PRESIDENT'S Message

DEAR MEMBERS:

Is it spring yet?

Spring will come – no, really – and when it does, it will bring a number of programs related to the release of the FCC's National Broadband Plan. A couple of early highlights:

On March 18, we will host a luncheon featuring FCC Chief of Staff Edward Lazarus to discuss the National Broadband Plan. The luncheon, which will be held at the Mayflower Hotel, will begin at noon.

Also, on March 22, in conjunction with the CTIA convention in Las Vegas, the association's wireless committee will present a CLE program that includes industry reactions to the National Broadband Plan. That will start at noon in the Las Vegas Convention Center.

So mark your calendars – and watch this space and check your e-mails for additional broadband programs and events.

On other fronts, on March 11, the FCBA, in conjunction with the ABA Forum Committee, will hold the 5th Annual ABA/FCBA Privacy and Data Security Symposium for Communications and Media Companies. The afternoon CLE starts at 2 p.m. in the Arnold & Porter Conference Center and will be made available via video feed in Denver, New York, and San Francisco through Arnold & Porter offices.

On March 31, the Mass Media Committee, in association with the Freedom Forum, the ABA Forum Committee, and the Newseum, will present "Media Regulation and the First Amendment in the 21st Century." This CLE will start at 1 p.m. at the Newseum.

And please make plans to attend the 2010 Annual Seminar – to be held at The Homestead Resort April 30-May 2. It's sure to be both an informative and relaxing weekend in this great family resort.

One final note: Because of one of the February blizzards, the National Telecommunications Moot Court Competition, originally scheduled for February 5-6, was rescheduled to March 27. I'm pleased to report that all but two of the original teams have been able to participate in the rescheduled competition.

Thursday, March 4, 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. Special Access – Historical Perspective and Current Issues

Presented by the Wireline Committee

The Wireline Committee is planning a CLE for Thursday, March 4, 2010, from 6:00 – 8:15 p.m. on Special Access – Historical Perspective and Current Issues. There will be two panels. This CLE will be held at Sidley Austin LLP, 1501 K Street, NW, 6th Floor. This CLE has been approved for 2.0 MCLE credit hours by the VA State Bar.

To register, go to the FCBA website – Calendar of Events or use the form on page 22.

Agenda

6:00 – 6:05 p.m.

WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION

6:05 – 6:35 p.m.

INTRODUCTION TO SPECIAL ACCESS

Speaker:

David L. Sieradski, Federal Trade Commission

The pricing and availability of special access has generated significant controversy, with the Commission most recently inviting comment on the appropriate analytical framework for determining whether its current pricing flexibility and price cap rules are working. This panel will provide a brief introduction to special access and an overview of the Commission's current regulatory approach.

6:35 – 6:45 p.m.

BREAK

6:45 – 8:15 p.m.

SPECIAL ACCESS: THE CURRENT DEBATE

Moderator:

Sam Feder, Jenner & Block

Speakers:

Colleen Boothby, Levine, Blaszak, Block & Boothby

Thomas Jones, Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP

Joel Kelsey, Consumers Union

David Lawson, Sidley Austin LLP

Charles McKee, Sprint Nextel

Dan Mitchell, National Telecommunications Cooperative Association

Jonathan E. Nuechterlein, WilmerHale

Advocates on all sides of the Special Access debate will address the Commission's request for comments on how it should best construct an analytical framework to evaluate the current regulatory regime; specifically, whether the price cap rules are effective and whether the triggers that push an area to pricing flexibility are an accurate proxy for real competition that would constrain special access prices. The Commission has indicated it plans to gather market, cost, and price data, and to rely on data available through its Automated Reporting Management Information System (ARMIS), to conduct its evaluation of the special access market. This panel will discuss the current debate concerning information the FCC should gather and, importantly, whether and how the data gathered should be afforded confidentiality and to what extent the information should be available to others.

2010 Membership Directory: Organizations Section

You may have noticed that there aren't any pages in the 2010 Membership Directory behind the Organizations tab. Your Directory is not defective and it isn't a mistake. In the membership survey done late last spring, 74% of the members indicated that they "rarely" or "never" used the Organizations section of the Directory. Based on the survey response, the Executive Committee decided that the Organizations section would be eliminated from future Directories. Printed on the front of the Organizations tab are the directions on how to use the Online Membership Directory to search of contact information for firms and companies where FCBA members work. If you have problems accessing the Online Membership Directory, please contact the FCBA office for assistance.

