategy. If you would like to submit pictures of you or your staff working from a home office or fun family and friend outings, we'd love to put them in the newsletter. In addition, if you have pictures from favorite FCBA past events, please submit and we'll run those too. You may send to kerry@fcba.org.

Wednesday, March 16, 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. ET Technology Standards and Competitiveness: The Role of International Standards Processes in Promoting U.S. Leadership in Emerging Communications Technologies

The FCBA Engineering & Technical and International Telecommunications Committees will co-sponsor a CLE on Wednesday, March 16 from 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. ET entitled Technology Standards and Competitiveness: The Role of International Standards Processes in Promoting U.S. Leadership in Emerging Communications Technologies. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

Everything from the latest iPhone to fiber optic routers depends on a largely unseen set of globally harmonized standards that allow systems to interoperate and to achieve the economies of scale and scope necessary to make products affordable for consumers and businesses alike. But as technological innovations have come to dominate global economic life, nation states have started to eye standards bodies as both opportunity and threat. Are China and other nations manipulating the international standards-setting process in ways that damage the security and dynamism of the U.S. economy? Can the U.S. more forcefully in the standards setting process while maintaining its preference for open and transparent standards-setting? How should the U.S. balance cybersecurity and national security concerns against the economic imperative of standardization and interoperability? Congress has introduced numerous bills that have proposed various measures that would increase U.S. government and private sector engagement to protect domestic interests.

The FCBA will apply for 2.0 hours of MCLE credit from the VA Bar. This program has not yet been approved.

The Federal Communications Law Journal

The Federal Communications Law Journal has long been an important source of legal scholarship on communications issues, and the FCBA is proud to offer the journal as a benefit to our members.

FCBA members may now decide how they would like to receive the journal. The FCLJ itself will continue to be published in hard copy, however, rather than receiving hard copies as a default, we'll be distributing electronic links to the content.

For those of you who would like to receive the FCLJ electronically, you don't have to do anything. We will email you a link when a new issue is published. You may also visit <http://www.fclj.org/volumes/> to view archived volumes.

For those of you who would like to receive the FCLJ in hard copy format, you should sign up for this option by following the instructions below. You must log in to your membership account and select the FCLJ subscription. Note that the hard copy journal is free, but it must be ordered through our website.

- To log in to your account, click here or go to www.fcba.org and click the Log In button.
- Click on the link to the "Online Store" on the left side of the page.
- Click on the link to the "Federal Communications Law Journal Annual Subscription". You may also type the word Journal into the Search Bar, if needed.
- Click on "Add to Cart".
- Click on "Check Out".
- Click on "Purchase Now", and you're done!

Note that we will also send out an email reminder to members about the opt-in process before each issue is published.

If you have any questions, please send an email to Elizabeth Hagerty (elizabeth@fcba.org).

GETTING THERE

The Homestead is about 4 hours from DC by car. For those that don't have cars or prefer not to drive, Hot Springs is also accessible by convenient train service. Typically, carpool options are also available.

ABOUT THE RESORT

The Omni Homestead Resort is nestled in the Allegheny Mountains, and provides plenty of opportunities for socially-distant fun. Located across more than 2,000 acres of scenic Virginia landscape, the resort provides timeless comforts and access to an exciting array of activities for families, couples, individuals, and colleagues. The resort also has been designated a National Historic Landmark and makes up most of the charming city of Hot Springs, Virginia.

To learn more about The Omni Homestead and its many amenities and activities, go to: <https://www.omnihotels.com/hotels/homestead-virginia>.

Saturday Afternoon Activities

GOLF

Participate in the golf outing and enjoy an afternoon on the Omni Homestead Resort's Old Course, completed in 1892 and distinguished as home of the nation's oldest first tee in continuous use.

CASCADES GORGE HIKE

Don't miss one of the most popular activities at the Homestead resort. On this three-hour tour, you will be led and entertained by a naturalist walking beside a series of beautiful waterfalls, through a deep, Allegheny Mountain gorge trail, that is one of the most picturesque trails in the region. Learn about regional and unusual flora and fauna in this semi-tropical environment, as well as the medicinal and edible properties of the many local plants. It is a 1.8 mile journey, designed for adults and children alike. The registration fee is $25 per person or $10 if age 5 to 11 or free if age 4 or less. Thanks to Lynne Milne for sponsoring part of the activity!

