Jessica Rosenworcel

To purchase a table or an individual ticket, click here or use the form on page 25. Forms are due November 18!

Note that each table will have 10 seats. Additional seats are not available for purchase this year.

INVITING GOVERNMENT GUESTS

Pursuant to the Office of Government Ethics regulation on widely attended gatherings (5 C.F.R. 2635.204(g)(2)), the FCBA Annual Dinner appears to qualify as a widely attended gathering. The value of an individual ticket to the dinner is $195.00. Most employees of the Federal Communications Commission may be directly invited to attend the dinner as guests of individuals and organizations without the involvement of the FCBA. However, individuals who have signed the Administration's Ethics pledge cannot accept invitations from registered lobbying organizations or registered lobbyists. Some agencies, departments and branches of the Federal Government may apply additional stipulations above the regulations issued by the Office of Government Ethics. While this event has qualified as a widely attended gathering in previous years, each FCC employee is required to obtain individual ethics clearance based on matters they are working on within the Commission. Employees of the Commerce Department are required to obtain individual ethics clearance through the Department's

FCBA "Wellness Every Day" Event on November 17

Please join us on Thursday, November 17 from 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. ET, for the "Wellness Every Day" Event, which will explore wellness and mental health strategies for busy professionals. The event will include a panel of FCBA members discussing how they incorporate wellness into their days and challenges they have faced, guidance on mental health and wellbeing from a licensed clinical psychologist, and a brief guided meditation exercise led by Kimia Nikseresht (FCC). The panel will be moderated by Dan Kahn (Wilkinson Barker Knauer) and will include Angela Ball (NBCUniversal), Matt DelNero (Covington & Burling), Celia Lewis (FCC), and Kimia Nikseresht. Those who wish can stick around to join Dan Kahn and Mia Hayes (Willkie) to plan future programming as a part of the new FCBA ad-hoc wellness committee.

The event will be held at Wilkinson Barker Knauer, 1800 M Street, NW, Suite 800N, Washington, DC 20036. WBK will provide light refreshments. The event will be in-person only to promote open dialogue.

Please RSVP to dkahn@wbklaw.com – space is limited. There is no cost of attendance. We look forward to seeing you!

PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS,

For my eleven loyal readers, I only have two messages this week: First, many congratulations to Jamile Kadre, Kasey McGee and the entire auction committee for the tremendous auction earlier this month. And special thanks to my wonderful co-emcee April Jones, our fabulous house band Harmful Inference (Joel Bernstein, Randy Clarke, Kelly Donahue, Patrick Halley, Kristi Thompson) and the ever-calm Chris Laughlin for organizing us. What a great night to for an even greater cause (Inspired Child and the FCBA Foundation).

Second, the ~~Chairman's Dinner~~ 34th FCBA Annual Dinner featuring Chairwoman Rosenworcel will be held Thursday, December 15, at the Marriott Marquis.

In case you need a reminder, the 34th FCBA Annual Dinner featuring Chairwoman Rosenworcel will be held Thursday, December 15, at the Marriott Marquis.

For those in the back of the room, the 34th FCBA Annual Dinner featuring Chairwoman Rosenworcel will be held Thursday, December 15, at the Marriott Marquis.

For the old timers like myself, I will put it in all caps ;-)

- THE 34TH FCBA ANNUAL DINNER...
- FEATURING CHAIRWOMAN ROSENWORCEL...
- WILL BE HELD THURSDAY DECEMBER 15 AT...
- THE MARRIOTT MARQUIS.

Oh, Did I mention that we are excited for a new venue - the MARRIOTT MARQUIS. Let me say that a little louder: MARRIOTT MARQUIS. One last time, MARRIOTT MARQUIS.

Don't be the person who goes to the Hilton. Please show up at the right hotel; please tell your table guests about the venue change; and I look forward to seeing everyone on December 15...at the MARRIOTT MARQUIS!