Overview: The new decade brings a host of new laws, increased government oversight, and class action lawsuit potential regarding the privacy and security of personally identifiable information for consumers, clients, and employees of communications and media companies.

This year's Symposium will open with a keynote from The Honorable Pamela Jones Harbour, Commissioner of the Federal Trade Commission. Commissioner Harbour will provide her perspective on privacy and data security. Three substantive sessions will follow. The first will cover the government's role in privacy and data security, including the effectiveness of regulatory enforcement mechanisms and self-regulatory regimes. The second will discuss requisite contract clauses, due diligence requirements, and insurance coverage to help reduce liability for relationships with third party service providers, behavioral advertising and social networking websites/services, and e-commerce services. The third session will provide an overview of domestic state and federal laws, regulations, and guidelines that govern traditional telemarketing and commercial messages and promotional efforts delivered via wireless devices, including nuances regarding text messages, bounceback messages, and wireless emails.

Interested in Hosting an FCBA event?

The FCBA greatly appreciates the support of our members' firms and companies who provide space for our brown bag lunches, committee meetings, and CLE Seminars throughout the year. We are, however, always looking for new locations that can host FCBA events. We will be experimenting with some new presentation technology in future CLE seminars, which require more technical support than we have needed in the past.

In general terms, we need conference rooms that can seat at least 30 (more if possible) people at tables for brown bag lunches and committee meetings and conference rooms that can seat a minimum of 60 for CLE seminars. Firms and companies hosting brown bag lunches provide beverages and desserts; firms and companies hosting CLE seminars provide beverages and snacks. CLE seminars are generally held from 6:00 – 8:30 p.m. Additionally, for CLE seminars we need facilities that can provide technology support for microphones for as many as six speakers on a panel, the ability to tie the house sound system into a teleconference bridge, video projection capabilities for PowerPoint presentations, and access to the internet for presentations by speakers. If your firm or company has the needed conference room facilities and capabilities and would be willing to host future FCBA activities, please email Stan Zenor, stan@fcba.org, or Kerry Loughney, kerry@fcba.org.

National Moot Court Competition on March 27

The FCBA National Telecommunications Moot Court Competition Committee is pleased to announce that the 16th Annual National Telecommunications Moot Court Competition has been rescheduled and will be taking place at the Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law on Saturday, March 27, 2010. Please join us for the final round at 4:00 p.m. on in the Slowinski Moot Court Room. A reception will follow at approximately 5:30 p.m.

Originally established by the Institute for Communications Law Studies and the FCBA, the National Telecommunications Moot Court Competition provides students the opportunity to argue before private and government practitioners in the communications field. This year's problem addresses difficult jurisdictional and statutory questions that may arise if policymakers seek to regulate how broadband providers design their service offerings.

This year's competition will feature a select group of elite schools, with teams hailing from, among other schools, the University of Wisconsin, Howard University, and the University of Colorado. In 2009, a Catholic University team won the competition.

FCBA members are invited to serve as judges for oral arguments occurring on March 27. Those interested in participating should contact Competition Vice Chancellor Rachael Bender at 28brownr@cardinalmail.cua.edu.

COMMITTEES AND CHAPTERS in the Spotlight

Law Journal Committee

Whether by e-mail hyperlink, paper issue, or website download, FCBA members have ready access to another year of the Association's long-running academic publication, the Federal Communications Law Journal. Over the past year, the Law Journal Committee continued to serve as a primary point of contact between the Association and the Journal's host school and co-publisher, Indiana University School of Law-Bloomington. The Committee works with the Journal's student editors, faculty advisor, and administrators on matters relating to our publication contract. Through regular conference calls and an annual on-site visit, the Committee also works to make the student editors aware of specific communications-related topics of interest to our membership and discusses general issues of editorial policy. In addition, the Committee tries to facilitate interaction between students who are members of the Journal and members of the Association by, for example, working with the FCBA leadership to secure resources for student notes and book review authors.