TRODDENVALE CIDERY TOUR AND TASTING

Plan to participate in the Troddenvale's orchard & production tour, as well as a cider tasting. This activity organized by the Young Lawyers Committee will take place Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Transportation provided by Crown Castle. Price: $25 for tasting; $40 for tasting + local cheese pairing. Not interested in a tasting? Drop by the Cidery any time after 3:00 p.m.!

guests can enjoy a special treat created by the pastry chef along with a selection of hot and iced teas from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. each afternoon.

ATTENDANCE POLICY

To promote safety and well-being, the FCBA will require attendees and staff to be fully vaccinated* under the appropriate CDC guidelines for COVID-19 prior to attending and participating in the Annual Seminar. Registrants for the Annual Seminar will be asked to provide proof of vaccination status before the event. Specific details on providing vaccination status will be supplied at a later date.

The FCBA will follow legal requirements and/or best practices for wearing facial coverings over the nose and mouth that are in place at the time of the Annual Seminar. Specific details about facial covering requirements will be provided at a date closer to the Annual Seminar.

All attendees and staff of the FCBA agree to the following policies and guidelines regarding COVID-19 at point of registration for the FCBA Annual Seminar:

By registering for the FCBA Annual Seminar, I agree that I will carefully review and, during the event and all event-related activities, comply with all applicable COVID-19-related federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidance, including but not limited to, the specific local COVID-19 regulations and any other protocols that may be implemented by FCBA or the venue.

I acknowledge that the FCBA cannot guarantee that attendees will not be exposed to or contract COVID-19 while attending the FCBA Annual Seminar, and that by attending they may be exposing or increasing their risk of contracting or spreading COVID-19.

I understand that FCBA will continue to closely monitor conditions related to COVID-19 between now and the start of the Annual Seminar. The FCBA reserves the right in its sole discretion to modify its COVID-19-related procedures and health screening protocols at any time. Registrants will be informed of any such changes on an ongoing basis. As a condition of attendance and participation, I agree to follow the COVID-19 protocols as required by FCBA and/or the venue.

*The FCBA will utilize the Centers for Disease and Prevention Control's definition of "fully vaccinated" in effect on the dates of the FCBA Annual Seminar. Details are available here.

We hope you join us in person in April 2022 for the FCBA Annual Seminar, and we can't wait to see everyone!

Nominations for the "Excellence in Government Service" Award Due March 18

In 2008, the Federal Communications Bar Association established an award, to be provided annually, to recognize the contributions of federal government employees to the field of communications. Recipients of the award include Daniel "Mack" Armstrong, Evan Kwerel, Julius Knapp, Mary Beth Richards, Patrick Carney, Karl Nebbia, Bobby Baker, Barbara Kreisman, Carol Matthey, Diane Cornell, Peter Doyle, Hossein Hashemzadeh, Kris Monteith, Jake Lewis, and Margaret Wiener. The 15th recipient will be announced in spring 2022.

All current federal government employees in communications-related positions (not limited to attorneys or FCBA members) are eligible nominees. The FCBA will consider an individual's dedication to excellence and long-term commitment to federal government public service in selecting the individual to be honored. In addition, the FCBA will view favorably nominees who have demonstrated service, dedication, and generosity of spirit in their careers. Nominations (1,000 words or less) should include the following information: (1) full name, title, work address and contact information of the nominee; (2) summary of the nominee's outstanding service and/or achievements; (3) a narrative explanation of the nominee's service including the following information: how the nominee's dedication to excellence and public service is outstanding, significant, and "above and beyond the call of duty;" the length of the government service; and any other relevant information, such as a history of mentoring, that would assist the award committee in evaluating the nomination. Please submit nominations by email to kerry@fcba.org. Nominations are due no later than Friday, March 18, 2022.