Wednesday, November 16, 2:00 – 6:00 p.m. ET 17th Annual FCBA/ ABA Privacy and Data Security Symposium: “Hot Topics in Federal Privacy Regulation and Enforcement”

The FCBA Privacy and Data Security Committee and the American Bar Association's Forum on Communications Law will hold the 17th Annual Privacy & Data Security Symposium on Wednesday, November 16 from 2:00 – 6:00 p.m. ET. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

This year has seen major developments across the federal privacy landscape. At the agency level, in the continued absence of comprehensive federal privacy legislation, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recently launched a federal privacy rulemaking, which—if it results in federal privacy rules—will mark a sea-change in the U.S. approach to consumer privacy. There have been major developments in the courts as well, including the Supreme Court's recent decisions that implicate

The FCLJ is Looking for Articles

The Federal Communications Law Journal (FCLJ), the official academic journal of the FCBA, is hosted by The George Washington University Law School. It has long been an important source of legal scholarship on communications issues, and the FCBA is proud to offer the journal as a benefit to our members.

The Federal Communications Law Journal (FCLJ) editorial board at The George Washington University Law School is seeking article submissions for potential publication in the upcoming issues of the FCLJ. Interested members may submit articles to the Senior Articles Editor, Micah Leval (fcljarticles@law.gwu.edu). Articles may also be submitted through ExpressO or Scholastica. For general inquiries about the FCLJ, please contact the Editor-in-Chief, Julia Dacy (fclj@law.gwu.edu).

Jamie Susskind, Tech Policy Advisor, U.S. Senator Marsha Blackburn

Moderator:

Kat Scott, Partner, Wiley Rein LLP

2:30 – 3:40 p.m.

SESSION I: PRIVACY AT THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

“Whether they know it or not, most Americans today surrender their personal information to engage in the most basic aspects of modern life.” With these words, the FTC launched its much anticipated rulemaking process on federal privacy regulation, or “Commercial Surveillance and Data Security.” What are the bounds of the FTC’s authority in this space? Should the FTC move forward with a rulemaking and if so, what will be included in the FTC’s privacy rules? What will the process look like and how will it be different from traditional APA rulemaking? And given the timing of the rulemaking, how will it affect (or be affected by) Congressional efforts at a new federal privacy framework? This panel will attempt to answer these questions and provide an overview of what may be in store for the future of U.S. privacy regulation.

Speakers:

Jon Leibowitz, Senior Counsel, Office of the Attorney General, Maryland, and Former FTC Chairman

John Miller, Senior Vice President of Policy and General Counsel, ITI

Tatiana Rice, Policy Counsel for U.S. Legislation and Biometrics, Future of Privacy Forum

Maureen Ohlhausen, Partner, Baker Botts, and Former FTC Acting Chairman

Moderator:

James Park, Security and Technology Counsel, Appian

3:40 – 3:45 p.m.

BREAK

3:45 – 4:45 p.m.

SESSION II: PRIVACY AT THE SUPREME COURT

In one of the most controversial opinions of the term, Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization, the Court overturned Roe v. Wade, which held that abortion was part of a right to privacy. In his concurrence, Justice Thomas even questioned what he deemed the “facial absurdity” of Griswold v. Connecticut, which declared a right of privacy being implicit in the Constitution, leaving privacy advocates concerned about privacy-based precedent beyond Roe and Casey. Along with Dobbs, the powers of federal agencies to enact potential privacy-based regulation has been called into question this past term. In West Virginia v. EPA, the Court limited the Environmental Protection Agency’s authority to regulate gas emissions in the power sector. Applying the major questions doctrine, the Court required Congress to provide clear direction in its delegation of authority to agencies. Analysts suggest this decision may have ripple effects that may apply to any policymaking efforts, including privacy, by federal agencies. This session will examine the impacts that Dobbs and West Virginia will have on consumer and employee privacy issues, and explore where the Court may turn next.

Speakers:

Diane Soubly, Professor Chicago-Kent Law School

Cody Venzke, Senior Counsel, Center for Democracy and Technology

Megan Iorio, Senior Counsel, EPIC

Florian Schaum, Assistant Professor, University of Michigan School of Information

Moderator:

Jennifer Dukarski, Shareholder, Butzel Long

4:45 – 4:50 p.m.

BREAK

4:50 – 5:55 p.m.