The Committee has traditionally been comprised of members with different professional perspectives, including private practitioners, FCC staff, and academics who specialize in communications law. The current make-up is no different. This year Deborah Salons, an associate at Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP and former Editor-in-Chief of the Journal, returns as co-chair, and Donna Gregg, Law Professor at the Catholic University of America Columbus School of Law, joins as co-chair. Chris Wright, partner at Wiltshire & Grannis LLP, also returns as Executive Committee Liaison. We are grateful to Jamison Prime, of the FCC's Office of Engineering and Technology and a former editor of the Journal, whose contributions were many during his seven years as a co-chair, from 2002-2009.

With the encouragement of the FCBA leadership, the Committee has continued to examine how scholarly publishing is evolving in the electronic age, and to make recommendations as to how we could better use electronic resources to enhance the Journal's availability and value to the membership. The co-chairs of the Committee had the opportunity to visit Bloomington in November to meet with students and faculty to discuss the editorial process and the advantages of making the Journal available on various online databases. Currently, the Committee is working with the leadership of the Journal to explore scholarly electronic database opportunities.

The Committee always enjoys the opportunity to engage with law students and the academic community, and has been encouraged by the recent work at Indiana and for the enthusiasm and contributions of Professor Jody Madeira in her role as faculty advisor. This year's student editorial staff, led by Editor-in-Chief Jeff Lawson, is hard at work on the remaining two issues of the Journal, which are slated to include contributions, among others, dealing with network management, net neutrality, broadcast localism, and broadband penetration rates. The Journal staff is comprised of 60 students, 23 of which are on the Editorial Board. The Journal Committee is also pleased to report that the Journal staff encourages their members to participate in various FCBA events, and sends two teams to participate in the Catholic University School of America Columbus School of Law's National Telecommunications Moot Court competition.

We encourage committee members and others in the Association to help with our ongoing efforts to assist student writers in the development of timely and informative notes. As always, we encourage all members of the Association to contact the co-chairs with their comments and ideas.

Save the Date! FCBA Foundation 14th Annual Golf Tourney to be Held Monday June 7, 2010

The snow WILL melt, eventually. And as our way of fostering those thoughts of green, mark your calendars for Monday June 7, 2010 for the 14th Annual Robert E. Lee Charity Golf Tourney supporting the FCBA Scholarship Fund. We are very excited to announce that this year's tournament will be held at The Country Club at Woodmore in Mitchellville, MD. The Arnold Palmer designed course is consistently ranked as one of the best in the Mid-Atlantic region and has for the past several years hosted the area's only Nationwide PGA Tour event. In January 2008, the Club received the Golf Digest Architecture Award in recognition of outstanding design, from the editors of Golf Digest Magazine and the National Panel of Course Raters. Better yet, CC Woodmore is conveniently located just minutes outside the Beltway for those feeling the need to head to work afterwards (though we promise not to tell anyone if you don't).

Registration details and forms will be available in the April newsletter. But in the meantime, mark your calendars now for this great day of golf in support of a great cause. The Golf Committee always welcomes anybody interested in helping pull the event together. Contact Glenn Reynolds at greynolds@ustelecom.org if you are interested.

PANEL I: NEXT-GENERATION LICENSING AT THE FCC

As part of the FCC's comprehensive review of its electronic systems and administrative procedures, the FCC is developing a next generation of electronic licensing system to improve and simplify the user experience while providing additional research and mapping tools to increase transparency and utility of licensing information. Come hear from FCC presenters their development process and share your views regarding how to improve FCC electronic systems.

1:15 – 2:15 p.m.

PANEL II: INDUSTRY REACTIONS TO THE NATIONAL BROADBAND PLAN

Wireless industry representatives from each segment of the wireless ecosystem will provide their perspectives on the FCC's National Broadband Plan. Panelists will discuss the regulatory and technical implications of the FCC's short-, medium- and long-term steps intended to achieve the goals of increased broadband adoption and penetration, consistent with underlying "national purposes."

2:30 – 3:30 p.m.

PANEL III: "COOL NEW STUFF"

Join this panel of entrepreneurs and policy experts as they discuss new developments in the wireless industry. Discussion will focus on innovation in the wireless "ecosystem," and real world examples of how new products and services get to market. Are new types of partnerships and alliances developing between different industry segments? What can government do to spur investment and innovation? Are there legal and regulatory impediments that slow innovation and what can be done to address them?

3:45 – 4:45 p.m.