New England Chapter

Event: Lunch & Learn co-hosted with the New Hampshire Department of Energy
Date/Time: Thursday, March 17, 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. ET

Location: Virtual via the Zoom platform
Topic: Overview of the New Hampshire Department of Energy

In July 2021, the New Hampshire Legislature profoundly reorganized public utility regulation in the state by creating a new Department of Energy. Though the Public Utilities Commission continues to exist, many of its regulatory and policymaking functions were transferred to the Department, and the Commission itself, along with the Office of Public Advocate, is now “administratively attached” to the DOE. The precise contours of the reorganization, staffing, and division of responsibilities have not been clear to many practitioners and regulated entities.

Speakers: Amanda Noonan and David Wiesner of the DOE Staff (and longtime former PUC staffers) will join the New England Chapter in a virtual lunch and learn to explain the re-organization, new roles and responsibilities, and current and prospective programs and priorities. This will be an informal discussion with plenty of opportunity for dialogue.

The FCLJ is Looking for Articles

The Federal Communications Law Journal (FCLJ), the official academic journal of the FCBA, is hosted by The George Washington University Law School. It has long been an important source of legal scholarship on communications issues, and the FCBA is proud to offer the journal as a benefit to our members.

The Federal Communications Law Journal (FCLJ) editorial board at The George Washington University Law School is seeking article submissions for potential publication in the upcoming issues of the FCLJ. Interested members may submit articles to the Senior Articles Editor, Andrew Magloughlin (fcljarticles@law.gwu.edu). Articles may also be submitted through ExpressO or Scholastica. For general inquiries about the FCLJ, please contact the Editor-in-Chief, Merrill Weber (fclj@law.gwu.edu).

Rocky Mountain Chapter held successful event on February 16

On February 16, the Rocky Mountain Chapter hosted a successful virtual program, titled “Addressing the Broadband Buildout and Infrastructure Gap on Tribal Lands through Consultation and Collaborative Policy Development.” Moderated by Conor May, Rocky Mountain Chapter Co-Chair, the program brought together tribal, public and private leaders for a lively discussion on how to close the digital divide on tribal lands across the country. The esteemed panelists included Professor Catherine Sandoval, Santa Clara University; Edyael

Casaperalta, Rural Utilities Service; Eric Cutright, Chief Information Officer, Karuk Tribe; Forest James, President & CEO, Enertribe; and Kirk Burgee, Chief of Staff, FCC, Wireline Competition Bureau. The panelists discussed how to leverage broadband funding to better serve tribal lands and explored how to best bring the tribes themselves into the planning process, through meaningful consultation and collaboration. The Rocky Mountain Chapter would like to express its sincere thanks to all the panelists and attendees for engaging in a meaningful conversation on tribal broadband.

New England Chapter will be “wearing the green” while doing a deep dive on the reorganization of public utility regulation in New Hampshire in a program co-hosted with the New Hampshire Department of Energy. The Enforcement Committee offers an opportunity to converse with key officials in the FCC's Enforcement Bureau during what is sure to be a compelling Lunch & Learn program on March 22. And, on March 23, the Young Lawyers Committee will hold a mentoring social that will allow law students and lawyers of all experience levels to interact with LGBTQ+ industry leaders in tech and telecom.

Opportunities for identifying and recognizing leadership also abound in March. The Young Lawyers Committee will meet virtually on March 7 to elect the next Young Lawyers Committee Co-Chair. And, in the next few days via email, you'll see the nominees for elected leadership positions in the FCBA and FCBA Foundation for 2022-2023. Many thanks to Nominations Committee Chair Natalie Roisman and Committee Members Parul Desai, Kelsey Guyselman, Russ Hanser, Jennifer Holtz, Will Johnson, Tawanna Lee, Jonathan Mark, Jackie McCarthy, Daudeline Meme, Barry Ohlson, Josh Pila, and Sean Spivey for their tireless work in identifying this year's slate of candidates. And, don't forget about your opportunity to recognize excellence among federal government leaders by nominating them for our Excellence in Government Service Award by the March 18 deadline.

Finally, mark your calendars for April 28, when our Women's Leadership Committee, in partnership with the ABA Antitrust Women.Connected Committee, Latinas in Tech – DC Metro, WICT –

Women in Cable Telecommunications (Baltimore/DC Chapter), and the Women's Bar Association of the District of Columbia, will hold a hybrid in-person and virtual Women's Summit in Washington, D.C. This year's program will focus on the future of work in 2022 and beyond. Attendees will hear from senior government officials and industry leaders about how to promote and retain women professionals and implement more transparent administrative practices, as well as strategies for parenting, caregiving, and self-care while working in the law and policy space.