SESSION III: PRIVACY TRENDS IN LITIGATION

The convergence of privacy rules in some areas and the divergence in others continue to reshape the privacy rights of action in the U.S. Federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act claims have shifted in 2022 since the Supreme Court’s Facebook, Inc. v. Duguid, and litigation has grown to test the bounds of state laws. As organizations seek to retune their risk-based approach to privacy compliance, this panel will share valuable insight on the “standing” of many state laws that afford private rights of action, including the Illinois

Monday, November 21, 12:00 – 2:00 p.m. ET The Spectrum Pipeline in the Short, Medium, and Long- Term

The FCBA Wireless Telecommunications Committee will sponsor a CLE on Monday, November 21 from 12:00 – 2:00 p.m. ET entitled The Spectrum Pipeline in the Short, Medium, and Long-Term. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

Radio frequency spectrum is a finite resource, but a steady stream of spectrum is needed to support wireless connectivity. This program will discuss current and anticipated spectrum proceedings and initiatives and examine the legal and regulatory issues associated with bringing new spectrum bands to market. The first part of the program will discuss the state of play for wireless spectrum, while the second panel will explore perspectives from various stakeholders on spectrum demand and utilization in the short, medium, and long term.

2023 FCBA Annual Seminar to be held at Kingsmill Resort April 28-30 ~ SAVE THE DATES!

Mark your calendars now and make plans to join your colleagues at Kingsmill Resort in Williamsburg, VA for the FCBA Annual Seminar on April 28-30, 2023. Watch for program details in the coming months.

Steeped in a tradition of gracious Southern hospitality, Kingsmill heralds a rich history dating back to Colonial America. The land located along the banks of the James River was considered a permanent base by the first Englishmen on May 12, 1607. They decided to settle at Jamestown the next day.

In 1969 Anheuser-Busch purchased 3,900 acres of James River land with plans to build a large brewery. As part of the land purchase agreement, Anheuser-Busch agreed to develop hundreds of those acres into what is now Kingsmill Resort. Kingsmill is situated on 2,900 protected acres along the James River, 150 miles from downtown Washington, DC. To learn more about Kingsmill and its many amenities and activities, go to: <https://www.kingsmill.com/>.

Williamsburg offers tons of adventures and activities. You can step back in time and relive the days of Colonial Virginia, go to Busch Gardens, or explore a variety of shops and boutiques.

We hope you'll join us at the 2023 FCBA Annual Seminar!

FEDERAL CYBER INCIDENT REPORTING AND INFORMATION SHARING

Incident reporting and information sharing have long been viewed as critical tools to enhance transparency, build confidence, and facilitate preparedness and response efforts. Numerous laws, regulations, and mechanisms for reporting incidents and sharing cyber threat information exist across sectors and varying groups of participants. Immediately following Russia's invasion of Ukraine, Congress passed the Cyber Incident Reporting for Critical Infrastructure Act, directing DHS's Cybersecurity and

STATE BREACH REPORTING AND CYBER INCIDENT RESPONSE

The risk of cyber attacks on U.S. businesses increased in 2022 and is poised to rise again in 2023. There has been a surge in malware attacks—in particular, ransomware attacks—which have crippled businesses across the country. With a rise in such attacks comes the risk of data loss, reputational damage, and legal action. Compounding the challenges associated with incident response is the laborious process of analyzing and complying with 50 different state data breach notification laws.

This panel will overview the key milestones associated with incident response from initiating a forensics investigation to notifying affected consumers and state regulators. In addition, this panel will discuss best practices for analyzing state data breach notification laws and complying with varied reporting and notification deadlines in each state.

Monday, December 5, 3:00 – 5:00 p.m. ET Consumer Protection in 2023: A Look Ahead

The FCBA Consumer Protection Committee will sponsor a CLE on Monday, December 5 from 3:00 – 5:00 p.m. ET entitled Consumer Protection in 2023: A Look Ahead. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

This interactive program is designed to help companies, counsel, and industry stakeholders take stock of their consumer protection priorities as we enter the new year. The program will open with remarks from the Chief of the FCC's Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau. The first session will include a panel of seasoned policymakers to recap key developments from 2022 and to preview potential areas of heightened scrutiny in 2023. The final part of the program will bring together experts from a diverse range of backgrounds to discuss their predictions for the coming year and to size up notable trends in the consumer protection space.