PANEL IV: DEFINING APPROPRIATE SPECTRUM INTERFERENCE RULES

Technical experts from academia, government and the wireless industry discuss and debate protections needed among competing wireless desires. Discussion will focus on the need to protect existing uses while ensuring that new entrants/new uses are not unnecessarily barred. Are existing interference protections acceptable? How does the FCC need to react to the ever-burgeoning issues surrounding interference between competing mobile devices?

4:45 – 5:00 p.m.

"CLEAR AND PRESENT DANGER:" GUIDING JOURNALISTS THROUGH THE CATASTROPHIC PERILS

On January 12, 2010, a massive earthquake struck Haiti. Hundreds of thousands were feared dead, electrical power ceased, and travel into Haiti ground to a complete halt. News organizations struggled to report on one of the worst catastrophes in recent history using tweets, texting, and cell phone images that could not be authenticated. As unauthenticated tweets and images filled the airways to try to convey the chaos and massive destruction and casualties that followed, new legal dangers arose. This panel will focus on the clear and present dangers in reporting on catastrophes like Haiti as they unfold using today's technology.

FCBA Foundation Now Accepting Applications for Funding of Unpaid Legal Internships

For the seventeenth consecutive year, the Federal Communications Bar Association (FCBA) Foundation will award stipends to law students from its Chairman Robert E. Lee Scholarship and Internship Fund. In 2010, the Foundation will award at least five $5,000 stipends to law students employed as unpaid summer interns in positions with the FCC and other government agencies or entities with a connection to the communications industry (i.e., broadcasting, cable television, telephony, satellite, wireless, and information technology).

In addition, the Foundation will select one outstanding intern among those chosen to receive an additional stipend of $600 for the summer—the “Max Paglin Award.” Mr. Paglin was the former General Counsel and Executive Director of the FCC, and the founder of the Golden Jubilee Commission on Telecommunications, which compiled a definitive legislative history of the Communications Act.

Applicants will be selected on the basis of: (1) a demonstrated interest in the communications field, (2) having secured or having pending, an unpaid summer position (internship) for at least 8 weeks in communications with a government agency or entities with a connection to the communications industry, (3) dependence on financial assistance in order to accept the unpaid internship in a government agency or entity involved in communications; and, (4) community activities. To the extent a recipient receives unanticipated funding for the unpaid internship, the FCBA Foundation's general policy is to reduce its scholarship awards by any amount that a recipient's total funding (including all sources) for the internship would otherwise exceed $7,000.

Applications for a Lee Fund scholarship should be submitted to Kerry Loughney, FCBA Foundation, 1020 19th Street, N.W., Suite 325, Washington, D.C. 20036, by Friday, March 19, 2010. Applicants may be asked to interview with members of the Foundation Board; interviews may be conducted by telephone. Winners will be notified by Friday, April 16, 2010.

Please encourage eligible applicants to apply. The application for a Lee Fund scholarship is posted in the Foundation section of the FCBA Website - http://www.fcba.org/foundation/internship_stipends.shtml.

Volunteer Outreach for Martha's Table & McKenna's Wagon March 28

Many of us are stretched for time these days, but why not consider spending a few hours on a Sunday to help the FCBA Foundation's partner charities? For several years now, the FCBA has been providing volunteers to Martha's Table and McKenna's Wagon. These organizations rely on the good work of our members each month, so grab a friend, colleague or family member and join your fellow FCBA volunteers!

Martha's Table feeds hundreds of hungry, homeless adults and children on the streets of Washington daily, through its mobile soup kitchen. Children and friends are also welcome. We will begin at 10:00 a.m. and work until 1:00 p.m. Martha's Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available. Volunteers are asked to bring food if possible, (e.g., cold cuts, bread, peanut butter, jelly, vegetables and potatoes) because the center often runs out of donated food.

The FCBA volunteers on the last Sunday of every month, so mark your calendars now. For more information, contact Howard Weiss at 703-812-0471 — weiss@fhhlaw.com.

McKenna's Wagon is a mobile soup and sandwich wagon that goes "on location" to deliver food to the needy. For those who have volunteered, it has been a wonderful experience and a great way to help the needy in the D.C. community. This is an especially good experience for the teens and pre-teens among us who do not have a full appreciation of the many privileges they enjoy. Community service credits are also available.