I'm looking forward to celebrating our achievements and connecting with all of you in-person and online this Spring!

Best regards,

Megan Anne Stull
President, FCBA – The Tech Bar

The FCBA Foundation is now accepting applications for its Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program and its Law School Scholarship Program!

FCBA Foundation 2022 Law School Summer Stipend Program

For the 29th consecutive year, the Federal Communications Bar Association (FCBA) Foundation will award stipends to outstanding law students employed as unpaid summer interns, through the FCBA Foundation's Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program.

The FCBA Foundation is actively looking to help students from around the country who want to dedicate their time and talent over the summer to government service in areas that relate to communications law, including broadcasting, cable, information technology, television, telephony, satellite, and wireless. It also can include work at agencies and Congressional committees addressing other communications-related areas, including internet law and policy, privacy, cybersecurity, copyright, emerging technologies, and related policy and legal issues.

How much are the stipends? The program provides stipends of up to $5,000. The Foundation considers funding from other sources in making award decisions and generally will adjust its stipend awards so that a recipient's total funding for the internship will not exceed $7,000.

Where can recipients work? Over the years, stipends have been used by students to support work in diverse federal, state and local government agencies with a connection to the communications industry. Examples of agencies where recipients can work include the FCC, FTC, NTIA, DOJ, DHS, NIST, and others. Students can also work in Congress and in relevant parts of state and local government.

Where does the money come from? The Law School Summer Internship Stipend Program awards stipends from its FCC Chairman Robert Emmet Lee Scholarship and Internship Fund, and last year provided support to 12 outstanding law students. FCBA individual and corporate members donate money to the FCBA Foundation to support these stipends.

Are there limitations on use of the funds? Stipend recipients may be selected before they have finalized their summer plans, so the FCBA Foundation requires recipients to confirm in writing that they accept an unpaid internship at an eligible agency or government office. Minimum requirements for internship duration and time commitment also apply.

How to apply: The application for the stipend will be available online from Wednesday, February 23 until 11:59 p.m. ET Monday, April 4, 2022. The application and deadlines can be accessed at: <https://webportalapp.com/sp/fcbastipend2022>.

Questions: If you have any questions about the Foundation Law School Summer Internship Stipend program or application, please contact Janeen Wynn by email at janeen@fcba.org.

FCBA Foundation 2022 Law School Scholarship Program

The FCBA Foundation Law School Scholarship Program provides financial assistance to rising second or third year students currently enrolled in accredited law schools in the United States who have a demonstrated interest in pursuing a career in communications law. The scholarships range from $2,000 – $10,000 each, and will be payable to the applicable law school in one lump sum to help cover the student's tuition and other education-related expenses in the 2022-2023 academic year, and will be determined by a number of factors, including financial need and merit.

The application for the scholarship is now available and can be accessed at <https://webportalapp.com/sp/fcbalaw scholarship2022>. The deadline for submission of applications is 11:59 p.m. ET, Wednesday, April 6, 2022. The Foundation plans to notify successful applicants regarding their scholarship awards by mid-May.

If you have any questions about the Foundation Law School Scholarship program or application, please contact Janeen Wynn by email at janeen@fcba.org.

Meeting of the FCBA Book Group on Technology in Fiction on April 6

The FCBA's Technology in Fiction Book Group will meet virtually on Wednesday, April 6 at 7:00 p.m. ET to discuss Mary Shelley's classic short novel "Frankenstein," also known as "Frankenstein: Or, the Modern Prometheus." Like the myth of Prometheus, who earned Zeus's eternal wrath for giving fire to mortals, Shelley's book is deeply concerned with the relationship between humanity and scientific advance. What does this two-century-old novel have to teach us about artificial intelligence, gene editing, quantum computing, and a host of other emerging technologies?

We invite all FCBA members to join our discussion. There are many editions of Frankenstein, and any one will do, so we encourage anybody who is interested to go ahead and start reading! To sign up, click here. If you have any questions, please email Russ Hanser at rphanser@gmail.com.