Thursday, December 8, 3:00 – 5:00 p.m. ET Improving Interference Immunity: Exploring the FCC's Proceeding on Receiver Performance

The FCBA Engineering & Technical Committee will sponsor a CLE on Thursday, December 8 from 3:00 – 5:00 p.m. ET entitled Improving Interference Immunity: Exploring the FCC's Proceeding on Receiver Performance. This program will be held virtually via the Zoom platform.

With the demand for spectrum unwaning, improved spectrum management becomes increasingly important. Regulators have long considered the impact of transmitters on the spectrum-sharing environment and are now taking another look at the role of receivers in spectrum policy. In April 2022, the FCC sought public input on this matter in response to a Notice of Inquiry (“NOI”) on “Promoting Efficient Use of Spectrum through Improved Receiver Interference Immunity Performance.”

This CLE will discuss the Commission's open proceeding and issues related to receiver performance more generally. It will begin with a presentation on the NOI, followed by two panels with invited speakers from government, industry, and academia. The first panel will examine the role of receiver performance on spectrum management, the state of receiver performance in the U.S. today, and key issues that should be considered in developing any policies to promote receiver interference immunity. The second panel will consider different approaches the FCC could take to promote receiver interference immunity, potential legal or technical challenges to their implementation, and the costs and benefits of these approaches.

The FCBA will apply for 2.0 hours of MCLE credit from the VA Bar. This program has not yet been approved.

The Federal Communications Law Journal

The Federal Communications Law Journal has long been an important source of legal scholarship on communications issues, and the FCBA is proud to offer the journal as a benefit to our members.

FCBA members may now decide how they would like to receive the journal. The FCLJ itself will continue to be published in hard copy, however, rather than receiving hard copies as a default, we'll be distributing electronic links to the content.

For those of you who would like to receive the FCLJ electronically, you don't have to do anything. We will email you a link when a new issue is published. You may also visit <http://www.fclj.org/volumes/> to view archived volumes.

For those of you who would like to receive the FCLJ in hard copy format, you should sign up for this option by following the instructions below. You must log in to your membership account and select the FCLJ subscription. Note that the hard copy journal is free, but it must be ordered through our website.

To log in to your account, click here or go to www.fcba.org and click the Log In button.

- Click on the link to the “Online Store” on the left side of the page.
- Click on the link to the “Federal Communications Law Journal Annual Subscription”. You may also type the word Journal into the Search Bar, if needed.
- Click on “Add to Cart”.
- Click on “Check Out”.
- Click on “Purchase Now”, and you're done!

Note that we will also send out an email reminder to members about the opt-in process before each issue is published.

If you have any questions, please send an email to Elizabeth Hagerty (elizabeth@fcba.org).

New England Chapter “New England’s Plans for Broadband” Program held October 11

For the first time since 2019, the New England Chapter held its annual in-person fall program in association with the Boston University College of Communication on October 11, 2022. The program explored New England’s response to the generational amount of grant money available with the Biden Administration and Congress’ unprecedented funding for broadband deployment and digital equity.

Following welcoming remarks by Chapter Co-Chair Sarah Aceves, B.U. College of Communication Dean Mariette DiChristina, and Massachusetts Department of Telecommunications and Cable Commissioner Karen Charles Peterson, FCBA President Barry Ohlson introduced keynote speaker Russell Hanser, Director of Communications Policy Initiatives at the U.S. Department of Commerce’s National Telecommunications & Information Administration. Mr. Hanser discussed the agency’s various programs aimed to address and ultimately resolve coverage gaps and affordability challenges in the U.S.