The Wagon is a white van that is loaded up with sandwiches, snacks and soup. We meet at Martha's Table at 4:45 p.m. in comfortable clothes and shoes. Martha's Table is located in a yellow building at 2114 Fourteenth Street, NW, in the District, near the intersection of 14th and U Streets. On-street parking is available.

Upon arrival we get assignments (some of us will distribute snacks and sandwiches, others will serve soup), and put on aprons before we depart in the van to 5th and New York Ave., NW (near the new Convention Center). We are driven by one of our experienced volunteers and the trip to distribution location takes about 10-15 minutes.

We serve about 30-75 people per visit including a few mothers who come for food for their families. The area is well patrolled by police. The food distribution is conducted in an efficient, calm and orderly fashion and many of the people we serve are quite appreciative of our efforts. Once we serve all of the food, we do a clean up of the immediate area. Total time for the distribution takes about one hour and we usually return to Martha's Table by or before 6:30 p.m.

We would love to have you join us on one of our upcoming food runs which are always on the 4th Sunday of the month. If you are able to volunteer on March 28, April 25, or May 23, please contact Joanna Georgatsos at georgatsos@lojlaw.com or Tom Van Wazer at tvnwazer@sidley.com.

Joseph M. Morrissey (1923-2009)

Joe Morrissey, 86, a retired communications lawyer and a former FCBA member, died on December 30, 2009 at his home in Fairfax County, Virginia. He suffered complications from seizures attributed to injuries incurred several years ago in an automobile accident.

Morrissey was born in Brooklyn, New York in 1923. He joined the Army Air Force during World War Two and served as a navigator in North Africa and Italy during the War, flying missions over enemy-held territory at the age of 21. He later served in Germany and in Asia during the Korean and Viet Nam Wars.

While still in the Air Force, Morrissey graduated from the University of Houston in 1950 and from St. Mary's University Law School in San Antonio in 1957. He came to the Washington, D.C. area in 1964.

Morrissey retired from the Air Force in 1968, and was awarded the Legion of Merit. In his legal career, he initially worked for the Air Line Pilots Association and later became a partner in the law firm of Welch & Morgan in Washington. A part of Morrissey's practice consisted of representing applicants in comparative broadcast hearings, including license renewal proceedings, before the FCC. In addition, he represented agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Morrissey is remembered as an affable raconteur and a creative lawyer. His daughter Sheila Morrissey recalls that on one occasion, in the course of her father's representation of some FBI agents, Morrissey concluded that additional time was needed to prepare his case, under circumstances where it was not clear that he would be granted that additional time. He argued that he would need the additional time in order to obtain a special security clearance that was required for him to represent his clients effectively, a point which won him the additional time, notwithstanding that in his last assignment for the Air Force he was in fact performing intelligence work.

Morrissey was also an adjunct professor of business law at the University of Maryland from 1962 to 1989. In 1986, he retired from the practice of law, but he remained a member of the FCBA until 1998.

James H. Quello (1914-2010)

On January 24, 2010, James Henry "Jim" Quello, who served for nearly 24 years as an FCC Commissioner and as FCC Chairman in 1993, died at home with his family by his side. He was 95.

Quello was appointed to the FCC in 1974 by then-President Richard Nixon. His first confirmation hearing lasted an unprecedented eight days, a good deal longer than his final confirmation, which lasted a mere eight minutes. The "Boss," as Quello's loyal staff referred to him, was reappointed to the Commission several times. He retired from the FCC in 1998 to join the law firm of Wiley Rein as a consultant, where he remained until his passing.

His brief tenure as Chairman in 1993 was active. During this time, the Commission voted on many rules implementing the Cable TV Act of 1992 and created a more competitive wireless market through approval of the Personal Communication Service rules. The New York Times described his stint as Chairman with the headline, "Temporary Chief Proves More Than a Fill-In."

As Chairman and Commissioner, Quello was known for his affable nature and for not taking himself too seriously. As Chairman, he was instrumental in improving the esprit d' corps among the FCC staff and coworkers. Right up to the week before his death, Jim was inquiring about the morale of the employees at the Commission, whom he greatly admired for their hard work and dedication.

As an FCC Commissioner, Quello was respected for his independent, non-partisan thinking. He was an ardent advocate of free universal television and of local public service by TV and radio stations. "I do deregulation, I don't do anarchy," he told the New York Times.