Kirk Burgee

By: Laura Phillips

I was fortunate to run into Kirk Burgee recently – in person and not virtually! I asked him if he'd be willing to be featured in this column and he graciously agreed. For those of you who don't know Kirk, who is a low-key dynamo, he is the Chief of Staff of the Wireline Competition Bureau at the Federal Communications Commission. He has held that position for about 16 years. He is also a Deputy Director of the FCC's Rural Broadband Auctions Task Force.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?

A: I had been doing litigation work for several years after law school and it was a great experience. It's probably not a surprise though that it was quite demanding and, after having done it for some time, I was feeling ready to do something different. Interesting things were happening in telecommunications (this was a few years before the passage of the 1996 Act) and a friend of mine was leaving his position in a telecom practice at a firm. He knew I was interested in making a change and recommended that I apply for his position. I did and I got the job. After working in private practice for about eight years, I was fortunate to be able to join the Commission in the Wireline Competition Bureau, where I've been ever since.

Q: Have things unfolded in your career more or less the way you planned?

A: No, I hadn't thought about telecommunications as a subject area or destination early on in my career. However, I feel really lucky that things worked out the way they did. It's given me an amazing opportunity to see the historical transformation in telecom up close, essentially as it occurs.

Q: What's the most interesting or challenging thing that you've done in your current position?

A: I've really enjoyed being in the Chief-of-Staff position, which has given me an opportunity to work with, and get to know, a lot of different people and to work on a variety of issues. I'm able to represent the Bureau in various contexts, and I work on a range of administrative matters for the Bureau (with a lot of help). I also engage with the substance of issues within the Bureau's purview. It's been really rewarding to play even a small part in a very large effort to close the digital divide. I also find that I really enjoy data and mapping, which is a bit ironic since I was a liberal arts major and was never very good at math.

Q: Is there something interesting or someone who surprised or impressed you during your career and why?

A: It may sound trite, but my colleagues at the FCC impress me every day with how well they do their jobs. Their dedication and talent are truly humbling.

Q: What do you enjoy reading?

A: I used to read a lot of books but now mostly read the Sunday papers (a little at a time – it can take all week). When I have some more time, I like to read non-fiction, particularly about things I would never personally do. I'm just finishing up "Blind Man's Bluff: the Untold Story of American Submarine Espionage," by Sherry Sontag. It's a really harrowing account of submarine warfare during the Cold War.

Q: Can you share your perspective on the pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: I've found it's really important to be open to criticism. Even when you've put a lot of effort into something, well-intended feedback should be viewed as an opportunity to make that particular work even better or to improve your skills more generally. I'm one of those people who really appreciates seeing how others edit my work; I know it helps me improve as a writer to get other perspectives (it helps that there are a lot of very good writers at the Commission). I'd suggest that eliciting and listening carefully to constructive review of your work can be a great tool for growth.

Q: What's something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of that you're willing to share?

A: I have an artistic side that isn't very evident. I was voted most artistic in high school, where I got really involved in various forms of printmaking. During law school, I started doing pen-and-ink drawing as a way to unwind from the stress that law school can bring. I haven't done anything art-wise for a long time but hope to return to it at some point.

Q: How has your life changed as a result of COVID-19?

A: I've been really fortunate that no one I know has suffered serious effects from COVID-19. In terms of change, I generally didn't like to telework before the pandemic but, like many people, have turned around on that topic. The biggest change from our extended time at home is the recent addition of our new dog Bruce, a mixed hound that we adopted in January. I had wanted to get a dog for a long time and he's been such a great addition to the household.

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member and what to you is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I believe I joined in 1994. I've found the FCBA's CLE and other educational programs to be a fantastic resource and I really respect the FCBA's charitable and scholarship work. And, of course, the Chairman's dinners are a lot of fun and I hope they're able to return to the usual format soon. Your question had me thinking about the first Chairman's dinner I attended. I recall Reed Hundt taking a few bows for having successfully completed one of the first big commercial wireless auctions for Personal Communications Services, after being introduced as the "Six Billion Dollar Man." A lot has happened since then but the FCBA has been a constant, unifying presence, even as it shifted largely online during COVID times.