A panel of state leaders (including Christine Hallquist from the Vermont Community Broadband Board, Carolyn Kirk from the Massachusetts Technology Collaborative, Kevin Pisacich from the Connecticut Department of Energy and Environmental Protection, and Tim Schneider from the ConnectMaine Authority) then responded to questions and topics raised by moderator Commissioner Charles Peterson. The panel addressed New England states’ plans for broadband deployment, which include funding for municipal broadband networks and establishing public/private partnerships. A second panel of industry and public representatives (including Peter Favorito from the City of Boston, Stephanie Lee from Verizon, Alicia Matthews from Comcast, and Ryan Palmer from Microsoft) discussed digital equity plans as they relate to broadband deployment with moderator Geoffrey Why of Verrill Dana LLP (and Chapter Steering Committee member). The panel emphasized the crucial need to physically meet people where they are in their communities in order to bridge the digital equity divide. The Chapter expresses its gratitude to Dean DiChristina, Mr. Ohlson, and Mr. Hanser for taking the time to speak with us. Thank you to all of our panelists and moderators, as well as program sponsors Day Pitney LLP, Granite Telecommunications, Verrill Dana LLP, and Womble Bond Dickinson.

A Message from the FCBA Foundation Board of Directors

DEAR FCBA MEMBERS:

In November, we focus on reflecting and giving thanks for the good things in our life. We ask that this year, as part of your thanksgiving, you consider sharing some of your good fortune with those in need. The Tuesday after Thanksgiving, November 29, is “Giving Tuesday.” As we enter the charitable season, the FCBA Foundation Board of Trustees invites you and your organization (preferably both!) to consider the programs of the Foundation in your end-of-year giving. If you would like to make a donation to the FCBA Foundation, please click here to donate online or click here to download the donation form.

Even a small donation can make a world of difference to local Washington, DC high school students as they attend college, to a law student coming to Washington, DC for an unpaid government internship, or to a law student pursuing their degree.

All FCBA members belong to the FCBA Foundation, and many of you donate your time, talents, and financial support to the Foundation’s programs throughout the year. This past fiscal year, we awarded four-year college scholarships to 28 deserving Washington, DC high school graduates; stipends to 21 law school students who interned in public service positions this past summer; and scholarships to five law school students for the 2021-2022 school year. More details regarding the Foundation’s programs can be found in our FY2022 Annual Report.

As in the past, the Foundation will recognize donors throughout the year, and each of our donors will be listed in our Annual Report. To encourage members within organizations to work together to support our programs, the FCBA Foundation will recognize gifts by individuals or groups that choose to combine their contributions (for example, partners and associates in the same firm, employees of the same company, or old friends remembering a colleague) while also crediting the individual donors for their contributions.

Named Scholarships. Each year, we specially recognize those donors that have funded Foundation scholarships in amounts of $10,000 or more through our Named Scholarships program. Named Scholarship donors are acknowledged at the Annual Meeting in June and at the Annual Dinner in December, as well as in our Annual Report, on the website, and in the newsletter. For FY2022, our Named Scholarship donors included AT&T; Comcast NBCUniversal; Consumer Technology Association (CTA)®; Cox Enterprises, CTIA; DLA Piper LLP; Fox Corporation; Google; Karen Kincaid: Sponsored by Wiley

Rein and Karen’s Friends; Lumen; Mark Van Bergh: Sponsored by Mark’s Family and Friends; NCTA – The Internet & Television Association; T-Mobile US, Inc.; USTelecom – The Broadband Association; Verizon; Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP; and Young Lawyers and Charity Auction.

Honorary Degrees. Organizations donating between $2,000 and $9,999 are recognized with the following “honorary degrees”:

Masters of Media	$5,000 - $9,999
Bachelors of Broadband	$2,000 - $4,999

In FY2022, Jenner & Block LLP was recognized as a “Bachelors of Broadband.”

Gems (Individuals). In addition, individual donations will be recognized at the following levels:

Diamond	$1,000 and above
Emerald	$500 - $999
Pearl	$250 - $499
Ruby	$100 - $249
Sapphire	$99 and below

Our Annual Report recognized all individual FCBA members who donated to the Foundation this past fiscal year, including 20 who reached the “Diamond” level.

The FCBA Foundation is extremely grateful for every contribution, no matter its size. We thank you for the time and talent that each of you contributes to the FCBA Foundation, and we look forward to hearing from you regarding the Foundation and its programs.