Quello entered World War II as a Private in the U.S. Army infantry, ultimately reaching the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and earning numerous commendations for his service, including the Bronze Star. He took part in six amphibious landings; fought across northern Africa, Sicily, the Italian boot, France, Germany, and Austria; and participated in the capturing of the Nazi War College. Later, he wrote of his war years in his 2001 autobiography, My Wars, Surviving WWII and the FCC, but often self-effacingly confided to many that his war stories became "more heroic with every telling."

After returning from World War II, Quello worked in the promotions department at WXYZ in Detroit, jumping two years later to rival WJR, where, in 1960, he was named Vice President and General Manager. When Capital Cities Broadcasting purchased WJR, Quello continued to run the station and became a CapCities Vice President. In his radio years, he was involved with such early shows as The Lone Ranger and The Green Hornet. A leader known not only for his public relation skills and writing ability, but also for his dedication to developing diversity, Jim worked for equality and fairness both in the workplace at WJR and through participation on the Detroit Fair Housing Commission.

Quello received the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of Broadcasters in 1994 and from the National Cable Telecommunications Association in 1997. He was inducted into the Broadcasting and Cable Hall of Fame in 1995 and was named by the Library of American Broadcasting as one of the "Giants of Broadcasting" in 2008.

In MEMORIAM

In 1999, Jim Quello was honored by his alma mater, Michigan State University, with the creation of the James H. and Mary B. Quello Center for Telecommunication Policy Management and Law. The Center is a fitting tribute to the couple and their life's work.

Jim is survived by his two sons, James Quello of Ohio and Dick Quello of Florida. The family has asked that contributions be made to the Quello Center.

Richard J. Shiben (1937-2009)

Richard Joseph (Dick) Shiben, a former Chief of the Broadcast Bureau at the FCC, died December 4, 2009 at his home in Largo, Florida to which he had retired six years ago. Shiben joined the FCC in 1964, two years after earning his law degree at West Virginia University. His undergraduate degree was from St. Vincent College of Latrobe, Pennsylvania. Before becoming Bureau Chief in 1979, Dick served for several years as Chief of the Renewal and Transfer Division in the Bureau. After leaving the Bureau in the mid-1980s, he served until his retirement as Chief of the Land Mobile and Microwave Division of the Private Radio Bureau and, briefly, as Acting Chief of that Bureau. After departing the FCC, Shiben operated a consulting business in the Washington area until his move to Florida.

Barbara Kreisman, Chief of the Video Division in the Media Bureau's Office of Broadcast License Policy recalls Dick as "a great boss; honest, straightforward with great integrity. He was fun and never took himself too seriously." Shiben was a member of the Senior Executives Association and the National Society of the Arts and Letters, and was very active with the Big Brothers Program in Washington, D.C. He was an avid golfer and played many courses throughout the U.S. and abroad.

Survivors include his wife, Denna Shiben; two brothers; three sons; a daughter; a stepson and three stepdaughters; 16 grandchildren; and one great-grandchild. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, Florida Division Inc., 3709 W. Jetton Ave., Tampa FL 33629, or Suncoast Hospice, 5771 Roosevelt Blvd., Clearwater, FL 33760.

If you missed this 4-hour Seminar, buy it now!

This seminar focuses on new state and federal laws, guidelines, developments, and risks that will impact privacy and data security for media and communications companies in 2009 and beyond under the new Obama Administration. It covered issues related to mobile marketing, behavioral advertising, social networking, the CAN-SPAM Act, fax advertising, security breach notification laws, state encryption and security practices and policies for protecting SSNs and credit card data, and much more. This year a new session discussed contracting with third parties (including advertisers and your own affiliates), requirements for due diligence for service providers, mergers and acquisitions, and an overview of insurance policies and minimum coverage requirements for privacy and data security liability. It also provides implementation specifics for the FTC's new Red Flag Rules that apply to any entity that defers payment of services or goods; the FTC's enforcement effective date is May 1, 2009. A wealth of written materials is also included on the DVD.

SESSION I – PRIVACY AND DATA SECURITY ISSUES RELATED TO OPERATIONS AND EMPLOYEES

SESSION II - PRIVACY AND DATA SECURITY ISSUES RELATED TO ADVERTISING, MARKETING AND SALES