Very truly yours,

Avonne Bell and Erin M. Griffith
Co-Chairs, 2022-2023 FCBA

Jennifer Holtz

By: Laura Phillips

Jenn Holtz is a natural networker and someone I've interacted with off and on for years. She's been involved in a range of telecommunications, national security and cybersecurity, and broadband infrastructure and funding matters over the course of her career, and Jenn recently took a new job as Vice President Regulatory Affairs at JSI which is in Greenbelt, Maryland. JSI has greatly expanded its portfolio of regulatory, engineering, and financial services to offer complete business advisory services to small and rural telecommunications clients. Among other things, Jenn is riding the wave of broadband grant and infrastructure work coming out of APRA and the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act. I was delighted we could highlight Jenn this month.

Q: What attracted you to the field of communications?

A: As a kid, my dream jobs were to be an actress, a politician, and a flight attendant. Studying political communications and electronic media at George Washington University, I learned about the then-delayed digital TV transition. I was fascinated by the fact that there were rules and policies governing communications and found my field! I also had an incredible internship during my senior year of college at the FCC's International Bureau, working for Linda Dubroof. I loved every minute of it. Then, I taught English in Japan after college through the Japan Exchange and Teaching Programme and I had a Japanese cell phone with incredible functionality, and that's when I knew I definitely wanted to work in the telecom law & policy sector.

Q: Have things unfolded in your career more or less the way you planned?

A: Not at all. While many of the people I've met in the field say they fell into it, this was something I knew that I wanted to do. I did a number of unusual things between college and graduate school but before law school, including political consulting at Glover Park Group working on several major communications company mergers. I also interned at CTIA, CTA, and Google; however, graduating from law school in 2008 during a terrible economy presented obstacles to working in the field.

Nevertheless, I persisted and started to work on BTOP grants and state broadband mapping at e-Copernicus and moved on from there to Booz Allen, NTIA, a law firm, and the FCC. I am grateful for each opportunity as collectively they've led me to where I am now.

Q: What's the most interesting or challenging thing that you've done in your current position?

A: Working directly with small and rural carriers, I have a newfound appreciation for all the challenges they face trying to close the digital divide and serve their customers in the country's most remote areas. JSI has opened my eyes to how difficult it is for smaller providers to service their customers, add new customers, and easily comply with the myriad of state and federal regulations imposed on them. On a side note I would like to see Congress make broadband subsidy and grant programs easier to navigate for would-be awardees, incentivizing inter-agency MOUs, but I digress.

Q: Is or was there something interesting or someone who surprised or impressed you during your career and why?

A: I remember being surprised at how collegial members of the bar are with each other even though they may be on opposite sides of a particular issue at any given time. That's what I love about the FCBA. Despite our business differences, our members are always there for one another, no matter which side of the aisle.

I have been so fortunate to have several mentors from the bar, and I am so impressed with each of their careers and dedication to helping grow future generations. I would not be here today without the support and mentorship of Kris Monteith, Deborah Jordan, Jeffrey Carlisle, Jamie Barnett, Jennifer Richter, Rudy Brioché, Chris McLean, Bryan Tramont, Tricia Paoletta, Rick Whitt, and Jennifer Manner. Each has played such a vital role in both my personal and professional development.

Q: What do you enjoy reading?

A: I enjoy a mix of genres and authors. On the non-fiction side, I like to read stories about defectors from North Korea or those who lived through the Chinese Cultural Revolution. I also enjoy some business books, such as Creativity, Inc.: Overcoming the Unseen Forces That Stand in the Way of True Inspiration; Hack Your Bureaucracy; Originals: How Non-Conformists Move the World; What Got you here Won't get you there. On the fiction side of the house, I love medical mysteries, including those by Michael Palmer and now his son Dan, or political or espionage thrillers by Vince Flynn.

Q: Can you share your perspective on the pitfalls to avoid or other career advice for those who are just getting started in the communications field?

A: One of the biggest lessons I learned early on is not to ask the person you are meeting for a job. Asking for a job puts unnecessary pressure on the encounter and can dissuade the person from being motivated to help you. A more effective approach is to treat networking as the building block for long-term professional relationships, which will happen over multiple conversations over time. To begin with, think about what can you learn during your informational interview.

Get to Know an FCBA MEMBER

Such as:

- How did this person get started in the field?
- What challenges did they face? How did they overcome them?
- What advice do they have for a recent graduate?
- What kinds of issues or matters did they work on after law school?
- What trade publications, blogs, or webinars do they suggest you read or watch to stay current?
- What types of opportunities should you consider?
- Can they provide any feedback on your resume? Can they suggest anyone else you should talk to?

And lastly, and most importantly, always, always, always offer to be of assistance. How can you possibly add value to the relationship? Even if you can't help the person right now, always look for a way to add value. Can you facilitate an introduction? Can you invite them to be a speaker at your school? Can you share an article that might be of interest?

One option is to set a Google news alert with their name. Maybe they win an award or are quoted in the news. This is the perfect opportunity to follow up and send a brief congratulatory note while staying on their radar.

Even if you don't share anything with them, send a thank you email within 24 hours, recapping the meetings, noting any follow-up items, and thanking them for their time. And be sure to follow up again, letting them know you followed their advice!

I share more advice about networking in an article I wrote that you can read here.

Q: What is something interesting about you that people are not generally aware of that you're willing to share?

A: I successfully advocated for my graduate school, the London School of Economics (LSE), to go smoke-free. After meeting with professors in their offices while they were smoking or walking through clouds of smoke to enter academic buildings, I started a coalition of students and local health organizations, including the Royal College of Physicians and the British Medical Association, and presented a proposal for a smoke-free LSE to the Director. Within a year, LSE released a consultation to solicit student, faculty, and staff feedback on the proposal. One year later, LSE went smoke-free. This was significantly easier than trying to get Daytona Beach to pass a smoke-free restaurant ordinance in the 90s!

Q: How has your life changed as a result of COVID-19?

A: I am an extrovert by nature, but I've become much more introverted. I spend more time at home and am much less comfortable traveling. Because it was nearly two years before I saw my family, I now prioritize seeing them more often.

Q: How long have you been an FCBA member, and what to you is the value of FCBA membership?

A: I joined the FCBA when I was finishing graduate school in 2004. After being in California and London for graduate school and then writing my dissertation in Florida, I needed to find a way to explore the DC job market in the communications policy space. I found the FCBA and reached out to members for informational interviews. I wanted to learn about the communications law field in DC and explore the jobs I might be qualified to do.

Fast forward a few months, I found myself at a formal dinner with nearly 2,000 communications attorneys, not knowing anyone other than one or two people from my college internship at the FCC. It was utterly mortifying, but I stepped out of my comfort zone to try to connect face-to-face with those I had talked to by phone, using the then highly coveted printed map of sponsored tables. Eighteen years later, the Annual FCBA Dinner is one of my favorite events, and I am so excited to see everyone in person this year.

In addition to helping me explore the communications law field through hundreds of informational interviews, I attended as many CLEs as possible while working at the Glover Park Group between graduate school and law school. I even volunteered to judge the moot court competition before going to law school.

In sum, the FCBA has given me a solid education in many facets of our industry and provided an invaluable network of mentors, friends, and colleagues. There's really no downside and lots of upside to FCBA membership and participation.

BUSINESS ATTIRE

Pursuant to the Office of Government Ethics regulation on widely-attended gatherings (5 C.F.R. 2635.204(g)(2)), the Chairman's Dinner appears to qualify as a widely attended gathering. The value of an individual ticket to the dinner is $195.00. Most employees of the Federal Communications Commission may be directly invited to attend the dinner as guests of individuals and organizations without the involvement of the FCBA. However, individuals who have signed the Administration's Ethics pledge cannot accept invitations from registered lobbying organizations or registered lobbyists. Some agencies, departments and branches of the Federal Government may apply additional stipulations above the regulations issued by the Office of Government Ethics. While this event has qualified as a widely-attended gathering in previous years, each FCC employee is required to obtain individual ethics clearance based on matters they are working on within the Commission. Employees of the Commerce Department are required to obtain individual ethics clearance through the Department's Office of General Counsel. Invitations to Members of Congress, Congressional Staff, and employees of the Department of State must be issued by the FCBA. Contact the FCBA for additional information. Requests for invitations to be sent from the FCBA must be emailed to kerry@fcba.org by Friday, November 18. Invitees will be placed at the discretion of the FCBA.
